REMEDY FOR CRIME

Interesting Address Given by Mr. Warren F. Spaulding

The Friendly Class of the Auburn-dale Congregational Sunday School had for a speaker, last Sunday, Mr. Warren F. Spaulding, secretary of the Massachusetts Prison Association. The topic was, "What Should be our Attitude Toward those who have Fallen into Sin and Crime."

Mr. Spaulding began by quoting the words of Christ. "If ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will forgive you your trespasses," as suggesting the rule for personal relations towards wrong-doers. The state, however, until comparatively recently, has taken the ground that there was but one way to treat the criminal—to punish him. The assumptions upon which the penal system was based were almost wholly false. It was assumed that if a man was punished he would not repeat his offense, but it is found that many serve a dozen, twenty, fifty sentences. Punishment does not deter them. It was assumed that it would deter others, but it does not. A man sees his neighbor punished, but straight-way does the same thing himself. It was assumed that judges could measure off, accurately, so much punishment for so much crime, but it has been found that nobody was wise enough to do that. If crime were an abstract thing, it could be done, but it is a concrete thing; there is a human being in every crime, and nobody can measure his deserts or his needs. It was assumed that all law-breakers were criminals. But many are not. There is no such thing as a "criminal class," but there are classes of criminals.

Great progress has been made. It was discovered a generation ago, that some wrong-doers would reform without punishment. The probation system gives a chance to test men, to see if they will reform if placed under helpful supervision. Thousands are dealt with every year in this way, with excellent results. There should be a greater use of probation, especially to keep out of prison those who are too poor to pay their fines at the moment of conviction.

It was also discovered that men who might not reform without punishment, could be reformed during punishment, if proper means and methods were used. Out of this discovery grew the reformatories. Massachusetts has one for men and one for women, both doing good work.

The probation system and the reformatory system are long steps in advance, from the old thought of mere punishment. They are the first steps in classification. Other steps should be taken. Men who have long sentences should be put by themselves; gathered in a few county prisons. There they should have schools and manual training, to fit them for free life. Many are ignorant and many are unskilled, and their ignorance and lack of skill are factors in the problem of their crimes.

The prisoners should be so classified that beginners in crime should not come in contact with hardened offenders.

Many criminals are defective, mentally; not actually insane, but unbalanced. They should be put by themselves and treated with a purpose to lessen their defectiveness.

The remedy for crime is to give the wrong-doer a new and better impulse, which shall drive out the evil tendencies. And when he has formed a new purpose, he should have a fair chance to work it out. The world makes it hard for a man to get up if he has been down. His attitude is not Christian. Good people should do all they can to restore those who have been astray.

Even more important is the prevention of crime—to get in touch with those who are going astray and persuade them to better things.

SPLENDID TRIBUTE

Paid to the Memory of the Late Philip Morrison

An unusual tribute of respect was paid to the memory of Mr. Philip Morrison, late division superintendent of the B. & A. R. R. at the funeral services on Sunday afternoon, when several hundred railroad men, most of them in uniform, escorted the body from the house on Elliot street, Watertown district, to St. Patrick's Church, Watertown, and from the church, as far as Church street, in Newton, where two lines were formed, the men standing uncovered while the funeral cortege passed by on its way to Mt. Benedict Cemetery.

Trimountain Lodge of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen were led by President C. O. Lund, secretary E. A. Nickerson and treasurer E. E. Murphy, the conductors were directed by Mr. David W. Morton, and there were large delegations from the engineers, station masters and tower-men.

Right Rev. Mgr. Ambrose F. Roche, pastor of the church, officiated at the services and in the sanctuary were the Rev. John F. Kelleher, pastor of St. Bernard's Church, West Newton; the Rev. Redmond J. Walsh, vice-president of Boston College, and the Rev. H. Augustine Gaynor, member of the college faculty.

Honorary pall bearers were J. L. Truden, general superintendent of the Boston & Albany, and trainmasters T. W. Carter, H. J. Curry, J. B. Curry, J. B. Hammill. Active pall bearers were these conductors: John O'Brien, J. Sullivan, W. H. Brown, W. F. Higgins, M. Coffey and Joseph Titen.

Two large automobile trucks were filled with the beautiful floral tributes sent to the services.

FORMER PASTOR DEAD

While preparing for a drive Wednesday at his summer home at Bass Rocks, Gloucester, the Rev. Charles McLellan Southgate of 20 Mt. Vernon street, Boston, was taken ill and died at noon. He is survived by his widow, two sons and a daughter.

Mr. Southgate was born at Monroe, Mich., in 1845, the son of the Rev. Robert and Mary Frances (Swan) Southgate. He was graduated from the Ipswich High School in 1861; Phillips Andover, 1862, and received the degree of A.B. from Yale in 1866. His first work was as principal of the high school at Woodstock, Vt. He next entered Andover Theological Seminary, was graduated in 1870 and ordained to the ministry of the Congregational church.

In 1875 Mr. Southgate was made pastor of the Congregational Church in Dedham. In 1884 he resigned to go to Pilgrim Church, Worcester. His last charge was at Auburndale, from 1895 to 1906. Since then he had been superintendent of the Massachusetts Bible Society.

POINTERS FOR THE MOTORIST

It is always a good plan to carry a package of extra valve parts such as valve insides, valve caps, washers and dust caps, says the Michelin Tire expert. These can be bought for a few cents and are at time invaluable. The small rubber tipped valve inside, which is really the valve proper, sometimes leaks when old. It can be screwed out readily by inverting and inserting the notched valve cap and using it like a screw driver. When the valve inside is removed it is only the work of a moment to fit a new one.

A leaky tire valve is sometimes responsible for a fault blamed on a "slow puncture." When pumping up a tire if the pump handle comes up of itself after pushing down on the inflation stroke a leaky tire valve may be looked for. If the motorist carries a spare set of valve parts he is all right, but not so his less thoughtful neighbor who left his in the carage!

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOLS

Fine Exhibition of Sewing and Millinery at Technical School

The sewing exhibit at the Technical High School of the work of the sewing, dressmaking and millinery classes of that school and of the grammar schools of the city is a most interesting one, and shows an improvement in design and in manner of execution over the work of other years.

Well-made and pretty designed dresses have been made by many of the older pupils; hats which compare favorably with those in many a millinery window fill several tables; suits of under clothing, cleverly made and daintily trimmed are the work of the Freshmen and Sub-freshmen; work baskets, sofa pillows, pin cushions, and many other articles have been designed and made in a creditable manner by the pupils in the grades.

The work will be exhibited every afternoon this week and a teacher will be present to explain the work.

The Newton High School Advisory Committee held a dinner in the Library of the Technical High on Monday afternoon.

The Senior commercial division has been greatly reduced in numbers as almost half the division has accepted positions since the spring vacation.

On Wednesday, May 29, both the schools were addressed by a G. A. R. Veteran who told in an interesting manner some of his own war experiences.

Another police baseball game on Claffin Field at recess on Tuesday brought forth a large crowd of enthusiastic fans.

The net proceeds from the play entitled "A Fool for Luck," given by the Seniors of the Technical High amounted to two hundred and seventy-five dollars ($275)—about fifty dollars more than last year's receipts. From sixty to seventy-five dollars of this will be used for the last copy of the "Dynamo," the remaining will be used for a class gift to the school. This gift will probably consist of pictures or books as at the present time there are but five pictures in the school and only a few hundred books in the library.

It has been the custom for the past three years for the graduating class of the Technical High to hold a Freshman Prize Speaking Contest. The Class of 1912 held these exercises in the Assembly Hall on Wednesday morning. The judges were Rev. J. Edgar Park, Mr. Joseph C. Hagar, and Miss Margaret McGill. The speakers were Leah Gilfox, Cuthbert H. Carey, Cora M. Cooper, Charles Parlin, Virginia King, Dalton E. Francis, Grace E. Bowen and William Spaulding. There was singing by Miss Frances Cavanaugh, '12 and music by the High School Orchestra. After the speaking the judges retired to make their decision while the orchestra entertained the audience. Rev. J. Edgar Park announced the unanimous decision of the judges and the prizes were awarded to Miss Grace E. Bowen, whose subject was "White-washing a Fence," by Mark Twain, and to William Spaulding, who spoke on "Mr. Queer's School," a selection from Nicholas Nickleby.

Mrs. Kelly from Newton Centre spoke to a Senior History division on Woman's Suffrage in Room 18 last Tuesday morning.

The Senior class picture, which was taken a week ago, has been on exhibition on the bulletin board this week.

William M. Evarts had a farm in Vermont where swine were bred with especial care. He once sent a barrel of pickled pork to the historian, George Bancroft, with this letter: "I am glad to send you two products of my pen today,—a barrel of pickled pork and my eulogy on Chief Justice Chase."

NEW SUPERINTENDENT

He entered the service of the Boston & Albany R.R. as telegraph operator and soon afterwards became a train dispatcher, from which office he was promoted in February of 1904 to be trainmaster with headquarters at Boston. For about two years Mr. Hammill has served as passenger trainmaster, his jurisdiction extending over the entire system from Boston to Albany. In his promotion he will have charge of all the main line and branches of the Boston & Albany Railroad between Boston and Springfield.

For many years he was a member of the degree staff of Newton Lodge and instrumental in bringing it up to a high standard of efficiency. He was also a member of Dalhousie Lodge of Masons. He is survived by a widow, who was Miss Elizabeth K. McDonald. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the chapel in Newton Cemetery, in charge of Rev. Robert W. Van Kirk, pastor of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church.

MUSICALE

Pupils of the Misses Allen School gave a musicale and operetta Friday evening which for variety and pleasing numbers has seldom been equaled in the city. It comprised piano solos and duets, violin solos, and finally an amusing operetta, "The Garden of Japan," which was beautifully staged. The Japanese chorus of 19 young ladies in costume sang delightfully, as did also the soloists, the Misses Sabin and Knapp. The pianoforte duets by the Misses Catharine Hamilton and Clare Anderson were received with the greatest enthusiasm. Piano solos were admirably rendered by the Misses Eleanor Lowe, Martha Chapman, Amy Preston, Marian Richardson, Lorraine Clements, Virginia Cole, Ruth Day, Fanny Bond and Miss Seller. Violin solos by Miss Kimberly were very cleverly performed and received many encores. The pianoforte duets by the Misses Bond and Day were greatly applauded by the audience which numbered about 250 parents and friends of the pupils.

CHILDREN'S PARTY

Successful Affair Last Saturday at the North Gate Club.

The annual Children's Party given under the auspices of the members of the Social Committee of the North Gate Club Saturday afternoon at the Club house, was a very successful affair and was participated in by about forty children. A variety of entertainment, consisting of a Punch and Judy Show, games and novelty dancing were provided for the children who presented a very pretty picture attired in white frocks with pink and blue ribbons. Handsome favors were distributed among the dancers. A pleasing program of music was furnished for the dancing by Mr. William G. Hambleton. The festivities closed with refreshments served under the following committee of which Mrs. William E. Leonard was chairman: Mrs. Warren S. Colegrove, Mrs. Theo. O. Bjornson and Mrs. Frank W. Putnam. There was a large attendance of parents and friends.

Dr. George S. Butters of the Centenary Church at Auburndale. The burial was in the family lot in Pine Grove Cemetery, at Spencer, Mass. Mrs. Stowell is survived by two sons, Mr. Fred Stowell of Minneapolis, Minn., Mr. Hammond W. Stowell of Auburndale, and two daughters, Mrs. MacManamon of St. Louis, and Miss Fannie L. Stowell of Newtonville.

PAGEANT

Outline of Historic Production on the Claffin Ground

A brief outline of the scenes to be presented at the Patriotic Pageant next week, June 13 and 15, was given in last week's issue. A few further details may be of interest. The prologue, a poem descriptive of the episodes to be enacted, will be printed in the program and will be danced as a solo by Miss Mildred Macomber. Then follows the first Episode, which represents an Indian encampment in Virginia. Pocahontas, the daughter of Chief Powhatan, saves the life of Captain John Smith, who has been captured by the Indians. After this there will be a dance of Indian and Puritan Maidens and then the Spinning Lesson, a scene in which the Puritan maidens are teaching an Indian maiden to spin.

The third Episode describes an encounter between the gay and reckless merry makers of Merry Mount and the stern, severe Puritans. In the Ferry Farm scene is depicted life on an old Virginia Plantation and the departure from home of the youth, George Washington, with Lord Fairfax.

Another Virginia scene, beyond the Blue Ridge Mountains, follows, in which George Washington and his companions are brought by the gypsy leader, Bowell, into his camp and Red Rowan, the gypsy, foretells the hardships which he must endure and his final triumph.

The Daniel Boone Episode shows Daniel Boone and his friends captured by the Indians. Boone escapes and by bravery and cleverness warns the town of Booneville that the Indians are on the war-path.

Two scenes compose the Benjamin Franklin Episode. The first, on Boston Common, in which young Franklin meets an old woman, a crystal gazer, who prophesies for him a great future. He falls asleep and dreams the second scene in which he is introduced, a distinguished guest, to the pomp and splendor of the gay French Court.

In the Abraham Lincoln Episode is seen the life in a clearing at Little Creek, Indiana. Into the midst of a country-side gathering of young folk comes a group of Indians desiring to exchange furs and beads for the finery of the settlers; a dispute arises which is settled by "Honest Abe," accepted as judge by the Indians.

In the next Episode there is presented a glimpse of the Old World life, which has been making itself felt with increasing power in the last quarter-century. Five nations are represented by their folk dances. The wedding of the Old World and the New is the closing scene.

The fact that so many children will have part in the affair should attract a large patronage and this together with kindly elements are all that is needed to make it the great success financially that it will be artistically. Great care is being taken with the costumes and all scenic effects and the spot chosen, Claffin Field, is considered particularly well adapted for the purpose.

ALL SORTS

Norah, a maid in a Boston apartment house, answered a ring one day while the family were at dinner. After sounds of earnest conversation Norah reappeared, smiling as usual.

"Twas a pleasant-spoken leddy, ma'am," she said in answer to her mistress's glance of inquiry, "and she was looking for the wrong flat; and I'd haard wurrik to convince her we didn't live in it, ma'am!"—Youth's Companion.

A bishop's coach was overturned and the servants were unable to extricate it. The coachman at last told his master he believed they must stay there all night, "for," said he, "while your grace is present, I cannot make the horses move." His lordship desired him to explain. "It is," said the man, "because I dare not swear in your presence; and, if I don't we shall never get clear." The bishop replied, "Well, then, swear a little, but not much." The coachman made use of his permission, and the horses, accustomed to this kind of language, soon set the coach at liberty.

Lots of people live in the same square who don't move in the same circle.

Insomnia and Tobacco.

The dominant characteristic of tobacco is the fact that it heightens blood pressure. The irritant action by which it does this sometimes leads to still more harmful results. Its second action is narcotic. It lessens the connection between nerve centers and the outside world. These two actions account for all the good and all the bad effects of tobacco. As a narcotic it temporarily abolishes anxiety and discomfort by making the smoker care less about what is happening to him. But it is a well known law of medicine that all the drugs which in the beginning lessen nerve action increase it in the end. Thus smoking finally causes apprehension, hyperexcitability and muscular unrest. Here this inevitable law seems to give contradictory results. Every physician knows that an enormous amount of insomnia is relieved by smoking, even if it is at the expense of laziness the next day. At the same time every physician knows that most excessive smokers are troubled with insomnia.—Century.

Meanness of Moose.

A typical southern "mummy" entered the office of a well known attorney and, after mopping her shining brow with a bandanna handkerchief, said to the man at the desk.

"Ab wants t' git a divorce 'om mah husband, 'Mose Lightfoot."

"On what grounds?" asked the attorney.

"He's jes natchelly wufless," was the reply.

"What is your husband's occupation?"

"He jes sets roun' de house all day and p'tends to mind de baby."

"Does he take good care of de child?"

"Deed he do not! He's too lazy. Dis mawvin' he tried to make de dawg rock de cradle by tyin' its tail to one ob de rockers."

"Did the scheme work?"

"Land sakes, no! Mose am so evablastin' grouchy dat he couldn't speak enough kind words to make de dawg wag its tail!"—Judge.

Yellow Writing Paper Easy on Eyes.

Oculists have often called attention to the fact that the eyes are easily fatigued by the reflection from white paper, especially when the surface is under a strong light. Since green is known to be the color most restful to the eyes, it is a common practice to use wall papers and draperies of that color in libraries and private studies.

For writing paper, however, green is an unsatisfactory color. It imparts a reddish appearance to the writing and makes it hard to read. Yellow writing paper is not open to the same objection. In strong daylight it is softer than pure white paper, and in artificial light is not too dark. Black letters on a yellowish background show clear and distinct. Many mathematicians use yellow paper in figuring long and difficult calculations, and many writers have adopted it for manuscripts.—Youth's Companion.

Articles Marked "Patented."

We are all accustomed to see a patented article marked "Patented," with the date of the patent. It is doubtful, however, whether one in a hundred who notices the mark realizes its importance to the patentee. The statute on the subject makes it the duty of all patentees or those holding under or making the patented article for them to apply the mark "Patented," together with the day and year the patent was granted, and the same statute provides as a penalty for not making that "in any suit for infringement by the party failing to so mark no damages shall be recovered by the plaintiff, except on proof that the defendant was duly notified of the infringement and continued after such notice, to make use or vend the article so patented."—Scientific American.

Music and Appetite.

The majority of the great musical composers had appetites on an equality with their talents. It is told of Handel that when he dined alone at a restaurant he always took the precaution to order the meal for three. Once on asking, "Is de tinner retty?" at a restaurant, or a tavern, as it was then called, where he was little known, he got the reply, "As soon as the company comes," and astonished the waiter by seating himself, with the remark, "Den bring up de tinner; I'm de company." The appetite of Haydn was yet more voracious. He delighted in dining alone and always finished the meal ordered for five persons.

Curious Beeslives.

In the village of Hoesel, Silesia, there are a number of beehives in the shape of life size figures cleverly carved in wood and painted in colors. The figures were carved more than a century ago by monks of the Naumburg monastery, who were at that time in possession of a large farm in the district. The beehives represent different characters, ranging from Moses to a military officer, a country girl and a night watchman with a spear.

The Fastidious.

"Catch any fish on your trip?"
"No, and I can't understand why. Had a $200 outfit. Had the right kind of hooks and the latest thing in flies."
"Maybe you weren't wearing the right kind of hat?"—Washington Herald.

She Did.

"Jack proposed to me while turning the music for me at the piano."
"Ah, I see! You played right into his hands!"—London Answers.

Hurt not others with that which pains yourself.

A Story of La Fontaine.

La Fontaine used to denounce the stage "aside" as utterly inartistic and inadmissible. In "Jean de la Fontaine" Frank Hamel tells of an outburst before Moliere, Racine and Boileau.

"Nothing," said La Fontaine, "is more contrary to good sense. What! The pit is supposed to understand that which an actor is not expected to hear, although he is close behind the one who is speaking? Absurd!"

As he grew very warm while thus expressing his feelings, and as it was impossible to make him hear a word Boileau tried to arrest his attention by repeating over and over again in loud tones, "La Fontaine must be a pretty rascal, a great rogue." But La Fontaine took no notice of all this abuse. At last they all burst out laughing, and this interrupted his train of thought.

"What are you laughing at?" he said. Boileau replied gravely: "Fancy! I was abusing you at the top of my voice and you never heard me, although I am near enough to touch you, and you are astonished that an actor does not hear an aside that another actor utters on the boards."

The Two Coats Were There.

Sometimes the more you get a negro cornered the less cornered you have him. This fact, long known to many, was discovered the other day by a leather man in the "swamp."

This man suddenly awoke to the fact that certain back walls were dingy with dirt and decided they'd look much better if whitewashed.

So he summoned his old negro factotum and told him to get busy with his whitewash brush, giving special directions to put two coats on.

When the job apparently had been finished the leather merchant inspected it and found the whitewash suspiciously thin looking.

Summoning Sambo, he said as sternly as he could, "You didn't go over those walls twice as I told you to."

"No, sir," was the quick reply. "I ain't gone over twice, but I done put two coats in de wall, sir—two coats in de wall!"—New York Mail.

She Was So Sure.

A woman who may be called Mrs. Smith placed her umbrella against the counter at which she was making some purchases in a department store the other day and when she finished picked it up and started away. At least that was the way it ran through her mind.

"Pardon me," said a strange woman, "but you have my umbrella."

"Oh, no," said Mrs. Smith; "that is my umbrella."

"Pardon me again," insisted the strange woman, "but it is mine."

"I guess I know my umbrella," said Mrs. Smith, beginning to show fight.

"If you have lost your umbrella I am sorry, but I can't give you mine."

"Did you carry two umbrellas when you left home?" asked the stranger.

Then Mrs. Smith discovered that she had an umbrella in each hand, and she surrendered.—Cleveland Press.

Food Tasters at Feasts.

The sixteenth century feast was a round of precautions. The table laid, the panter at once tasted the bread and salt as a preliminary "feeler." Then my lord washed in water tested for poison and dried with a towel already kissed as a like precaution, this the while each dish of the first course, then on the dresser, was being tasted by the stewards and cooks under the direction of the sewer. The dishes then came to the high table, and "assaye" was taken by the carver and the sewer himself. Nothing was left to chance. Pieces were clipped from each loaf and corners from all meats. Pies were broken open and "cornets" of bread dipped into several places and swallowed by the tasters. The feast could then proceed.—London Chronicle.

Bell Ringing Is an Art.

"Bell ringing is a science," said a master of the art. "It is called campanology, and there are abstruse and technical terms in it. Like 'Kent trouble bob,' 'Stedman clinques,' 'double court bob,' 'dodges,' 'nolls' and 'kingses.' Each of these terms defines a certain phase or kind of bell ringing. In England there is a society, the Central Council of Bell Ringers, that every campanologist desires ardently to belong to. Maybe you think bell ringing is simple? Do you know what a peal is? A peal in ringers' parlance is a series of 5,000 changes rung upon a chime, no change occurring more than once."

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Governor Foss has apparently ignored the underlying truth of the old adage that "you can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink" in his attempt to secure legislation from the Great and General Court by refusing to consent to prorogation until certain measures he advocates are enacted. Last week mentioned his threats to veto all pending bills unless he was given his own way on legislation, and now it is his announced intention to keep the Legislature in session until he is satisfied. As a matter of fact the Legislature has shown the governor that the legislative department has some rights by setting aside his latest vetoes by overwhelming majorities. On one veto, there was a vote of 35 to 0 against the governor and the House votes were 132 to 32 and 181 to 48. The Governor and the railroad committee have repeatedly conferred on the railroad matters the Governor desires, most of which are simply matters of expediency, such as electrification of all steam railroads in the metropolitan district, the building of a connecting tunnel between the North and South stations, and enlarged powers to the railroad commission. There are only minor differences. But the Governor insists on coupling with these, the enlargement of the membership in the railroad commission, adding the control of telephone matters, and one or two minor subjects. The principal disagreement comes on increasing the size of the railroad commission and I am very sure that the Legislature will not yield on this matter. The fallacy of the Governor's spectacular appeal to the public lies in this single measure, altho he adroitly features the matters of tunnel and electrification as the real issues.

All of our representatives voted for the Brown bill as adopted by the Senate in the matter of a preference vote for U. S. senator.

The House, however, refused to accept the Senate bill and it is now in conference, with every prospect of falling between the two branches, thus leaving the situation as it has existed in the past—an election by the next Legislature without a popular referendum.

The House has instructed the ways and means committee to reduce the state tax bill from $6,500,000 to $6,000,000, and incidentally the proportion of Newton from $126,230 to $116,520. For this relief much thanks.

Both the House and Senate are holding brief sessions, waiting for engrossment of bills and for action thereon by the Governor. Prorogation will probably come within a few days, after the Governor finds he cannot make the "horse drink."

Very few persons in this city realize that the so-called Grand Trunk bill, which is not a Grand Trunk bill at all, contains a provision which may be of vital interest to Newton. It is discussed more fully in the editorial column.

RECEPTION

Grand Chancellor Will C. Eddy of Auburndale was tendered a reception by the members of Newton Lodge, No. 110, Knights of Pythias, in their lodge room, Odd Fellows Hall, West Newton, on Wednesday evening. The Grand Chancellor led the march into the hall followed by His Honor the Mayor, and the entire grand board where the reception took place. Over one hundred were present.

Miss Bates of Newton Highlands rendered a very beautiful soprano solo. Miss Fogwill gave several recitations which made quite a hit, while the elocutionary efforts of Miss Peniman of Mattapan greatly pleased the assembly.

Mayor Hatfield responded for "The City." Rev. Mr. Herriman of Lynn for "The Church," Past Grand Chancellor Peniman for "The Order," and Past Grand Chancellor D. Sidney Woodworth for "Our Friends."

It Ended All Right.

The old lady who entered the coach at a country station had an anxious face and confided to her neighbors that she had but once before been on a railroad train. This was soon evident after the first half hour, when every time the train stopped she inquired if it was New York. Then she became anxious lest the train should arrive late, and "the lady" would think I wasn't coming," she said.

"I don't tell her which train you would take?"

"No, indeed," said the old lady. "I tell her to get on at the New York evening train. There isn't more than one, is there?"

She was somewhat flustered when assured that there was more than one train, but was reassured when she talked to the conductor.

"All right, mother," said that functionary. "I'll stop the train at New York and see that you get off safely."

And when the train rolled into the station and the old lady met Lyddy and embraced her the passengers exchanged a smile of pleasure.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

How the Salmon Leaps.

Scientists as well as laymen tell extraordinary stories of the wonderful leaps whereby salmon ascend waterfalls. One investigator who has studied the salmon of southeastern Alaska asserts that these fish do not select a particular point of attack in endeavoring to surmount a fall. They show a remarkable lack of accuracy as well as of definiteness in their movement. When trying to ascend a fall they sail through the air, with the body rigid and the fins spread and held tense, and at the instant when the momentum of the jump is lost they impart a rapid and powerful vibration to the tail. This occurs whether the jump is successful or not. Should the fish reach water at the top of the fall this motion insures the maintenance of its position. In open water they jump sideways instead of lengthwise, and there is no movement of the tail.—Harper's

Circles of Latitude.

Each circle of latitude keeps at the same distance from the equator as the other circles. Suppose that the arctic circle should be laid with a band of bright metal so that it could be seen for fifty miles each way from a peak. Then, to the eye, the curvature would be a matter of individual judgment. Face the west, then some would say the line is straight; others, curved to the right. The curvature could be detected on that circle of latitude with instruments. As one approached the pole the curvature would rapidly become more and more apparent. Go to within one-half a mile of the poles, then a circle of latitude would be like a race track one mile in diameter. When the sea is still I cannot detect the curvature of the surface of the water, but persons have told me that they can.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

Keeping Up Steam.

An Irishman just landed secured a position as fireman in a large factory. The chief engineer instructed him in his new duties, saying, "To run our engine we require 100 pounds of steam. You can always tell how much steam you have by looking at this gauge."

Shortly afterward the engineer noticed that the engine was slowing up. Calling to the boiler room, he inquired of Pat how much steam he had on.

"Oh have a hundred and forty-fove pounds, sor," answered the new fireman.

"Why, man, I told you we had to have 100 pounds to run."

"Niver mind that," was the cheerful answer. "Use what ye have got, an' wha't's gone O'll have more for ye."—Everybody's.

Doomed the Colonel.

Emperor William I. of Germany was a strict disciplinarian. One day during the maneuvers of the army a cavalry regiment charged at a strongly entrenched and embattled village, of which the garden walls were lined with marksmen. "Look, look!" exclaimed the Russian representative. "That regiment is lost." "No," was the emperor's calm reply, "this regiment isn't, but the colonel certainly is." And sure enough, at the close of the maneuvers he was placed on the retired list.

The Effect of Discipline.

"Just see how the chickens mind the old hen, Robby," said Mrs. Norris to her son. "Watch them run to her when she calls them."

"I suppose she sat on them when they were little," remarked the infant phenomenon reflectively.

Somewhat Dubious.

"I wonder would the judge consider a plea of insanity?"

"Doubtless he would. Why do you hesitate?"

"Well, my client only stole twenty-five plunks."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

His Advantage.

"I know more about that woman than she knows about herself."

"How can that be possible?"

"Easily. I know she isn't pretty, but she doesn't."

A Slight Mistake in English.

Slight mistakes in speaking a foreign language or in understanding it when some one else speaks it are commonly nothing more than amusing, but a member of the Alpine club mentions an instance of a more serious nature. He was climbing with a guide, who persisted in talking bad English instead of indifferent French. The guide had just crossed a narrow bridge over a wide crevasse and turned to wait for the tourist on the further side.

He was asked if the bridge was weak and replied, "No, strong."

Naturally the tourist walked boldly across the bridge, which he simply collapsed and dropped him into the crevasse. However, it was not very deep, and when he crawled out looking like a snow man he discovered that his guide had meant to say that the bridge was "not strong."

The tourist then strongly enjoined upon him to reserve his English henceforth for use in the valleys.—Exchange.

No Loafing in Switzerland.

In Switzerland a man may not deliberately join the army of the unemployed and remain indefinitely in the ranks without even making an effort to secure employment and in the interval be constantly deteriorating into an unemployed. There is no resorting to charitable institutions as hotels, no wandering about the country extorting alms from honest people while pretending to be in search of employment. An unemployed person must make a serious effort to find work. If he does not the authorities will find it for him and of a kind that may not be to his liking, and he is compelled to perform the work assigned to him. If he refuses he is placed in the workhouse, where military discipline is maintained and where every inmate is required to work to the full capacity of his strength, for which he receives as compensation his board and lodging, with wages ranging from 3 to 10 cents per day.

Byron's Curly.

Were Byron's curls a natural development? It is an article of faith with his admirers that cut had nothing to do with his ringlets. The youthful Disraeli reproduced them, and his curls certainly betrayed the iron. And if you believe Scrope Davis that indiscreet person was once in a position to surprise Byron's secret process. The two were on familiar terms at Trinity. Davis walked into Byron's rooms one morning and found him still abed and with his hair in unmistakable curl papers. "I thought your hair curled naturally," Scrope remarked. "Confound you, so it does!" the other returned. "I take care of that. But don't you tell anybody." Of course Scrope told everybody. Still, Byron was curly headed at Harrow. And he could not very well have gone to bed in curl papers there.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Cold That Kills and Cold That Cures.

In England severe cold generally kills a good many people. In certain parts of North America cold still more severe puts new life into them. It requires no argumentation to show that there must be a definite reason for this. The chief reason is that English cold is mostly damp, while in North America it is mostly dry. There is the great difference in the world between dry air and damp air. The former is usually air pure and simple, possessing a full quantity of oxygen and often charged highly with ozone. The latter consists of air mixed with the vapor of water. When the former air, fully oxygenated, is breathed it stimulates more powerfully than champagne. The latter, less oxygenated and charged with vapor of water, not only does not stimulate, but depresses.

A Hunting Incident.

A city hunter, rigged out in a corduroy suit, double peaked cap, leggings and other picturesque paraphernalia, engaged a small country boy as guide.

The two were greatly astonished when a rabbit jumped out from behind a log, looked about and dropped over as if dead.

"There isn't a mark on it!" exclaimed the sportsman.

"No," replied the boy. "I guess he must have laughed himself to death."

"I and Mont Blanc!"

A story of a Prussian lieutenant who stood at the foot of Mont Blanc and with a haughty eye contemplated the mighty mountain delightfully illustrates the arrogance of the youngsters of the German army.

"Donnerwetter!" he said, stroking the vestige of a mustache. "How ridiculously small a civilian must feel!"

Expert Testimony.

"I don't see why you women always want a house full of closets," remarked Crabshaw to his wife.

"I know, dad," replied little Johnnie, speaking up. "It's so they can always have a new place to hide the jam."

A Concrete Example.

Dodds—As one grows older there are certain things in which it is difficult to keep up one's interest. Don't you find it so?

Hobbs—Er—yes—there's the mortgage on my house, for example.—Boston Transcript.

His Brand of Fraud.

In the early days a famous lawyer in Jackson county was Russell Hicks. He had a faculty of saying the most sarcastic and cutting things, and he was often retained in a case simply to hurt the feelings and "rattle" the lawyer on the opposing side. He was retained for this purpose once in a land suit. The lawyer against him was a young man, and at the proper time Hicks arose and began to abuse this young lawyer, denouncing both him and his case together as a combined fraud.

Now, Mr. Hicks had a habit of dyeing his hair, and upon this day he had been out in the rain, and the dye had become soaked off in spots, so that the dye was plainly to be seen by all.

When the young lawyer arose to reply to the attack upon him he said: "Gentlemen of the jury, this man should be the last one on earth to talk of fraud. Look at his head, gentlemen. See that hair. Every spear of it is a painted fraud."

The young man won the case.—Kansas City Star.

Unimpressed.

"Mabel," he said enthusiastically upon his return from the lodge, "congratulate me. I am now a grand exalted Pooh Bah of the first rank."

"So," said Mabel indifferently. "I am a high and mighty duke of the grand duchy?"

"Hum!"

"I have been elected to the degree of the most excellent chancellor of the king's sacred circle."

"Hum!"

"I am a grand earl of the early risers. I am lord of the inner chamber of sovereigns and as such entitled to all the perquisites and privileges belonging to such a lofty station, and, what is more, I am a supreme king of the favored few."

"All right, king. Now go out in the back yard and beat the dust out of the rug on the line. By the time you get through with that you'll probably be down on earth again," said she coldly.—Detroit Free Press.

Indian Wit.

In Colonel Newell's reminiscences as an Indian agent is this story: The Indian commissioner visited the agency one day and asked to have all the Indians brought before him that he might make them a speech. These were the Brule Sioux, of whom Spotted Tail, one of the most illustrious of Indians, was at that time head chief. In the course of his address the commissioner asked the Indians to quit painting their faces and bodies. He told them that none but a savage painted his face or his body. After he had finished Spotted Tail arose.

"You say we are savages because we paint our faces and bodies," he said. "Last spring I was in Washington and went to the president's inaugural ball. All the white women at that ball had their faces painted. I do not think we are savages," he said.

The assembled Indians shrieked with laughter.

The Tag at the Rear.

A Chicago physician recently motorized to Columbus, where he spent several days with friends on the east side. While downtown one day he left his touring car standing in front of the Chittenden hotel, and when he came out he saw the colored doorman standing back of the machine laughing.

"What's the giggle?" queried the doctor.

"Nothing, boss," answered the genial doorman. "But you're a physician. Aren't you?"

"Yes."

"I thought so when I saw the red cross on the front of your machine, but if I owned that car I'd take that sign off the back."

The doctor went around to the rear and looked at the license tag. It read, "35,000 Ill."—Columbus Dispatch.

Byron and His Mother.

How different Byron's character might have been if he had had a different mother! A worse parent for such a child can hardly be imagined. Although at times indulgent to excess, her temper bordered on insanity. She rarely passed a week without an outburst of hysterical rage. One day after loading her child with abusive epithets she mockingly called him "a lame bra." At this outrageous taunt a fearful light came into the child's eyes, but he surpassed his mother in self control. For a moment his lips quivered and his face whitened. Then very slowly he spoke these five short words, "I was born so, mother," and turned from the woman, who dared not follow him. Yet Byron loved her, and after she was found dead he was found weeping in the dark beside her lifeless form.—John L. Stoddard.

Doubtful Economy.

Hans Schmidt, proprietor of a saw mill, used for fuel the sawdust from the factory. It cost him nothing, but it kept four men busy shoveling it. Recently he was persuaded to put in a new equipment which would reduce the amount of fuel one-half.

After the machinery had been installed the agent called, expecting to be congratulated. But the German eyed him gloomily.

"Doesn't the new plant do all I claimed for it?" he asked.

"Yah, but I overlook somethings," replied Hans.

"What was that?"

"Well, it takes only two men to haul the fuel, but it takes de udder two men to haul away what we don't use and a team besides."—Hampton's Magazine.

The Peddler's Retort.

"Now, what do you want?" asked the woman at the back door.

"I called to see if I couldn't sell you some baking powder," answered the peddler with the straggling whiskers.

"Well, you can't sell no bakin' powder here, an', furthermore, I ain't got no time to waste on agents nor no tramps whatsoever!"

"Come to think of it, madam," deprecated the sassy gentleman as he fastened his little black valise. "I wouldn't keer to sell you none of this here bakin' powder. This here dinky little kitchen is so low in the cellar that the bread wouldn't have no chanst ter rise anyhow. I see yer next door neighbor is better fixed. Good mornin'!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Why He Went on the Bench.

At a dinner given by a chapter of Masons one of the leading speakers of the evening was introduced with special emphasis on the fact that he was a judge, also that he was a baseball fan and had been at one time an enthusiastic member of an amateur team. The judge received his introduction with calmness and responded: "In our great national game if a striker misses a ball he gets a seat on the bench. I missed the ball."—New York Press.

Giving Due Credit.

There appears to have been once a parson who, preaching upon an occasion before Lord North, took this for his text: "Promotion cometh neither from the east, nor from the west, nor from the south."—"The Cheerful Day," by Reginald Lucas.

A Time Killer.

"I've got an hour or two to kill. I wish I knew what to do."

"Just go over and ask Brown how the new baby is getting along."—Detroit Free Press.

Reassured.

"Well, Bess, you needn't worry about that brother of yours in America. The paper says 'our foreign relations continue to be excellent.'"—London Illustrated.

ALICE MARY PORTER

On Tuesday, May, 28, this gracious woman was suddenly called away by death to the higher life. She was the eldest daughter of the late Allen and Mary Fuller Jordan of Newton Lower Falls. It was there she was born and lived the early years of her life, as Alice Mary Jordan. After her marriage in 1880, to the late Rodolphus Porter, of South Braintree, Mass., she went there to live. On the death of her husband, Mrs. Porter moved to Boston, where, with her son, she has since lived. Mrs. Porter was a woman of most attractive traits of character; so lovable and sweet of disposition that she easily gained many and strong friendships, which were retained with warm affection unto the last. Her temperament was marked by great cheerfulness under all circumstances. Her spirit was that of unflinching helpfulness. Often at the cost of her health and strength she was discovered in some path of duty, or in some simple task doing for others, in utter forgetfulness of self. In great truth it could be said of Mrs. Porter, she "went about doing good." In the sweet, serving spirit of the Master! There was a subtle charm in her smile and words of sympathy, that made them seem, as they really were, more than conventional forms! There was in her life, to those to whom it was her privilege to minister, a fountain of perennial sweetness; so untiring and so unselfish was her thought, to her peculiarly it was "more blessed to give than to receive." For her family and friends there is left by her sudden departure,—aching hearts,—comforted only by the precious memory of a noble-hearted woman, who in rare humility, "bath done what she could" to make the world richer and happier by her life.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Mass. State Federation of Womens Clubs

Art Committee

The past year has been one of much activity for the Art Committee. The aim of the Committee is to awaken a deeper interest in all the arts, and a truer appreciation for everything beautiful. With this in view the annual Conference was planned, and held in the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, December 7th, 1911, Mrs. Mulligan presiding.

The Committee has held three Sectional Conferences, the first at Worcester, January 29, 1912. The reports of club work given at this Conference were very interesting. Sixty clubs were invited to attend; fifty did attend, although the day was a very stormy one.

Words of thanks have been received by our resident member from the Director of the Worcester Art Museum for the conference—through it, we interest in and the work of the Museum has been greatly increased. Their lectures, lantern slides and photographs have been used by many clubs.

Pitchburg was the meeting place of our second Sectional Conference on February 14, 1912. There were visitors from thirty clubs present.

On March 22 the third Conference was held, in New Bedford.

Every member of the Committee has contributed time and talent for the furthering of the work.

Sixteen clubs have had a member as a speaker. One member speaking seven times, three have spoken twice, and one three times. A member has given two talks at the Art Museum, illustrated by photographs. She has taken groups of club women through the Museum, and to the Copley Society Exhibition of Spanish pictures.

Another has given a lesson on Fine Arts once in two weeks throughout the winter to the blind girls of the Woodsom House, Cambridge. One has arranged and loaned folios of photographs and reproductions of paintings, to the Working Girls' Club—to cultivate a feeling for the best in art.

The husband of a member has supplemented her work by opening his studio to the members of her home club. Help has been given in the forming of study classes, for exhibitions, in obtaining and recommending speakers, books, and sources of art information. Letters have been received and answered, in regard to our methods of our work from the Chairmen of three other State Federations.

The work of the clubs is most encouraging this year. Every department shows an increase of interest.

One hundred and fourteen clubs have sent an answer to our questions. The study classes have greatly increased. Twenty-two clubs report them under a leader, and fourteen with a club member as leader.

Lectures on art have been given in fifty-six clubs. The subjects have been of the best, and were illustrated in most every case either by stereopticon, water colors, photographs, oriental rugs, or by Arts and Crafts work.

In the matter of exhibitions twenty-seven clubs have been interested, Arts and Crafts of every kind have been shown, fine needlework, jewelry, baskets, metal work, and book makings. One club has had a loan exhibition of old silver, one the collection of a member just returned from India.

In the Fine Arts special mention must be made of the Brockton Woman's Club, who held their sixth annual exhibition of pictures open to the public for a week. One hour each day was given for the High School pupils, a member of the Committee being present to explain the pictures. One of the pictures hung, was purchased and presented to the city, following their yearly custom.

The Nautilus Club of Provincetown had an exhibition of pictures open to all the school children.

The Hudson Club held an exhibition of pictures of Florence loaned by the Worcester Art Museum.

In Municipal Art there has been a splendid advance. Fourteen clubs reported co-operation with the Village Improvement Society, and many independent works, such as planting trees along the main streets, about the shores of ponds, the planting of vines on unsightly buildings, the beautifying of school yards with trees and flowers.

The Kosmos Club of Wakefield gives yearly for trees to be placed about their city.

The interest in the Museums of Fine Arts has greatly increased. Almost every club report visits to some museum, and fifty-four clubs report visits to the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. Some have visited this museum once each month.

Many are the expressions of gratitude to the Museums for the help to the study classes, for lectures on special topics, loans of photographs, lantern slides, use of library and information.

The schools have not been forgotten, many clubs have presented pictures. Two clubs have procured tickets for study in the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, for a student of their High School showing marked ability. The exchange of art papers between clubs has been reported.

The splendid work of the clubs this past year give such promise the Art Committee looks forward with much courage and faith for still greater achievement.

Settlement Department

The Settlement work of the Massachusetts State Federation for the Summer of 1911 began early in June. The two teachers with supplies and furnishings went over the mountains from Maryville accomplishing a journey with less fatigue and in less time than formerly. The school opened a few days after their arrival and continued until September. The teachers had sewing classes at the cottage for the girls who could attend. They visited much in the homes and their help and friendly sympathy were much appreciated.

Six of our Happy Valley children have been at school at Maryville the past year,—three of them having scholarships given them by Massachusetts Clubs, the Monday Club of Weymouth, the Woburn Woman's Club, and the Pilgrim Woman's Literary Club of Dorchester.

One young woman, who has been one of our teachers at Happy Valley, has had a scholarship given by the Dorchester Woman's Club. This club has taken a kindly interest in the young girl who has had the club scholarship, sending pretty little useful gifts at Christmas and Easter, and now are giving her her graduating outfit; all of which has been a great help and a great pleasure to a very conscientious girl making a brave fight against odds, for an education.

Two of our scholars taught a summer school beginning in August and closing in time for them to be back at Maryville at school after Christmas.

The work for the summer of 1912 will open the first week of June.

SARA T. S. LEIGHTON,
Chairman.

The Report of the Corresponding Secretary

The Federation has increased its membership during the year 1911-1912 by the addition of eight new clubs:—the Congenial Club of Boston, Ex-Club of New Hampshire's Daughters, Greenfield Woman's Club, Upland Club of North Reading, Rosendale Community Club and the Turners Falls Woman's Club. It has an enrollment of 249 clubs, with a membership of 34,046. One club, the Salem Century Club has disbanded.

The Corresponding Secretary has distributed 7,000 tickets for the regular meetings.

For the use of officers and committees 11,425 envelopes, 4,400 letter-heads, 3,700 note-heads and 2,450 postal cards were printed and sent out. Two hundred cards of invitation to Federation meetings, to be used for Federation guests were printed; of these about 75 were used. Five hundred cards and envelopes for use of the president and other officers in acknowledging invitations, were also prepared.

The Corresponding Secretary sent out 340 letters and 50 postal cards.

GRACE VOSE HIBBARD,
Corresponding Secretary.

Report of the Field Agent for Massachusetts of the General Federation Endowment Fund

At the Biennial Convention in Cincinnati in May, 1910, it was voted to adopt the President's plan to raise a fund of $10,000 for Endowment for the G. F. W. C. Each State Federation and each individual club was asked to contribute one year's dues to the fund. It was soon found that the response to the appeal for one year's dues was inadequate. So a new plan was adopted, and each State Federation was asked to contribute a certain sum to the fund and each club was asked to contribute a certain sum.

115 clubs responded. 13 clubs have sent the full amount, some of them having given the year's dues in 1911 in addition. 35 clubs, usually for good reasons, have refused to contribute to the fund and 90 clubs have not responded in any way to either appeal.

Total amount of Massachusetts contributions to fund, $4,523.92.

While your agent hoped that the fund might reach the $5000 mark (and it is not too late for gifts to be added now) still she feels that we have done well and thanks all the clubs who have so cheerfully contributed.

Crawford Ranges

Any iron worker can make a box with a fire in one end and call it a cooking stove.

It may in outward appearance impress you favorably—and—if you want a cooking stove merely to look at it may be satisfactory.

But—if you want a cooking stove that will cook your food perfectly, that banishes toil and trouble, that is so easy to manage and so sure in results that cooking becomes a joy—its name is Crawford.

The Single Damper (patented) regulates better than two dampers; the curved Cup-Joint flues heat the oven in every part alike; there is an Ash Hod instead of the clumsy old ash pan. These are not found in any other range.

EDITORIAL

For President
WILLIAM H. TAFT

Do the people of Newton fully realize the importance to this city of the bill now before Governor Foss, granting the Southern New England Railroad Corporation, among others, a right of way across Newton? A careful study of the bill and of the geography of the city shows that this location must pass between Lewis terrace on the east and Lowell avenue on the west. As the state laws prohibit crossings at grade, and as the present railroad tracks are depressed
it must follow that this new railroad will be constructed on an embankment, and the frequent streets which it will be required to cross will keep this embankment fully twenty feet high. Do the citizens of Newton accuse such a hideous structure passing thru Nonantum and Newtonville on the north side, close to the Newton Cemetery in the heart of Newton and in close proximity to Newton Highlands on the south side? Just consider, for a moment what this would mean. If the natural route thru the valley of Laundry brook is adopted,
it would mean a high embankment near Jackson road which would not add very much to the beauty of Mr.
Flanagan's fine estate, and a bridge
fourty feet high over Washington street, necessary to cross over the railroad tracks, would not be relished
by the parishioners of the Church of Our Lady. Wherever the location is finally made, it will require bridges
over such thoroughfares as California, Watertown, Washington, Newtonville avenue, Commonwealth avenue, Beacon and Boylston streets, to say nothing of many other less important ways. Just imagine for a moment an elevated structure crossing our beautiful Commonwealth avenue, 120 feet
in width with two roadways.

And this monstrosity in our city is necessary, it is said to develop the port of Boston, as this railroad will bring to the city, the produce of the Great West and Canada. As a matter of fact this belt line thru our city is planned, it built, to carry the shoes of Brockton and the manufactures of Attleboro and Providence, to the west and Canada, and will be used, so it is said, almost exclusively for freight purposes, and in competition with existing railroads. I do not believe even the most bitter au-tagonist of the New Haven system in Newton, will agree for one moment
that this city should endure this railroad blot, simply for the purely theoretical advantage its construction
may give the anti-Meliettes.

The only argument I have heard in favor of this belt line thru Newton, if it can be dignified as an argument at all, is that the cost of locating this line thru the city will be so great,
both for land damages and construction, that it never will be constructed.
The people of Newton ought not to rest content with this false security.
The bill should be killed at once. Let every public-spirited citizen write at once to Governor Foss, urging him to veto this bill (Senate 543) and in that event, immediately urge our representatives in the Legislature to support that veto with their votes and influence. Immediate action is imperative as the bill is now before the Governor, the time limit expiring on Monday. DO IT NOW!

The decent treatment which the Boston Elevated Railway Company has always extended to its employees is strikingly manifested in the large number of men who have manifested
a willingness to stand by the management in the labor crisis which is apparently pending. The sympathy of the public will be with the directors in their decision, to ignore outsiders in settling matters between the Company and its employees. It is to be hoped that the "rule or ruin" policy of the so called union leaders will,
in this instance, be met with firmness,
and they will be taught a lesson not to interfere with business not their own.

The Newton Police court is doing splendid work the past few weeks in enforcing the automobile law in this city, especially on Commonwealth avenue, where machines have been operated regardless of the rights of others. The action of the court clearly shows that the present state law meets the situation and that there will be little need for asking for special regulations on the Newton boulevard.

While there are many complaints
from citizens regarding the use of tar products on the streets as dust layers, the nuisance is short lived, while the benefits last for the entire season.
The Street Commissioner reports that while some citizens complain, the demand for the dust layers on more and more streets, is constant and imperative.

Building a Poem.
"Any man on earth can be a poet if he tries," said a speaker at a bankers banquet, "and there never was a better evidence than when the provost of Dundee died. It seems that the provost had been a fine man. His four deputies mourned him greatly, and after the funeral they all got together and decided that they should write him an epitaph."

"It was a hard matter to decide just how four men could write an epitaph,
but it was finally settled by the agreement that the inscription should be a verse of four lines, each man to write a line. And so they started. The first man wrote his line. The second man scratched his head and then added his line to the first. The third man thought long, but finally got his inspiration and put down his line. Then the fourth, after much deliberation, made the final rhyme, and the epitaph ran something like this:

"Here lies the provost of Dundee,
Here lies him, here lies he,
Hallelujah, hallelujah,
A-B-C-D-E-F-G-I!"

—Chicago Tribune.

Spelling Shakespeare's Name.
E. H. Sothern in an article in a magazine on the Bacon-Shakespeare controversy gives the Baconians a sound drubbing. Because Shakespeare spelled his name in various ways the Bacon-ians have been pleased to refer to him as a "barbarian." Here is what Mr. Sothern says on the subject of the spelling of the name:

"This is one assertion that is not denied. It is also true that Sir Walter Raleigh, admittedly one of the most cultured men of the time, spelled his name 'Rauley,' 'Rauleigh,' 'Ralegh' or 'Raleigh.' Sir Philip Sidney frequently signed himself 'Sydney,' while Spenser often wrote 'Spencer.' Take any of Shakespeare's contemporaries,
and we find the same thing. Marlowe's
name occurs in ten different spellings.
Throckmorton's in sixteen, Gascoigne's
in nineteen, Percy's in twenty-seven, while Ben Jonson wrote his in almost every imaginable form."

A Good Retort.

A Spaniard was traveling from San Sebastian to Biarritz in a first class compartment with an American.

"You Spaniards are a great nation,"
the American said. "But I can't understand how a nation that produced Velasquez and Valdes can stomach
the savage cruelty of the bullfight."

The Spaniard rolled his black eyes
at this, inhaled a great cloud of cigarette smoke and said:

"You have in America a number of societies for the prevention of cruelty to children. I believe?"

"Yes."

"And they do good work?"

"Oh, splendid work!"

Now the Spaniard showed his white teeth in a smile.

"Well, senior, such societies would be useless in my country," he said.

"The man who would lift his hand against a little child has not been born in Spain." —Los Angeles Times.

Mental Twilight.

Mental health passes into mental disease most commonly in a gradual way,
as light passes into darkness. There is a mental twilight, a borderland in which it is impossible to say whether the patient is mentally ill or not. It is always well for a man who undergoes such changes mentally to consult his doctor, and it is always well for the doctor not to make too light of such a change because treatment is usually far more effectual in that borderland stage than it is when the symptoms have been fully developed. The best test of mental health is when a man
feels a conscious sense of organic well being, all though many persons go through life with more or less of a sense of ill being all the time and are not on that account to be regarded as insane.

Acoma's Queer Graveyard.

What is perhaps the most remarkable graveyard in the United States adjoins the old Spanish church in the ancient Indian pueblo of Acoma, N. M., and took more than forty years to construct. The village is situated high in the air upon a huge, flat topped rock, many acres in extent and entirely bare of soil. In order to create the graveyard it was necessary to carry up the earth from the plain 300 feet below, a blanketed at a time, on the backs of Indians who had to climb
with their heavy loads up a precipitous trail cut in the face of the cliff. The graveyard thus laboriously constructed is held in place on three sides by high retaining walls of stone.—Wide World Magazine.

Got Through.

Among other startling statements in her composition on "A Railway Journey" the following was made by a little Baltimore girl:

"You must get a ticket, which is a piece of paper, and you give it to a man, who cuts a hole in it and lets you pass through." —New York Herald.

Her First Thought.

Ella—What a dreamer she is! Stella
—I should say so! When I told her about an accident in which a poor fellow lost both of his legs she said that that was too bad, as he would not be able to leave any footprints on the sands of time.—Judge.

The National Game.

"You say baseball is your national game," said the stranger, "but what is your national pastime in winter?"

"Politics." —Chicago Record-Herald.

When you lose your temper you lose your judgment. There's no precision in an angry decision.

The Cloth of Billiard Tables.

In the county of Gloucestershire,
England, there lives a family of weavers who for generations have manufactured a cloth known as the west of England cloth, whose fineness of texture and evenness of surface have never been equaled despite thousands of dollars used for machinery in an attempt to duplicate this product. The secret of this Gloucestershire family has been well kept, and they are the buyers of the finest grade of wool that the market is able to produce. Months of hard labor and energy is spent in the manufacture of 100 yards of the material, and compensation for its ownership is life among the buyers,
owing to the limited quantity available. All professional billiard players, both in Great Britain, where their game demands a higher degree of accuracy than that of the United States, and the American players usually carry along their own cloth, which is placed on the tables before every important game.—New York Sun.

Some Secret Burials.

Alaric, king of the Visigoths and their victorious leader, was buried about 1,500 years ago by his soldiers in the bed of the river Busento, in southern Italy. They first turned the waters into another channel and, after burying their chief and his treasures,
let them flow back again. His grave was dug by prisoners, who were all afterward put to death, so that the Romans might never find his grave.

Attila, king of the Huns, was buried
A. D. 453 on a wide plain in three coffins—one of gold, one of silver and the third of iron. In his case, too, all the prisoners who were compelled to dig his grave were immediately killed.

Another secret burial in later history
was that of Fernando de Soto, the discoverer of the Mississippi, whose coffin was sunk at midnight in the middle of the broad stream to conceal his death from the natives, who had been told that he was an immortal child of the sun.

The Lovers' Leap.

Sappho killed herself by jumping
from the Lovers' leap, a Leucadian cliff. This leap was often taken by lovesick persons, who believed that if they survived the fall they would be effectually cured of a hopeless passion.
The leaps were always witnessed by crowds of spectators, and the would be suicides were in no way interfered with by the state. Boats were in attendance below to pick up the leapers
if they came to the surface of the sea
after the plunge. Sappho had a passion for a young man who did not return her love and leaped from the cliff in order to be cured. She perished in the fall. So also did Artemesia and many other celebrities.

Pliny tells a curious story of an old Athenian miser who was in love with his cook and, desiring a cure, went to have a look at the cliff. He peeped over, shook his head, went home and married the cook.

Old World Armorer.

In olden times the armorer's work
was not of a rough and ready description, but generally bore the signs of highly wrought workmanship. The various pieces of a suit fit into their positions to a nicety, there are no rough edges and, as a rule, very little that is merely careless decorative work. Fashion and reputation have left their hall mark on the armor of each period,
and, like most other industries, it had its distinguished masters. The name of Jacob Toft is, for example, still famous in England, and such names as those of Lorenzo Colman of Augsburg,
a German armorer of the sixteenth century; Lucio Placino, a Milanese,
and the Wolfs of Landshut, a family of armorers that are supposed to have worked for Philip II. of Spain, are celebrated in their own countries.—Argonaut.

A "Fowl" Ball.

A ball game between two semipro teams, one colored, was played on the north side and attracted a numerous following of negroes, who went a long way to root for their team. They occupied a section by themselves, says
the Chicago Post.

A fowl ball went in among them and did not come back, causing a red haired contender to go to that part of the stand and yell:

"Throw that ball back. What do you think it is—a chicken?"

In the Wrong Place.

The meek looking man walked up to the book counter. "I want something to keep me home at night, show me
my faults, tell me how to spend my—"
"Hold on, old man," said the clerk;
"you're in the wrong department. Marriage bureau on the left, three aisles down." —Philadelphia Record.

Good Advice.

A Sewickley father recently gave his son some excellent advice.
"Now that you are married, my son,"
said he, "listen to me."
"What is it, dad?"
"Try to be a husband, not merely an ex-bachelor." —Pittsburgh Post.

Stung.

"Yes, Waldo, appearances are deceitful! Here I followed a guy who looked like a millionaire ten blocks to get discussed but an' it ain't nuthin' but a
"two-for" after all!" —New Orleans Picayune.

Sarcastic.

Cholly—D'you know, I'm sometimes inclined to think— Clara (encouraging)—Why don't you do it, Cholly? It's not such a difficult thing if you really try.

Life is too short for stupid quarrels.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss Grace M. Burt, Editor.

All the anticipations for the Federation meeting at Templeton were fully realized. Perfect June weather, delightful surroundings, comfortable quarters, a large attendance and a fine program combined to make the convention the most successful yet held by the Federation.

There was a most friendly spirit manifested everywhere. Everyone was in good humor and the ease and charm of the presiding officer found a responsive chord in the hearts of her audience. The sessions did not drag, neither was there any apparent haste, and yet all were brought to a satisfactory conclusion on time.

Surely the state president, Mrs. Henry Coolidge Mulligan, has won the friendship and cordial support of the club women of Massachusetts during her first year of service and with that she will be able to bring about larger and larger results as time goes on.

The Watertown Woman's Club is setting Newton clubs an example, which might well be followed on this side of the Charles River, in starting a crusade against the house-fly. The Board of Health, the Board of Trade and the Selectmen of the town have promised to co-operate with the club in its endeavor. On Friday evening, June 14, at 7.45, Mr. Harold Pisk Pierce of Clark University will speak in the Town Hall upon the subject and plans of action arranged at that time. Success to Watertown!

The Twentieth Annual Convention of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs

Amidst mid-summer heat two carloads of delegates to the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, left Boston on Monday afternoon for Templeton. At Gardner special trolley cars were waiting to convey the party to their destination. Enough cannot be said for the careful manner in which the details of arrangements for the comfort of every one had been planned, and were carried out by the hostess club, the Wellington Club of Templeton.

Monday evening was given up to informal sociability and conference in the music room of the Inn. The chairman of the various departments presided over groups of women interested in the respective subjects, the literature and conservation tables being probably the most popular.

On Tuesday morning in the First Parish Church the session opened with a very graceful address of welcome by Mrs. Carrie R. Manning, president of the Wellington Club to which the Federation president, Mrs. Henry Coolidge Mulligan responded most happily.

The convention then settled down to business, the first item being the report of the last annual meeting held in New Bedford. Then followed the annual reports of the officers and chairmen of special committees.—Badge, Meetings and Press. The treasurer's statement showed the expenses to have been $1809.64 and a cash balance of $1496.31. From the Bazaar Fund there has been expended $175.00 for the support of the Settlement School in Tennessee with a balance of $3145.88 on hand.

Interest centered during the morning around the report of the Endowment Fund presented by Mrs. Nathan N. Denison, the Field Agent for Massachusetts, and Mrs. Alvin R. Bailey, the director for New England of the General Federation. The amount, which had been received, was $4725.47, there having been recent additions. While $10,000 was the sum originally asked from Massachusetts, Mrs. Denison stated that she had hoped to reach at least $5000 and that amount had not been attained. The appeal of both speakers aroused much enthusiasm so that one after another of the delegates began to make personal pledges until before the close of the convention it was announced that $389.53 additional had been pledged and the total had risen to $5115, which everyone considered to be a most satisfactory amount.

The morning closed with the report of the Tennessee Settlement School by Mrs. Sara T. S. Leighton. All who heard her felt that if the Federation had done nothing else, this work alone would justify its existence.

After an intermission at noon the convention assembled again at two, when letters of greeting were read from Mrs. Eva Perry Moore, president of the General Federation and from the Vermont and Wisconsin state federations.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Mass. State Federation of Womens Clubs

Each year the work of the Bureau of Information connected with the Massachusetts State Federation increases, indicating that such assistance as the department can render to the clubs is needed and appreciated. The applications during the past year for practical aid have been many and varied, extending over almost every phase of club work and organization. The Bureau wishes to state that it holds no papers pertaining to work of the Federation departments. Such papers are to be found in the hands of the chairman and members of those departments.

Its mission is to act as a medium for general information and to advise from an unprejudiced and disinterested standpoint whenever such advice is desired. It has through the assistance of clubs maintaining scholarships carried on by the club women throughout the state. Each year the response from the individual organizations grows so that the Bureau has information regarding valuable class and department work that is being carried on. It has an increasing list of speakers who are willing to make special teams for small clubs.

The Bureau holds the constitution and By-laws of nearly every club in the State Federation and during the past year in order to aid clubs desiring to revise their By-laws, it has taken what has been deemed the most practical parts of these and embodied them in a so-called Model Constitution and By-laws, copies of which can be loaned to clubs at any time. It is not claimed that these are perfect but that they include practical and definite points which, it is felt, will be of assistance.

There are in the possession of this department excellent outline studies of nineteen different countries. These are at the disposal of club study classes—all that is asked in return being that they shall be returned for the benefit of others.

The Bureau would like to come in touch with club women throughout the state who through experience in department work are able and willing to speak for any of the Federation interests. It also asks clubs to send their year books as soon as they are published to the chairman of this department.

Assistance is again solicited for the coming year, not only from the large club with its numerous advantages on account of numbers, but also from the small club which through the necessity of individual activity is rich in ideas.

LEILA C. PENNOCK,
Chairman.

Education

The work of the Department of Education this year has been an endeavor to interest club women in Vocational Education, Home and School Associations, Scholarship Funds, Moral Education, the Use of School Buildings for Social Centres, better Daily Newspapers and other educational subjects.

This year one hundred and twenty-two clubs returned answers to the annual questions. Almost every Club is doing good work along educational lines. Forty clubs are working for the awakening of public sentiment for Moral Education and many are alive to the need of it, especially the education of the sex.

Only seven clubs report work done for better daily newspapers, but many would be glad to do so if they could intelligently. The department is working for the improvement, or abolition, of the comic supplement; for the printing of only news that is fit to print, and the elimination of objectionable advertising.

Good work has been done by the clubs for the enlightenment of the members on vocational education. Twenty-one clubs report one meeting devoted to this subject.

Last year only sixteen clubs reported maintaining a scholarship fund; this year comes the encouraging word from twenty-eight clubs that they are doing so and some are educating more than one girl with these funds.

To the question: "Have you formed any associations, or held any meetings to bring parents and teachers together?" forty clubs answer that they have done so and that the Home and School Associations are of great advantage to parents, teachers and children. These meetings bring about a better acquaintance between parents and teachers and are an opportunity to further the cause of moral education.

The use of school houses as social centres is being advocated by many clubs with the result that a more economical use is made of property belonging to the people. Some clubs have classes for immigrants and others report that they are maintaining a Kindergarten.

By Courtesy of the Taunton Woman's Club, a local conference was held in their city, January 23rd, to which fifteen clubs were invited.

We have sent two hundred and fifty letters to club presidents enclosing printed matter from the National Kindergarten Association.

The Kindergarten Association has enlisted the moving picture theatres all over the country to exhibit a film entitled, "At the Threshold of Life." Our committee believes the moving picture theatre should be made an educational agency. We are asking for pictures that will attract and entertain, but also will help young people to become the right sort of men and women.

In closing this report it is recommended that every club woman attend the moving picture theatre in her community and urge her club to do what it can to make the picture show, which is one of the strongest influences on child life and the most generally patronized amusement, an agency for the promotion of education.

EMILY E. B. BROWN,
Chairman.

Press Committee

The Press committee has continued its work along the lines of the past two years. It has secured in advance abstracts of addresses and other reports, had them mimeographed, and has mailed them together with a brief story of the meeting to the newspapers throughout the state a day or two previous to each meeting of the Federation, that they might be adequately reported. The list of papers to which material has been sent remains practically unchanged this year.

A new feature of work this season has been the reporting of the department conferences for the Boston Transcript and the General Federation Bulletin. Formerly each department was responsible for the preliminary announcements and subsequent notices that went to these papers, but for the sake of greater uniformity, it was decided that the Press committee undertake the whole work. Some member of the committee has attended every meeting of the Federation, the two conferences of presidents, and nearly every department conference during the year. The chairman has been on duty at each Federation meeting to assist reporters in any way possible. She has also had charge of all matter sent from the departments to the General Federation Bulletin.

Owing to the enlarged work, should this plan be continued another year, the present committee would like to recommend that the Press committee be somewhat re-organized and enlarged by the addition of two or three members who have had practical experience in reporting meetings.

The chairman has found the work of the last three years a pleasure and a privilege and bespeaks the same cordial co-operation for her successor that has been accorded herself.

GRACE M. BURT, Chairman.

Music Department

The Music Department at its first meeting was of the unanimous opinion that a uniform plan or course of study in music might be helpful to many of the clubs. A discussion as to the relation of music in the club program brought out these facts: In almost every club, more time has been given to developing any other art than to music, and in almost every club, music forms some part of the program of the regular meetings.

In January the Department sent a circular letter to the chairman of music in all the clubs of the Federation. From the replies we learned that many clubs are dependent upon the talent of members for all music. Some have organized choruses and orchestras. In one club, the children of members are encouraged to perform, that parents of other children may get an incentive and interest and give their children musical training. Interest in opera has been developed in one club, by a program which consisted of a short story of the Opera, followed by selections from that Opera arranged vocally and instrumentally according to the talent available in the club.

The department has planned an outline for the use of clubs with the hope that through the study of the simple folk songs the subject of Musical Appreciation might find its place and the two lines of work form an interesting and instructive course. This outline consists of a series of topics dealing with the folk songs of various countries of Europe, and is preceded by a preliminary outline on Musical Appreciation and its relation to the appreciation we develop for pictures, rugs, books, architecture, etc.

By invitation of the Fitchburg Woman's Club, a local Conference was held in that city March 27, 1912. The subject for that meeting was "Folk Songs the Foundation of All Music."

There could be no more fertile field to till than the realm of music, and we as members of the music department, congratulate ourselves that our lines have fallen in pleasant places. But music will have lost some of its charm for us if we fail to interest our club sisters in our work. The field, even adapted to the needs of the club woman is a large one, and only little by little, all in good time, may we meet these needs.

There are two suggestions, however, which need emphasis not only among the club women of this State, but in every club in every State.

Very naturally, music appeals more directly to the music lover—but each woman may contribute much to the spirit of music in this country.

First,—by training the speaking voice.

The second suggestion,—the attitude of women during the performance of music. It is a glaring truth that women do not apply the same courtesy to the musician that is extended to the speaker.

At this the end of the first season, no definite results of work accomplished can be named. It is the desire of this department to be of musical assistance to each club. First, last and always, we aim to further the club spirit of actual service and we ask for your interest and co-operation in our efforts to further the musical activities anywhere and everywhere in this good old Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

THE PRICE OF COAL

Editor Newton Graphic:—

I note that Boston is rampant because of an advance of 25 cents a ton over the price last year on coal. It is claimed that the advance in wages to the miners amounts to less than 5 cents a ton to the mine owners. But what will Newton say about the new prices? I paid $7 for stove coal last year and this year I must pay $7.75, an increase of 75 cents. For nut coal I paid, last year, $7.00; this year I must pay $8.00. Is not this a most unwarranted advance?

Aerolux Porch Curtains--Why They Are the Best

Compared to the other similar split shades, the AEROLUX have the following points of superiority.

1. Each shade is equipped with Patent Adjustable Re-enforcing Guys which hold the shade taut when lowered. This prevents whipping in the wind. Shades can be pushed up two to four feet and held without loosening the Guys. Not necessary to roll up when leaving the porch or at night. This is a particularly desirable feature for Sleeping Porches. This Attachment is not found on any other porch shade.

2. Heavy moulding top and bottom in place of thin strips. Look much better, at the same time are stronger.

3. The stains used are made from a special formula and are the nearest weather-proof of any procurable.

4. Cords are all finished same color as the shade. The result is a much more artistic effect and a shade which will soil much less easily. This is a big point in favor of the Aerolux.

5. Cords are treated to make them weather-proof.

6. Each shade is furnished complete with all necessary fittings as follows: Screws for hanging, Cup Hook for Adjustable Guys, Cleat and Cleat Screws, all of which are non-corrosive.

7. The Aerolux Shades are fitted with Galvanized Instead of Black Pulleys. The black pulleys rust, stick and wear out the raising cord.

8. Ends stained in place of being left raw.

9. Heavy single marginal cords placed close to the edge, instead of small double cords. The small cords cut into the wood more than the large single ones do, thereby weakening the strips of which the shades are made at the point where they have the hardest usage.

Compared to Canvas Curtains the Aerolux Shades keep out the sun effectively, a very essential feature in a Porch Shade. The Bamboo or German do not. The Aerolux Shades admit the air. Canvas Curtains do not. Half the good of a porch shade is lost if the air is excluded.

While the first cost of the Aerolux is more than the Bamboo, when durability is taken into account they are much cheaper.

As compared to the German, the first cost of the Aerolux Shade is somewhat less. At the same time they are far more artistic and durable.

Boyhood days must pass away.
Years of work must follow play.
But in the years that are to be
Our hearts, Utopia, will turn to thee.

Chorus:
Utopia, Utopia, thy sons in legion sing,
Utopia, Utopia, long shall thy praises ring.
At thy fair name our hearts shall beat,
Utopia, that knowest not defeat.

See, now beneath thy banner old,
Thy sons are forming true and bold.
And come what may on land or sea,
Our hearts, Utopia, will turn to thee.

And when we face life's bitter fight,
And when around us is the night,
Then thy fair banner ever bright,
And thou, Utopia, shall be our light.

BOSTON ELEVATED RAILWAY CO.

A Clear and Concise Statement of Its Relations With Its Employees

The Boston Elevated Company announces that while it will continue its well established policy of seeing its employees either individually or collectively, it declines to meet a committee inspired by or including those not in its employ for the purpose of discussing matters pertaining to the relations between the company and its employees. In fact, the Management is at present conferring with a committee appointed at a mass meeting attended by a large majority of the employees.

The policy of the company is stated
very fully in the following communication addressed to the public and in a letter sent by General Bancroft to the committee consisting of William J. Hilland, and others, in response to a letter received from them:

TO THE PUBLIC

The company has been most liberal in respect to wages, and most considerate of the welfare of its employees. It has paid the highest wages that the business would stand,
and has adopted every provision for the benefit of its employees which humanity has dictated, and its resources had admitted. While it has not raised its dividend rate, and has assumed enormous burdens for rapid transit facilities and equipment, it has four times since 1902 raised wages—in 1903, again in 1908, again
in 1910, and the recent raise of last month, providing for 10-hours' pay for nine hours' work, and a higher rate for overtime. The highest wages which a man will receive under the last raise is more than 30 per cent higher than a man could receive under the wages of 1902, 10 years ago.

Upon its pension roll, established nine years ago, more than a hundred men have been placed. Not only that,
but scores of others whose powers were lessened, have been given such work as they were able to do, in many cases without reduced pay. Every faithful employee has been cared for in his age. The gold reward, established nine years ago, has resulted in the payment of its employees of over $500,000. It has paid the current expenses of two mutual aid associations, containing over 6000 members, intending that the entire dues paid by the men should be returned to them
in the form of benefits without diminution.

It has given free legal advice, a privilege which has been of great value.

During the coal famine it supplied employees coal at cost. It has made donations to many individuals for meritorious conduct in protecting the company's property, and for other services. It has cared for many individuals who were afflicted with injury or sickness, maintaining large numbers at hospitals. It has made loans to many who were unfortunate.
It has supplied seats for motormen.
It has done many acts of like nature, intended for their personal comfort. It has, withal, held them to strict accountability for their service on the cars, to the end that its patrons might be suitably served, but in calling them to account, it has always been fair. In short, recognizing its obligations to keep its men contented and efficient so far as consistent with its other obligations, the company has done everything in its power for them.

A street railway company as a public service corporation owes to the public the highest degree of care, and a service adequate to meet all reasonable demands. The maintenance of these obligations to the public gives the management of such a company constant concern. It is, therefore, its duty to maintain with its employees those amicable relations which can only be founded upon just
and fair treatment and the payment of the highest wages which the financial condition of the property will warrant with due regard to the protection of the investors and an adequate service to the community. This policy has been fully recognized by the Boston Elevated Railway Company and by its predecessor.

Fair and just treatment from the employing company has existed, on the Boston system for a great many years, for those detailed technical provisions of regulation governing the methods of assignment to work, the preservation of equity between man
and man, and of the rights of seniority, were all settled here many years since.

The regulations then made provided so thoroughly for the equities
in the case that when the Boston Elevated Railway Company assumed the management of the property in 1897 it found them so satisfactory that its officials were instructed to continue operation under the same regulations, which to this day constitute the code by which all the work of car service men and their privileges are arranged and defined.

For a period of not less than 19
years a fair, equitable and uniform system has been pursued by the management of the Boston street railway system in its dealings with employees.

Newtonville

—Mrs. Charles H. Vee and Master
Kenneth Vee of Oils street have returned from a visit to Groton.

—Mrs. Horton S. Allen and family of Lowell avenue have gone to their summer home at Boxford, Mass.

—Mr. Joseph Beatty, Jr., of Lowell avenue has returned from a successful fishing trip to Upper Dam, Ma.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Howe
and Miss Mollie Howe of Newtonville spent the week-end at Megansett.

—Miss Gladys Wales of Lowell avenue was one of the bridesmaids at the Nickerson-Bimes wedding last Saturday evening at Hotel Somerset, Boston.

Care for the interests of its employees, moreover, has been emphasized by the Boston Elevated in its various provisions for pensions, reward for good conduct, increases in wages and in the care of disabled employees, special awards for efficiency in prevention of fires, etc.
Probably no similar company in the country has given so much thought and care to the development of a force of loyal and efficient men.

The company has always recognized that the man on the car was its representative to the public, and among so many employees it has obviously been necessary to institute a thorough system of discipline in order to maintain the standards of service which have invariably excited favorable comment by visitors from other cities. This system which insures accountability is nevertheless based on fairness.

The company is always ready to investigate, and correct, if found, any grievance of unsuitable conditions,
and this fact is well known to every one of its employees. It is, therefore, not surprising that in view of its past history the management of the Boston Elevated should view with disfavor the unwarranted attempts which are now being made to create discord and disaffection between the employees and the company. Such action can only result to the detriment of the employees as a body and most of all to the community which they serve. That this fact is recognized by the majority of the uniformed employees of the company was well demonstrated by the movement which they have set on foot to protect against the disturbances sought to be created by persons having no concern with the company, for the furtherance of their own selfish interests.

The directors and presidents who have in trust the administration of the company are very earnest and sincere in the performance of what they believe to be their duty, and do not recognize the necessity of any interference whatsoever with the loyal,
cordial and generous relations which have existed in the past, exist in the present and must exist in the future between its employees and itself. The management further intends to support its loyal employees in their avowed determination that no individual or organization shall come between themselves and the officers of the company.

BOSTON ELEVATED RAILWAY COMPANY,

By Wm. A. Bancroft, President.

June 3, 1912.

Messrs. Wm. J. Niland,
M. J. Walsh,
P. J. Smyth,
J. W. Hurley, and
C. H. Davis.

Dear Sirs:

We are in receipt of a communication of June 1 signed by you. We must decline to see a committee inspired by, or including our well respected, but including those not in our employment. We shall, however,
continue our well established policy
of seeing our employees either individually or collectively.

In regard to matters pertaining to the relations between our employees
and the company, we are, in fact,
at present, conferring with the committee appointed at a mass meeting at which a large majority of our employees were present.

Respectfully,

BOSTON ELEVATED RAILWAY CO.

By Wm. A. Bancroft, President.

Last Monday a committee of six employees of the Boston Elevated Railway Co. called upon Maj. Gen.
Wm. A. Bancroft, president. This committee is a sub-committee of the committee of 19 appointed at the mass meeting held by a large majority of employees last week.

The duties of this sub-committee
of six were to visit the various divisions
and ascertain what, if anything, should be called to the attention of the management wherein the welfare of the employees was concerned.

The principal grievance presented to the president this morning was that of devising a way and means to make plain and clear to the men their position and the selfish purpose of those endeavoring to upset our fellow employees. The committee advised President Bancroft that they had established a permanent organization and a permanent headquarters at 827 Shawmut avenue, and had elected permanent officers as follows:

President, William W. Fagan, motor-man, Div. 9.

Secretary, James E. Porter, conductor, Div. 6.

Treasurer, Frederic N. Weeks, conductor, Div. 1.

Press agent, Joseph H. McCarty, station master, Div. 8.

Alternates, David S. Cahill, conductor, Div. 1, Andrew S. Thompson, motorman, El. Div.

—Mrs. Joseph W. Crowell and children of Oakwood road are visiting Mrs. Henry W. Crowell at her summer home at West Yarmouth.

—Mr. Fred Stowell who came over last week to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. L. A. Stowell, has returned to Minneapolis, Minn.

—Mr. and Mrs. George B. H. Macomber of Highland avenue are entertaining Mrs. O. J. Moyer and Mrs. Clarke of Hartford, Conn.

—Mr. Harold Dies Mitchell and Mr.
Laurence Gleason Odell graduated Tuesday from the Mass. Institute of Technology with the degree of B.S.

—Mr. George F. James, Grand Chief Ranger of the American Order of Foresters will deliver the memorial address in New Bedford Sunday evening before the Court of New Bedford.

NEWTONVILLE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Newton-ville Improvement Association was held in Grand Army Hall on Thursday, May 23, 1912.

The following officers were elected:
President, George W. Auryansen;
vice-presidents, Charles D. Cabot, Albert M. Lyon and William Price;
treasurer, Louis E. G. Green; secretary, Harry D. Cabot. These officers with the following, constitute the executive committee for the ensuing year: Horton S. Allen, William H.
Allen, Paul J. Burrage, Albert P. Carter, Arthur S. Conant, Calvert Cray, Austin H. Decatur, Dr. P. B. Howard,
John F. Lathrop, George B. H. Macomber, H. G. McKerron, William Nicholson, John R. Prescott, George R. Puleifer, Alfred M. Russell, and Samuel Thurber, Jr.

The first meeting of the executive committee elected at the annual meeting, was held June 4 at the residence of the secretary for organization and discussion of plans for the ensuing year.

It was voted that regular monthly meetings of the executive committee
be held on the first Thursday evening of each month, beginning Sept.
5, 1912.

In order that matters of interest to the whole community may be taken up by this association, the officers and members of the executive committee will be glad to receive suggestions from members, to be acted upon at these meetings.

Two bulletin boards for public notices were authorized to be placed in Newtonville square, said boards to be under the supervision of the executive committee of this association.

The sum of $25 was voted for the use of the Newton Playground Commission in Newtonville during the coming summer.

Mr. Russell gave some interesting information in regard to flies and mosquitoes, and stated that the Board of Health or Mr. Bucknam, City Forester, could be called upon at any time for advice or assistance in getting rid of these pests.

Garbage pails with special covers,
and fly traps for use near garbage
or breeding places, would aid in lessening this nuisance. These articles may be obtained at Orr's Hardware store.

It was suggested that children and adults as well, should be cautioned against crossing private property in order that our lawns may be kept in good condition. Parents and teachers can aid in this matter by example and precept.

At this time of year the spraying of trees, shrubs, vines, rose bushes, etc., is important. Arrangements can be made with the City Forester to do this work on private property, at slight expense, and we urge each real estate owner or tenant to make every effort to save the foliage of our Garden City.

Other matters of interest were discussed and special committees authorized.

ectric Table or Floor Lamp, as shown

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.
The second week of "The Climax"
begins at the Castle Square on Monday. This special production made by John Craig has achieved an immediate success. It is proving one of the most unusual of entertainments, and its combination of drama
and music brings to it no small measure of popularity. The leading role is played by Florence Webber, a soprano singer of marked ability. During the course of the play she sings
"The Song of the Soul," "Youth's Appeal to Old Age," and "Even Song," and as these are brought into the plot
they contribute not a little to the ornate effect of the play.

ALDERMANIC HEARINGS

Vigorous Objections Made to Sewers, Streets and Poles

Hearings on pole locations, sewer takings and laying out of streets lasted over an hour Monday evening at the regular meeting of the aldermen. President Gray was in the chair and Aldermen Barker, Bemis, Cox, Miller and Pratt were the absentees.

The first hearing of interest was on the petition of the Edison Co. for poles on Pelham street. At a similar hearing a few weeks ago, the only objection came from persons on one side of the street. The Company then changed its plan and more remonstrants appeared than at the first hearing. Those taking part in the discussion were Mr. Gould, the Company, and Messrs. Walter H. Thorpe, William B. Young, Albert H. Roffe and John J. Noble. The next matter of interest was on taking land for sewers in Plainfield street and Upland road. Here Mr. L. B. Folsom, Charles L. Hovey, N. W. T. Knott and Edwin P. Seaver spoke. None of them seemed to know what they were talking about, some objecting to the sewer assessment, others being puzzled about the matter of expropriation, and the fact that there were two hearings, one on each side, seemed to be the last straw. It was finally straightened out by the President assuring the speakers that their remarks would apply to both sewer propositions. Written protests were filed by W. H. Oakes and Bertha E. Hovey.

There were plenty of advocates for a sewer in Adams avenue, which needs a sewer as badly as any street in the city, and the remonstrants were also out in force. They couldn't see why it was necessary to run the sewer across private land in order to save entering the city of Newton. Those speaking on both sides were P. A. Foley, L. R. Armistead, C. S. Peck, F. H. Whippley, W. S. Burrows, E. W. Graves, Auguste Elmer, Carl Carruth and George Walters.

The laying out of Waban Hill road and Waban Hill terrace was also argued on both sides, those taking part being F. B. Kendall, L. L. Jones, Dana Estes, Jr., R. L. Williams, A. W. Robinson, G. C. Collett, Lewis Meynell, M. H. Gulesian, and Alfred Farwell.

No one appeared at the following hearings:—Telephone Co. for poles on Aberdeen street and for underground conduits on Park and Tremont streets, of the Edison Co. for conduits on Putnam street, on taking land for sewer in The Ledges road and Lewis street, and on keeping gasoline by C. H. Dwinell, Berkeley street, Henry C. Little, Webster street, Martha W. Sawyer, Maple terrace, Henry C. French, Forest avenue and Morris Gray, Kingsbury street, all but the first being subsequently granted.

The hearings over the board turned to the transaction of business. Alderman Cabot read the names of Henry E. Thompson, Parsons street, Lawrence Ball, Dickerman road, William Bresnahan, Watertown street, Patrick L. O'Neil, Cherry place and Herbert P. Hayward, Walnut street as jurors at Cambridge.

These petitions were granted:—

James Thompson, wagon license, James A. Early to move building thru Concord street, Henry W. Howard, billiard and pool table license, Anna E. Wallace for children's entertainment, Lincoln Hall, L. R. Goulding, Burnham road, H. F. McIntyre, street sprinkling Franklin street and Beecher street, W. G. Snow, street sprinkling Devon road and Devon terrace, Harry L. Burrage to make alterations in Players' Hall, and Rev. Fr. Robichaud to make alterations in Lafayette Hall.

Other petitions were received from Orin Bagley for license for one power boat, Daniel P. Lynch, for liquor transportation permit, Arthur H. Wiggin for concrete sidewalk Bourne street, Emma C. Stone for sewer in Bellevue street, Thomas Grasse for pool table, Martin E. Maher for minor license, Newton Centre Savings Bank for sewer in Commonwealth avenue, Ellen M. Nevins for sewer in Nevada street, Elizabeth G. Schollar and Helen Monks for damages to clothing, and the Edison Co. for poles on Fisher avenue.

Mayor Hatfield sent in a communication relative to acceptance of Chap. 447, acts of 1912 relative to retirement of veterans on half pay, when incapacitated from active duty.

The petition of J. W. French for alterations in building on Watertown street was recalled from committee and granted.

On recommendation of committees, sewers were ordered in Kenrick street, Beacon street, Lewis street and The Ledges road, the necessary land being taken therefor free in the last two streets, street sprinkling was ordered on Shaw street, Ridge avenue, Glenwood avenue and Winona street, $9,885.55 granted for city expenses, $300 voted for new edition of city ordinances, $300 added to office expenses, Building dept., $200 transferred for automobiles, Buildings dept., $7500 advanced from treasury for moth work, attachments granted the Edison Co. on Warren and Aberdeen street, and conduits in Putnam street, attachments were granted the Telephone Co. on Ellis street and Alameda street, and conduits in Park and Tremont street, leave to withdraw was given the Edison Co. on poles on Mt. Vernon street, a minor's license was granted Alfred Matz, hearings ordered on June 24 on concrete sidewalks on Cherry street and on Bourne street, and on the laying out of Wachusett road, permission given to discharge fireworks after 4 A. M. July 4, authorizing the proper observance of July 4, granting Frederick Plummer permit to alter block on Auburn street and authorizing Mayor to allow use of ward room at Nonantum.

$32,711.79 was appropriated for additional equipment at the Technical High School, $31,000 of which was to be raised by ten-year serial bonds. Orders for the Sept. 24 primaries, authorizing sale of land on Pine street and for sewers in Boylston, Clark and Stearns streets, were referred to committees.

The board adjourned at 9:45 o'clock.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.—A number of splendid comedy features, with just a dash of novelty to spice the whole, will be offered at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week, the three principal features being new to Boston audiences. Sam Mann, the German comedian, will make his first appearance here in an original farce entitled "The New Leader." Mr. Mann has the part of the new orchestra leader, who makes his entrance through the audience and mounting to the director's chair, proceeds to give the audience an exact reproduction of a regular vaudeville rehearsal on a Monday morning. The big novelty will be the first appearance of the Brothers Miranda, the world's greatest equilibrista. These two brawny Italians are unquestionably the most daring and sensational balancers the world has ever seen. Another newcomer will be Belle Storey, a clever singer and comedienne, who has scored a tremendous success in New York. Charles and Fanny Van Brunt bring their amusing comedy, "A Case of Emergency," and other big features will be Mile. Loretta and her wonderful posing dog, "Studies in Gold," Crouch and Welch, liveliest of dancers, and others yet to be announced.

LASELL SEMINARY

Many Interesting Events Mark End of Term

One of the most interesting of the closing events at Lasell Seminary was the household economics and sewing exhibitions Wednesday, June 5, in Carter Hall. The latter was under the direction of Miss Frances King Dolley, head of the sewing and dressmaking department, and her assistants, Miss Roxanna Tuttle and Miss Olive Bates. The exhibit comprised the different varieties of handwork, embroidery, shirtwaists, aprons, dresses, lingerie, and millinery, all the handwork of the students. The needlework was very fine, reflecting great credit on both teacher and students and called forth much admiration from the visitors. The young ladies are taught from the very beginning plain sewing machine practice, dress cutting and fitting, pattern cutting and millinery, and the excellence of the work in Wednesday's exhibit gave evidence of the degree of proficiency they attain in the courses. The young ladies who acted as ushers were very pretty, well-fitting gowns which they had designed and made themselves. A very clever system for selecting material, trimmings, laces, hampers, etc., was arranged in book form by the teacher, which is a great aid to the students in planning a garment. The millinery department, under the direction of Miss Mildred Arnold, head of the department, deserves special mention, some very handsome hats designed and trimmed by the students, being on exhibition. The committee on decoration comprised the following young ladies: The Misses Eunice Cox, Caridad Font, Rosita DeSilva, Elsa Haase, Marian Harris, Jean McKay, and Louise Katchen. The ushers were: The Misses Eunice Cox, Lillie Reincke, Irene Benzer, Olive Parker, Minnie Gildner, Ruth Ketchum, Ida Merrill, Avalon Wilson, Juliet Beach, Florence McKettrick, Vera Wallace, Helen Wise, Mildred Koch, Kate Hubbard, Myrtle Ellis, Nellie Fuller, Harjorie Read, Minnie Harmon, Angeline Emery, Margaret Livermore, Mildred Smith, Barbara Jones, Mildred Westervelt, Katherine Norris, and Susanne Kingsley.

The Household Economics Exhibit, Wednesday, June 5, at Lasell, was an interesting event of the week and the degree of perfection attained by the students in the culinary arts, gives evidence of the excellent training they are receiving, that fits them for practical life. The first year is devoted to plain cooking, bread making and the various methods of preparing meats. The students have at their disposal a large kitchen with every facility for cooking. The dishes on exhibition were all cooked by the students and looked very appetizing. In the dining room exhibit a luncheon of five courses was prepared, a most dainty and effective arrangement of each course on separate tables. The decorations were especially pretty, the mantle and fireplace being banked with ferns and lilies, and a vase of lilies was placed on each table. The class in house decoration superintended the decorations, and the house-keeping class planned the arrangement and serving of the courses. The following young ladies poured: The Misses Stokes, McMillan, Maurer, Beardsley and Dunlap.

The Art Exhibition held Wednesday, June 5, in the Studio at Lasell, was one of the attractions of Commencement Week, a large attendance of visitors being present and much interest and admiration was evinced in the clever productions by the artists. The exhibit comprised free-hand writing, crayon and charcoal sketches, water-colors, and oil paintings, still-life studies and landscapes from the neighborhood, modelling from life by the students, who pose for each other. There are some very talented artists among the students, who design the covers for the school paper, "Lasell

Leaves" and also furnish sketches for it; they also design their concert posters. A pair of lace curtains with a beautiful stencil design of purple grapes was greatly admired. Miss Mary Augusta Milliken is head of the art department and the exhibit included productions from the following members of her class: The Misses Irene Strop, Helen Ehrman, Lucille Guertin, Axel Van Deusen, Bobette Straus, Grace Dick, Elsa Haase, Ivy Cox, Marion Newland, Frances Allen, Beatrice Klein, and Ruth Trowbridge.

The river presented a gay and festive appearance Monday morning, June 3, on the occasion of the annual river day sports of the Lasell crew, arrayed in the crew colors, red and white and purple and yellow. Two races were held, the seniors being defeated by the juniors by a quarter of a length, and the mixed crew defeated the junior second by a length. The course was more than a mile in length and was patrolled by officers in launches from the Metropolitan Park police. It was a very exciting race between the seniors and juniors, for one whole length the crews alternated in the lead and it was not until the last 50 yards that the juniors gained. The seniors were: Mildred Hall, captain; Miss Alexander, Ruth Batechelder, Maude Dunlap, Miriam Flynn, Annie Merrill, Clara Parker, Clara Trowbridge and Winnifred Whiteley. Juniors: Edna Mathias, captain; Gertrude Farnum, Bertine Libby, Elizabeth Linn, Florence Myers, Olive Parker, Ada Swanger, Ruth Trowbridge and Bernice Wood. Junior seconds: Mildred Westervelt, captain; Helen Ehrman, Mary Penno, Lucille Guertin, Carolyn Lawton, Margaret Livermore, Elsie Mayer and Sybil Morgan. Mixed: Elizabeth Farnum, captain; Genevieve Belcher, Minnie Harmon, Helen Marshall, Adele Macdonald, John McKay, Ida Merrill, Dorothy Prentice, and Avalon Wilson.

Girls Drill

Lasell Seminary's girl soldiers, a whole battalion of them in natty uniforms and with campaign hats tilted at smart angles, above coiled blonde and brunette tresses, held their annual exhibition drill on the campus in Auburndale before a large and demonstrative gallery of spectators, Saturday afternoon, June 1st.

They handled their rifles in the manual of arms with deftness. Alignment and cadence in their evolutions were commendable.

C Company captured first prize—the coveted flag upon which will be inscribed the names of the proud captain, Miss Annie F. Merrill of Enosburg, Vt., and those of the other officers, who shared in developing the perfection that won against the clever A and B Companies.

Miss Eunice G. Fox of Port Arthur, Jamaica, won the first individual junior prize drill from a field of eighty aspirants and Miss Charlotte Charles of Amsterdam, N. Y., got second honors.

First Lieutenant Marion S. McArthur of Albany, N. Y., won the first individual senior prize, from a score or more of rivals. The admiring mothers, fathers, brothers, sister, and sweethearts came from all points of the compass.

It was a scene martial and picturesque. The weather was perfect and the sward like velvet. There was plenty of rivalry and exuberance—likewise a brass band and flags.

Each company had its contingent of colors. Cadet-Major Miriam A. Flynn of Mills was in command. The judges were First Lieutenant Daniel C. Smith and Lieutenant Julian I. Chamberlain of the Eighth Infantry, M. V. M. The exhibition was a tribute to the work of military instruction, Captain Charles A. Ranlett, eighth infantry, M. V. M.

NOTED ILLUSTRATOR

Mr. Harry G. Burgess Dead at Waban

Harry George Burgess, the illustrator, died Tuesday at his home in Waban, after an illness of several months. Mr. Burgess was born in Manchester, England, July 1, 1867, and his education began in the public schools of his native city and continued in Holland and Russia. While yet a young boy he returned with his parents to England and there remained until he was sixteen, when he came to this country.

Mr. Burgess laid the foundation of his artistic training at the Academy of Design in New York, where he studied for three years, and during that time won several medals. At the completion of his course there he came to Boston and entered the employ of the Forbes Lithograph Company. His salary in the beginning was small, but his skill and the excellence of his training rapidly advanced him until he was in receipt of an income that would have led most illustrators to regard themselves as having reached a very high position.

Mr. Burgess, however, was ambitious for artistic freedom, and in 1892 left the employ of the Forbes Company and with Mr. Schroff took a studio in Hamilton place. The same year he married Miss Annie Kent, who, like himself, was of English parentage.

After a year or two of independent work as an illustrator, during which time he retained his membership in the old Zephro Club, where so many Boston artists of prominence have either sketched or taught, Mr. Burgess went abroad, and studied in Paris at the Julien School, under Constant and J. P. Laurens. On his return he at once associated himself with the art department of the Youth's Companion, where he remained until his death.

For many years he had been a member of the Boston Art Club. Mr. Burgess was a most persistent worker, and in addition to his drawings for the Youth's Companion was a frequent contributor of illustrations to the Illustrated London News and to the Cassell and Harper periodicals. He was also the inventor and patentee of a compact and ingenious communication sketch box, pencil and seal.

He was married in 1892 to Miss Annie Kemp. She survives him.

Funeral services were held at his late residence this afternoon, conducted by Rev. James C. Sharp. Burial was at Newton Cemetery.

COMMISSION DINED

The members of the commission on Revision of the Building Ordinances, who have recently completed a most arduous duty, were given a complimentary banquet last week Thursday evening at the Exchange Club, Boston, by Mayor Hatfield and the board of aldermen. Mayor Hatfield presided and the guests included the members of the commission, Mr. C. M. Goddard, chairman; Mr. James D. Colt, Mr. Lewis H. Bacon, Mr. William J. Gannon, and Alderman William S. Higgins, City Engineer Rogers, Building Commissioner Forbush and Clerk of Committees Brimblecom. President Gray and Alderman Blake, more, Calkins, Murphy, Hatch, Cabot, Williamson, Cox, Early, Moore, Gordon, Heard and Barker were also present. Brief remarks were made by Mayor Hatfield, President Gray and the members of the commission and Alderman Calkins. Each member of the commission was presented with an illuminated parchment in a leather case conveying the thanks of the mayor and aldermen for their service to the public.

"So, there's another rupture of Mount Vesuvius," said Mrs. Partington, as she put on her specs. "The paper tells us about the burning father running down the mountain, but it don't tell how it got afire."—Tit-Bits.

The Aerobics of the Moose. A great ape which makes its home in Borneo is the gibbon, which is a small animal compared with the orang, weighing only about forty or fifty pounds. It is very frail in its bodily makeup. The head is set squarely on the shoulders, and it looks upward. When walking on the ground it balances itself along like a walker on a tight rope. Its remarkable power of grasp and dexterity in using its hands are equally with the shape of its cranium indexes of its superior intelligence, perhaps because it is able to take hold of a greater number of things and examine them. The gibbons go in droves, whereas orangs live by families, and one of the most interesting spectacles imaginable is to see a troop of them crossing a great gap in the forest by throwing themselves in succession through the air, each one taking a swing or two to gather momentum before launching himself. So great is their agility that in executing feats of this sort they seem like birds.

Voltaire's Retort.

That famous politician, orator and man of fashion the fourth Earl of Chesterfield was on one occasion at a grand assembly in France, where Voltaire was one of the guests. Suddenly the French writer accosted his lordship with the words:

"My lord, I know you are a judge. Which are the more beautiful, the English or the French ladies?"

"Upon my word," replied Chesterfield, with his usual presence of mind. "I am no judge of paintings."

Some time afterward, says a biographer, Voltaire, being in London, happened to be at a nobleman's party with Chesterfield. A lady in the company prodigiously roused directed her whole discourse to Voltaire and engrossed his conversation. Chesterfield came up, tapped him on the arm and said:

"Sir, take care that you are not captivated."

"My lord," promptly replied the French wit, "I scorn to be taken by an English craft upon French colors."

A Costly Bed.

At Knole park, Sevenoaks, England, in the king's bedroom is one of the most extravagant bedsteads ever made. It was prepared by Richard, third Earl of Dorset, for the reception of James I. It is twelve feet high by seven feet six inches long. The curtains, valances, tester and lower valances are composed of cloth of gold and, together with the ceiling, are lined with brilliant coral taffetas, now much faded, all closely embroidered in a floral design in gold, silver and colored silks. The pillows and quilt are of the same embroidered coral silk and trimmed with many rows of most elaborate fringe made of gold, silver, coral silk and black tassels. A London Times writer says that the cost of this astounding extravagance amounted to £8,000, which represents at least £40,000 of present currency.

The Snow Leopard of India.

India has produced some of the finest big game hunters in the world. First they kill deer, then tigers, and after that they climb into the hills after the mountain sheep, which are the most difficult of all their kind to follow and kill. But there is one ambition beyond the mountain sheep. That is the snow leopard. This beautiful creature, white as the snows it lives among, is rarely found below a height of 11,000 feet and is even there extremely rare. It is both wild and savage, and the natives have a superstitious fear of its white coat and deep green eyes. The man who succeeds in killing a snow leopard steps into the very first rank of big game hunters.

A Lover of the Wind.

Tennyson had an extraordinary sympathy with the sound of the breeze. As a child of four years old he was blown along the garden path at Somersby shouting to his brothers his first line of Tennysonian blank verse—

I hear a voice that's calling in the wind.
So, writes Arthur Waugh, the mother in "Lilith" hears Willy's voice in the wind, and so, again and again, in his poetry does he endow the storm with the invisible voice of nature. And it is so that he is best remembered in Freshwater, battling the wind upon the wintry ridge with his poet's cloak fluttering about him.

Turkish Medicine.

Old fashioned Turkish physicians have plenty of remedies for cholera. An agate in the pocket and a hyacinth on the neck are much esteemed, but the bone of a dead child carried in the pocket is nearly as efficacious. Cholera, we learn, is caused by the moon. Therefore a sufferer should drink decoctions of laurel while Mars or Mercury is in the ascendant, since these planets are unfriendly to the moon.

Do You Know What a Pomander Is?
What is a pomander? Originally it was a mixture of aromatic substances,
carried about to counteract bad smells,
but by the early part of the sixteenth century it had come to mean the case
in which such perfumes or deodorizers were carried, these cases being usually shaped like oranges or apples and having four, five or six divisions opening out on hinges from the center.

The word is derived from the old French pome-amber, signifying amber apple, amber here being used in the sense of ambergris and not the amber
of which beads and the mouthpieces
of pipes are made. The pomanders of the days of Henry VIII. and Elizabeth
of England were made of gold, ivory,
glass, silver or enamel and were generally hung from short chains. Their contents varied widely, but musk, lavender, roses, ambergris, nutmegs, cloves, mace and storax were among the most usual ingredients.—New York World.

A Royal Rebuke.
No one would be likely to call King George V. a dolt or a monarch, but if one story of him is to be believed he possesses a considerably greater degree of spirit than is usually credited to him. It appears that on one occasion he was discussing affairs of state with Winston Churchill, who, in the course of the conversation, expressed one of his more radical opinions—just which it is perhaps wiser not to say.
The king objected, saying that such a sentiment was at variance with his idea of the British constitution.

"Oh," said the first lord of the admiralty placidly, "and what is your idea of the constitution, may I ask, sir?"

"This," said the king quietly, extending his hand toward the first lord, palm downward. There was nothing left for Churchill to do but kiss the proffered hand and retire from the room, which he did.—New York Post.

Frogs and Mud Forts.
There is a frog indigenous to Brazil
which builds a regular mud fort during the breeding season in order to protect her eggs and tadpoles. The female frog dives to the bottom of the water, scoops up two handfuls of mud and repeats the process until she has erected a circular wall about one foot in diameter. She keeps on till the wall stands at least five inches above
the surface of the water, and the whole is most carefully smoothed down with her broad, webbed hands. The work is performed only at night, and when it is completed the eggs are deposited.

Shocked Him Anyhow.
"What's old Titewad looking so grouchy about?"

"Got short changed out of $15 last night, and he's sore."

"Titewad short changed out of $15
—hurrah! It doesn't seem possible
where'd it happen?"

"The only place it could happen—in a dream"—Houston Post.

Then He Got Mad.
Husband (Impatiently)—If the fool killer would strike this town he would find plenty of work to do. Wife—Is there such a person, dear? Husband—
Of course there is. Wife (with anxiety).
—Well, I do hope, John, that you will be very careful.

Good Investment.
"I am going to marry a shoemaker."

"Why a shoemaker?"

"Because he is the sort of man who is generally whole soled and well heeled."—Baltimore American.

History of Odd Fellowship

The first recorded lodge of Odd Fellows was Loyal Aristarcus, No. 9, at the Oakley Arms, England. In its earlier days, the society was formed for convivial purposes, but in some lodges contributions were made to a fund from which relief was afforded needy and unfortunate brethren. Sometimes a whole lodge would visit another lodge, each member making a contribution, and if needed, would continue to visit week after week, until the needs of that particular lodge were met. This was undoubtedly the beginning of the existing system of weekly benefits and meetings.

Before the end of the 18th century, the ceremonial was revised and mutual charity and relief became the practical objects. By this time the society had spread to most of the larger cities of England and its sphere of influence extended and its character improved. It is recorded that each member paid one penny a week for the poor and burial fund, undoubtedly the beginning of the present system of regular contributions for the relief of the poor and distressed, their widows and orphans.

In the latter part of the 18th century the scattered lodges united under a general system, first under the name of the Patriotic Order and later the Union, or United Order of Odd Fellows. In 1813 there was a large secession from the United Order, due to the conflict between conviviality and charity, and the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Manchester Unity, was formed and has prospered greatly during the past century, and today includes, by far, the largest proportion of English Odd Fellows. Various other secessions have taken place in England, so that there are nearly 25 divisions of the order. In the United States there are four divisions, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the female auxiliary, the Daughters of Rebekah and the Grand United Odd Fellows in America, the two latter being negro organizations. The total membership in the English and American organizations in 1907 was estimated at over three millions.

The American societies were established in 1819 at Baltimore by five Englishmen, of which Thomas Wilkey is perhaps the best known. There are more than 11,000 lodges, with a membership of over a million. It aims to inculcate truth, visits the

with the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man.

Five degrees were conferred by American lodges from 1820 until 1880, when the Sovereign American Grand Lodge reduced them into the Initiatory and the pink, blue and scarlet degrees. The presiding officer of the lodge is called the Noble Grand, and former presiding officers are Past Grands. Past Grands and Noble Grands represent the lodges in the Grand or state lodges and the Grand Lodges in turn send presiding and Past Grand Masters, who receive the purple degree to the Sovereign Grand Lodge, the presiding officer of which is called the Grand Sire. The Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows exercises jurisdiction over the largest beneficiary secret society of the world.

The so-called superior degrees of Odd Fellowship are conferred in encampments. They are presided over by Worthy Patriarchs and are under the immediate jurisdiction of Grand or state Encampments, which in turn are subordinate to the Sovereign Grand Lodge. The Encampments have an enrolled membership of one-sixth of the order. The encampment degrees are the Patriarchal, Golden Rule and Royal Purple. The order became uniformed in 1882, and is the military branch of the order.

Cantons, as the separate bodies of Patriarchs Militant are described, are organized into regiments, brigades and divisions. The uniform, drill and tactics are modeled somewhat as are those of the Masonic Knights Templars.

The Daughters of Rebekah were first formed in 1851 and was so named because the practical working of the order suggests so forcibly the tender and considerate action of the Biblical character when she first looked on Eleazer at the well of Shabor. The degree was first restricted to wives and daughters of Odd Fellows who had received the Scarlet degree, but in 1894 all single white women of good moral character, over 18 years of age, were also included in the eligible list.

The list of distinguished citizens who are or who have been members of the order is very long and includes the names of Ex-Presidents Grant, Hayes, Garfield and Harrison, former Vice-President Schuyler Colfax, Senator John Sherman, and Senator Oliver P. Morton. The work of the order is carried on in 14 countries, in eight of the leading languages of the world as far east as Germany and west to Japan and Australia.

For anniversary and wedding gifts, a pair of Androns, Fire Set and Spark Guards, as shown by McKenney & Waterbury Co., No. 181 Franklin St., corner Congress, make a lasting remembrance. The largest line of these goods to be found in the country in their show rooms.

The 58th annual commencement exercises were held Tuesday morning in the Congregational Church, in the presence of a large gathering of alumnae, students and relatives of the seniors. The interior of the church was decorated with the class colors of green and gold and the class flower, the yellow marguerite. The student body, headed by the seniors, marched from the seminary to the church. Music formed an important feature of the program. Thirty-three seniors received diplomas.

Dr. Guy M. Winslow, the principal, awarded certificates of excellence in household economics as follows: Dorothea C. Africa, Grace M. Alexander, Ruth Batchelder, Emily Butterworth, Ruth Coulter, Mildred J. Hall, Charlotte B. Lesh, Marion S. McArthur, Annie F. Merrill, Ethel L. Moore, Esther D. Morey, Ruth M. Isser, Amalia H. Rosenbaum, Elinor C. Ryan, Mary S. Utter, Winifred H. Whittlesey, Juliette Beach, Helen Bordsley, Joanne Dennett, Elizabeth Farnham, Adele McDonald, Mildred Otto, Ruth Stokes, Clara Townsend, Florence Wallace and Laura Wilson. Certificates for piano playing were awarded Mary Goodwillie, Mildred Hall, Florence Jones, Ruth Kisser, Pamela Spargo, Ruth Vollrath and Rosalie Williams. In bookkeeping and stenography a certificate was given Mary Ryder.

One of the most important events of the Lasell commencement is the announcement of the prize winners or the best bread making. The gold medal was given Mildred Otto. Laura Williams was awarded second prize, and honorable mention went to Alma Bunch.

The address to the graduating class was made by Rev. Alexander H. Tuttle, D.D., of Summit, N. J.

Monday evening the annual class night exercises were held in the gymnasium, including the reading of the class will and other humorous documents. The seniors then marched over the campus, bidding good-bye to their senior houses and other places endeared to them during their seminary course and then a bonfire was lighted, round which the girls danced as they cast into the flames some cherished or despised object.

Alumnae Meet

Mrs. Ethel Stafford Vaughan was elected president of the Lasell Seminary Alumnae Association at the annual meeting of the association at Auburndale. Other officers elected were Lucy E. Curtis and Ella R. Cushing, vice presidents; Maude Sines Harding, secretary, and Mabel H. Whitney, treasurer. Addresses were made by Dr. C. C. Bragdon, former principal of the school, and by Dr. Guy M. Winslow, the present head. Exercises were held on the lawn to change the name of the senior hall, the new name being Caroline Carpenter Hall. The exercises consisted of short addresses while the letters were being put in place over the entrance.

End With Big Bonfire

The annual class day exercises were observed at Lasell Seminary, Auburndale, Monday evening in the gymnasium.

Miss Mary C. Goodwillie, president of the senior class, delivered the address of welcome, followed by the roll call by Miss Clara L. Parker. The class history was read by Miss Miriam K. Flynn, the class prophecy by Miss Eleanor C. Ryan, the class poem by Miss Agnes P. Adelsdorf, the class will by Miss Elizabeth Edson. A new desk and chair for the chapel were presented to the school by Miss Emily Butterworth.

Following the exercises in the gymnasium the crowd assembled on the campus, where each senior escorted by a junior carrying a torch, paid a final tribute to the various dormitories. A torch was carried by Miss Marian C. Joslin. A faraway to the Crow's Nest was given by Miss Ruth Bollrath. The exercises came to a close with the seniors parading around the bonfire when each one cast into the flames books used during the school term.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

With Wish Wynne, the famous English comedienne, and five other big novelties new to Boston audiences, included on the list, next week's bill at B. F. Keith's Theatre will be one of the best programs offered at that popular playhouse this summer. Miss Wynne does not sing her songs. She talks them, but so potent is the charm of her personality, and the carrying power of her wonderfully expressive voice, that she wins the good graces of her audiences before she has been on the stage five minutes. Aside from Miss Wynne, the bill will be notable for the number of novelties it contains. La Daodima, the Parisian art model, will introduce her beautiful "Violations d'Art," a most exquisite series of reproductions of the world's great masterpieces in sculpture and painting. La Daodima has created a genuine furore in every city where she has appeared, and no doubt Boston will in turn fall captive to her charms. Cook and Lorenz, the merry musical tramps, and the cleverest pair of eccentric dancers on the boards today, will be on hand with their unique stunts; and other big features are the Six Brown Brothers, musical comedians; Rawson and Claire, just a couple of kids; Chapman and Berube, two wonderful equilibrists; The Zerkaldas, head balancers, and others.

OUTING FOR POOR BOYS OF BOSTON IN NEWTON

Sixty more friends of poor boys are needed to give needy boys from Boston a good* outing. Arrangements have been made at the Newton Y. M. C. A. whereby 40 boys each week during July and August will have a holiday. Baseball and other games will be played by the boys on the green athletic field. A good show, bath and a long swim in the pool will close the morning. Lunch will be served at noon and the boys will be given the entire use of the Y. M. C. A. building.

One dollar will more than pay for two carfares from Boston, give two lunches and two good times for two boys who really need it. Will you help? Send one dollar to J. W. Blaisdell, treasurer, Y. M. C. A., Newton, Mass., NOW.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

Mr. James C. Brame, who died Sunday, after a brief illness, at his residence at Bangor, Maine, was well known to many of the older generation in this city. He was the son of the late Rev. Milton P. Brame and Mary Parker Brame, of Danvers, Mass. His devotion to his parents led him to forego the advantages of a university education, but he was a man of vast reading and scholarly attainments. His fund of recollection and anecdote was marvellous, and his intimate friends will long remember his budget of reminiscences. He was a resident of Auburndale for about 40 years and in business life was secretary of the Massachusetts Hospital Life Insurance Company from 1874 to 1910. Mr. Brame married Miss Caroline Pearl of Bangor, who died in 1908. He leaves no immediate family.

NORUMBEGA PARK

Florally, Norumbega Park was never prettier than it is now, with its varied plots of beautiful geraniums, pansies, rhododendrons and various other flowers of the present season, which greet the eye on entering the confines of this picturesque spot. The canoeing season is at its height and patrons of the park, strolling along the riverside path, may feast their eyes upon the ceaseless panorama of festive canoeing parties paddling up and down the river. Those who do not dare to venture out in the little canoe may indulge in the delight of electric launch trips down the river.

A TRUE CHARITY

Last Tuesday nearly 3,000 crippled, blind and orphaned children were guests of philanthropic Bostonians on an outing to Massapoag Park at Sharon.

The cars were donated by automobile dealers and private owners. Newton was well represented among the donors of private cars, especially noticed were the Austin car belonging to Mr. Charles Whittemore and the Pierce Arrow car belonging to Mrs. Emma L. Waitt.

Mr. A. H. Waitt with his Bergdoll car was marshal in charge of division 11, which took care of the children from the South End Day Nursery at Dover street.

A larger number of Newton cars ought to be in this most worthy work next year.

BAKERIES INSPECTED

The bakeries of the Newtons were visited recently by the secretaries of the Consumers League and the chairman of their Food Committee, under the escort of Mr. Russell, agent of the Health Department. The visit was made at the invitation of the Newton Social Science Club, with the hope that some bakeries might be found suitable for the approved list of bakeries which the league publishes every fall. Two or three were found eligible for their waiting list.

Crawford Ranges

One very remarkable fact in connection with Crawford Ranges is that nobody ever willingly changes from a Crawford to a range of any other make.

There must be a reason—we believe there are several. The Single Damper (patented,) the scientific Cup-Joint Oven Flues that heat the oven in every part alike; the Ash Hod (patented,) instead of the clumsy ash pan; these are some of the Crawford time and trouble savers.

If you will carefully examine and compare the Crawford with any or all other cooking ranges you will see why Crawfords do better work, with more comfort for the cook and less waste of time and money. Send for the illustrated pamphlet.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The Great and General Court for the year 1912 was prorogued last evening, without enacting the railroad legislation, which the governor declared must be passed before he would consent to adjournment. The session, which has been much more satisfactory than that of 1911 was marred at its close by the unprecedented action of the governor in threatening to veto certain measures unless the Legislature passed certain other measures which he desired. Speaker Cushing, last night, issued a dignified statement on the matter, showing clearly that the veto power was given the executive to prevent bad legislation and not as a club to compel the enactment of other legislation. There were even threats of impeachment by some of the more hot-headed members of the Legislature, but wiser counsels prevailed.

The last days of the session have been marked with many disagreements between the legislature and the governor and also between the Senate and House. The conference committees have tackled the bill to allow a senatorial preference vote to be taken next fall, and all have agreed to continue the disagreement. There has also been a conference committee on the railroad situation, on which Representatives Bothfield and Ellis were two of the members from the House, but this committee also reported a disagreement. The three matters at issue, the electrification of the metropolitan district, the building of a tunnel between the North and South stations and increasing the powers of the railroad commission, are apparently questions on which there should be only a difference of minor details, but the whole situation has become so involved, the governor has been so arbitrary in his demands for this as well as other railroad legislation, that the members of both branches take the position that the whole matter should go over until another year.

Last week, Mr. Bothfield and Mr. Ellis voted to sustain the governor's veto of the Fall River bridge bill, and Mr. White voted with the majority in passing the bill over his veto. On Tuesday, all three of our representatives voted with the majority in passing the so-called trolley merger bill over the veto, but the Senate, by a close vote sustained the veto on Wednesday, so that the governor wins on that issue.

The state tax has also been an issue between the two branches, the House refusing to sustain its own Ways and Means committee, which favored $6,500,000, and substituting the sum of $6,000,000, although warned by the state auditor that the revenues of the state would not permit the smaller amount. The Senate stuck to the larger sum and the matter was finally compromised by making the tax $6,250,000, of which Newton will pay $121,375.

Governor Foss has signed the so-called Grand Trunk bill, which authorizes the construction of a railroad across the city of Newton over the Watertown and Needham, and which I discussed last week. Our representatives still claim that this road will never be constructed, but in these days of railroad wars, I believe it is most unwise to give such an opening to any corporation. For the next three years, and possibly longer, the danger of such construction will be ever present, and a constant menace to the beauty and utility of our most important thoroughfares.

Three recess committees were appointed, Senator Mulligan and Representative White being on that to report on voluntary associations.

An interesting feature of the week was the legislative outing of the House of Representatives at Wauwasset Farm, West Newton, where 250 members and officers of the House were guests of Representative George H. Ellis of this city. Four special cars were filled at Park street, after the morning session on Wednesday, and the party reached the farm about 1.30.

Tables were found laid out in a grove on the place and the Ellis milk bill found favor alike with Republicans and Democrats. A favorable report was also noted on all the other good things on the table. Brief remarks were made by Mr. Ellis, Mayor Hatfield, Lieutenant Governor Luce, Speaker Cushing and Representative Channing Cox.

The party then inspected the cow barns, asked the usual fool questions regarding the farm and returned to the State House for the afternoon in a most contented frame of mind.

of the race, can devote themselves to no nobler cause than hastening the day when all the nations of the world shall dwell in peace. Let every woman talk up the subject and let every club devote some time each year to educating themselves and the public in the doctrine of universal peace.

"The education problem is always with us. It requires much wisdom and judgment to strike the proper balance in the many different kinds of education demanding our approval and support." Jane Addams said once that the schools would be captured by professions, then by the business men, and that the danger today is that the schools would be captured by the manufacturers. One thing it will always be safe for the clubs to do and that is, engage in systematic volunteer visiting of the schools.

"It would increase the effectiveness of the work of the individual clubs if each president would at the beginning of the year call together the chairmen of her committees and consider the needs of the club and community and, having decided upon some definite plan, work consistently and uninterruptedly until it is attained.

"The Federation should encourage the American ideal of living, involving as it does the immigration question, the housing problem, the question of a living wage. The women's clubs can stand persistently for the moral ideas involved in these questions and can be a mighty force in educating public opinion along these lines even if they do not presume to urge certain methods or to pass upon questions of practical expediency. They may not have the time or money to put into execution many of their ideas, but it is always in their power to exert influence, and many of the reforms of the day have been due to the preparation of the ground and the sowing of the seed of the women's clubs." She then declared the convention adjourned.

A large part of the delegates returned home by the evening trains, while those coming by automobile lingered or moved on, allured by the lovely country and fine weather.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Civil Service Reform

The work of the Civil Service Reform Department the past year has been the development of the policy adopted last year: co-ordination and co-operation between clubs and the committee, endeavoring to plant seed, hoping the harvest may be gathered by some future generations, if not by ours.

With the growing desire on the part of club women to work for the public welfare, and the earnest desire for knowledge how to make this work tell, they realize their responsibility to a public opinion which will demand a public service chosen for fitness only, also the power of organized womanhood in influencing the Commonwealth. Yet were you to ask many of these women to work for Civil Service Reform, some would shrink back and say, "I can't, for it is politics."

Civil Service Reform literally means that of placing and keeping in his position the man best fitted for that place, regardless of his political belief or influence. "The safety of the country depends upon having good people in public affairs." What can be grander than this work for pure politics, for overcoming the greed of the Spoils System by the Merit System, in which the man and his work are a complement to each other. This is true patriotism and a sacred duty.

In order that the club women might have a more intelligent understanding of the present conditions, and also help to further good citizenship and good government, the study class instituted last season has been continued. Through the courtesy of the librarian, class meetings have been held at the Boston Public Library on the first Saturday of each month. The average attendance has been 25.

The class has followed the "Outline for the Study of Municipal Government and Its Relation to Civil Service Reform," prepared and donated by the Worcester Branch of the Massachusetts Auxiliary. Mr. Edwin A. Shaw, principal of the Natick High School, has led all of the meetings and contributed greatly to the success of the class. The committee is especially indebted to Mr. Shaw and the various public officials who have generously given information along their lines and in their departments of work.

By invitation of the Middlesex Woman's Club, of Lowell, a successful conference was held in Lowell on November 22. Considering the distance from Boston, the attendance was good. Twenty-five clubs were represented.

In order to ascertain what the clubs had done during the year in the interest of Civil Service Reform, the following questions were sent them:

1. What has been done by your club the past year in the interest of Civil Service Reform?
2. The State Committee wishes to especially emphasize:
 - a. Work done in the schools.
 - b. Work for better legislation on this subject.

Answers to the questions sent out have been received from only 85 clubs. Forty-five clubs have Civil Service Reform Committees, while several have made the work a part of the Civics or Social Service Committee. Thirty clubs report having devoted an entire or a part of a meeting to the consideration of the subject of Civil Service.

Thirty-seven clubs have reported work for legislation affecting the Civil Service. Eleven clubs have offered a prize, or the medal of the Women's Auxiliary, for the best essay on Civil Service, to a pupil of the high school. The Framingham Club deserves special mention.

An suggestion for the future that will aid in making the work more effective the committee submits the following recommendations:

1. That each club president make an effort to interest the chairman of her Civil Service Reform Committee in the work, and, if in the vicinity of Boston, urge her to attend the study class.
2. That notices of Civil Service examinations be obtained from the Secretary of the Massachusetts Civil Service Commission, and that said notices be posted in the Public Library.
3. Work with the Normal School teachers, superintendents and principals of schools.
4. That a prize or medal be offered to the pupils of the evening schools for the best essay on Civil Service Reform.
5. That clubs take up the study of the history of Civil Service Reform in different countries.

MABEL ROGERS TABOR, Chairman.

Public Health Department

The record of the past year's work shows a continued interest in community health and a close co-operation existing between the clubs and health organizations. The work of establishing a visiting nurse is still a popular one with the clubs. Five maintain a nurse, 13 report aid toward the support of one, four are considering this branch of work and three have established one the past year.

One hundred and six clubs have replied to the list of questions sent out, an increase of eight over last year, and all show a greater and growing interest in all lines of health work, many new ones appearing. The names of 38 health chairmen were sent this year, while only four were given last year. This is most encouraging, and it was very interesting to note that four of these are men, two doctors, one a chairman of selectmen, and one club gave the name of a man, who with the district nurse, act as its health advisers.

Two clubs report furnishing wards in hospitals and two others using their influence to establish local tuberculosis hospitals. Other clubs report investigating and aiding poor families, the support of tuberculosis associations, lectures on tuberculosis and general health, contributors to anti-tuberculosis societies and hospitals; for dental care, for vacations, for poor mothers, eye treatment and glasses for poor children. Thirteen have sold Red Cross seals, one has had a children's exhibit, several have distributed literature, and one has placed leaflets on the reading tables of the Public Library. All this work, with the observance of Tuberculosis Sunday, a health day and work for individual cases, shows a varied and energetic amount of work, which the clubs may well feel proud of.

A great deal has been done for the promotion of health in schools. Five have women physicians for the examination of girls, 12 report the establishing of school nurses by the school committees or the Boards of Health, and one club is endeavoring to have a nurse appointed.

Eight report dental clinics and three legislation toward obtaining them. Four have fresh air rooms, two have open air schools, and one club is actively interested in trying to reopen one. One club has placed ventilation boards in the school windows and another reports that "with the co-operation of the mayor and school committee they opened a school roof for sleeping purposes during the extreme heat of last summer. The work in the future has been transferred to a settlement."

One club has endeavored to have liquid soap and paper towels placed in the schools, but so far without success.

Dr. Evangeline W. Young of the department reports that the interest of sex hygiene and demand for the work is increasing among all thoughtful and progressive organizations, especially women's clubs. Twenty-three clubs report lectures on sex subjects, two on insanity, two on blindness and two are actively engaged in aiding and segregating the feeble minded.

Miss Helen M. Lambert of Lowell, who has had charge of the Traveling Health Library this year, reports that after much correspondence the library was finally started on its rounds February 14. "Although the ordinary stay of the library in a town is three weeks, several requests have come for an extension of the time. Six Women's Clubs and one Public Library have placed the Federation Library in their towns, the engagements extending through August.

The department has sent the General Federation circulars on community health and monthly programs to all the clubs in the state. The department has held three conferences, one at Woburn, one at Brockton and one at Ayer. The programs at Brockton and Woburn dealt with sex hygiene and local tuberculosis hospitals and health inspection in factories.

This report shows in its great variety of work the adaptability of the club woman to choose the immediate work which presents itself and that which will benefit the individual community. This originality and apparently constant vigilance cannot but bring about a greater degree of health to the citizens of all our cities and towns.

LILLIAS FOLGER, Chairman.

Civics Department

The Civics Department has held monthly meetings which have been well attended and very helpful. We have discussed our work and the letters we have received during the preceding month, getting in closer touch with each other's work and the work of many clubs. We have recommended and furnished speakers whenever requested to do so.

After a great deal of investigating and study a pledge and constitution and by-laws for Junior Civics Leagues were submitted by our committee, which was approved and adopted by the officers of the Federation. We have had them printed and they have been given to all persons requesting them. A copy was sent to the General Federation's chairman. A great deal of time and thought has been put into this line, but the clubs do not show very great interest in it. The chairman of that committee says, "Definite steps have been taken in a few instances toward establishing leagues and there seems to be little promise of greater activity." Inquiries have come to us from five other states and we have sent them copies of the pledge and constitution. We believe this work is of great importance, and could be made of great help in teaching boys and girls their civic responsibilities.

We have received replies to our questions from 120 clubs—nine clubs report no activity and two clubs report no necessity for any civics work in their town; 33 clubs report lectures on some department of civics but no special work done; 68 clubs report Civics Committees or a chairman to whom communications can be sent, and six clubs report civics work being done by other committees such as Education, Social Service, Sociology, etc.

Forty-four clubs have been actively engaged in some form of town improvement work. Fourteen clubs have assisted local Improvement Societies or some person or other organization doing the work. Perhaps more clubs have helped in starting "Clean-up Days" than in any other form of work.

We have tried to arouse some enthusiasm toward abolishing billboards, but as long as a revenue can be derived from them it is difficult to get the men to assist us.

More clubs are interested in the playgrounds than ever before and we again urge you to work for trained directors. The playgrounds can never accomplish the good expected of them unless there is some one to lead and restrain, for whom the children have love and respect.

Thirty-six clubs are actively interested in playground work and 17 others report assisting in establishing playgrounds either by paying for directors or equipment. In Winchester the Women's Club established, equipped and directed two playgrounds for one year. The town was so convinced of the feasibility of keeping these playgrounds that they assumed the expense and placed them under the charge of the local Park Board.

The idea of a safer and saner Fourth has taken such a strong hold on the public that it seems as if we

More clubs have showed an interest in international peace than ever before. Thirty-four clubs have listened to lectures or held informal discussions and a few clubs have held study classes that the members might become better informed on this important subject.

A few clubs report they have investigated the conditions in their local Juvenile Courts and have found judges and probation officers carrying out the law satisfactorily. However, only 22 clubs report any interest and many of these have simply listened to a lecture on the subject.

In the Department of Stamp and Bank Savings conditions are different. Only 26 clubs reported the amount of money saved, but they report $210,766.25. In reply to the questions sent out, 39 clubs are actively engaged in the work and 22 others are either assisting bank or school officers or have turned over the work started by them to such officials.

The clubs report establishing and maintaining dental clinics, sewing schools, summer schools, home gardens, public parks, boys' and girls' clubs, district nurse associations, working for better fire protection, placing street signs, doing local hospital work, marking historic spots, repairing sidewalks, studying the housing problem and city conditions. One club alone has assisted the Y. M. C. A., the Reform Club, Historical Society, Associated Charities, worked on the housing laws and beautifying the city, all in one year. Almost everything has been done under the name of civics.

Dogs and Cats Boarded

and cared for a little better than seems necessary

Not at an ordinary kennel, but at an exceptional boarding home where one may send their dog or cat confident that it will receive just as good care as it would at home.

My home is different from all so called boarding kennels.

The difference is in the way of excellence of location—experience and ten years study of dogs and cats needs and having the facilities to supply them better than any kennel does or can.

It is an excellence that has brought spontaneous commendation from my old patrons and necessitated the purchase of another house and twenty thousand more square feet of land to accommodate my ever increasing number of new patrons.

If you wish to board your dog now or later, send him to me where he will be bathed—combed and brushed and have a large out door yard—indoor department—a drinking bowl and food dish for his own exclusive use, besides having the use of an exercise yard over four hundred feet long.

Caring for him will be a pleasure rather than an irksome duty.

Those having cats they wish boarded will find my home second to none. I have a separate place for my cat friends away from the dogs, with a large out door sun parlor where they can get to the earth. The same considerate attention given to cats as I give to my dogs.

The Great and General Court for the year 1912 was prorogued last evening,
without enacting the railroad legislation, which the governor declared
must be passed before he would consent to adjournment. The session, which has been much more satisfactory than that of 1911 was marred at its close by the unprecedented action of the governor in threatening to veto certain measures unless the Legislature passed certain other measures which he desired. Speaker Cushing, last night, issued a dignified statement on the matter, showing clearly that the veto power was given the executive to prevent bad legislation
and not as a club to compel the enactment of other legislation. There were even threats of impeachment by some of the more hot-headed members of the Legislature, but wiser counsels prevailed.

The last days of the session have been marked with many disagreements between the legislature and the governor and also between the Senate and House. Three conference committees have tackled the bill to allow a senatorial preference vote to be taken next fall, and all have agreed to continue the disagreement.
There has also been a conference committee on the railroad situation,
on which Representatives Bothfeld
and Ellis were two of the members from the House, but this committee also reported a disagreement. The three matters at issue, the electrification of the metropolitan district,
the building of a tunnel between the North and South stations and increasing the powers of the railroad commission, are apparently questions on which there should be only a difference on minor details, but the whole situation has become so involved, the governor has been so arbitrary in his demands for this as well as other railroad legislation,
that the members of both branches
take the position that the whole matter should go over until another
year.

Last week, Mr. Bothfeld and Mr.
Ellis voted to sustain the governor's veto of the Fall River bridge bill,
and Mr. White voted with the majority in passing the bill over his veto. On Tuesday, all three of our representatives voted with the majority in passing the so-called trolley merger bill over the veto, but the Senate, by a close vote sustained the veto on Wednesday, so that the governor wins on that issue.

The state tax has also been an issue between the two branches,
the House refusing to sustain its own Ways and Means committee, which favored $6,500,000, and substituting the sum of $6,000,000,
also warned by the state auditor that the revenues of the state would not permit the smaller amount.
The Senate stuck to the larger sum and the matter was finally compromised by making the tax $6,250,000,
of which Newton will pay $121,375.

Governor Foss has signed the so-called Grand Trunk bill, which authorizes the construction of a railroad across the city of Newton between Watertown and Needham, and which I discussed last week. Our representatives still claim that this road will never be constructed, but in these days of railroad wars, I believe it is most unwise to give such an opening to any corporation. For the next three years, and possibly longer, the danger of such construction will be ever present, and a constant menace to the beauty and utility of our most important thoroughfares.

Three recess committees were appointed, Senator Mulligan and Representative White being on that to report on voluntary associations.

An interesting feature of the week was the legislative outing of the House of Representatives at Wauwinst Farm, West Newton, where 250
members and officers of the House were guests of Representative George H. Ellis of this city. Four special cars were filled at Park street, after the morning session on Wednesday,
and the party reached the farm about 1.30.

Tables were found laid out in a grove on the place and the Ellis milk bowl found favor alike with Republicans and Democrats. A favorable report was also noted on all the other good things on the table. Brief remarks were made by Mr. Ellis, Mayor Hatfield, Lieutenant Governor Luce,
Speaker Cushing and Representative
Chauncy Cox.

The party then inspected the cow
barns, asked the usual fool questions regarding the farm and returned to the State House for the afternoon in a most contented frame of mind.

PATRIOTIC PAGEANT

Bright skies and clear, cool air yesterday afternoon offered all that was needed to make the first presentation of the Patriotic Pageant a success. While it was cool, the spot chosen is so sheltered from the wind and open to the sun that one was not at all uncomfortable. It would be difficult to imagine a lovelier setting than that of the tall, graceful elms and lower undergrowth which fringes the plot where the scenes are enacted. And the distant vistas of actors in their bright costumes awaiting the times for their entrance added not a little to the scenic effect.

As was announced last week the performance opened with the Prologue interpreted in a Symbolic Dance by Miss Mildred Macomber. The nine episodes followed in quick succession. All were well chosen for the artistic possibilities and variety of costume,—the Indians, the Puritans and Pilgrims, the Old England costumes in the Merry Mount Episode and the Maypole Dance, the plantation negroes, the splendor of the French Court and the rainbow colors of the dancers of that period, the rude garb of the frontier pioneers and the gay attire of the five foreign nations represented in the Liberty Dances with which the pageant closed. All the scenes were well portrayed and everything went smoothly and no doubt will go a little more rapidly tomorrow afternoon.

There was a large attendance and yet there was room for many more. No one need hesitate for fear of a crowd, for there is literally "all outdoors," so that most of Newton and many from the surrounding towns can be accommodated with perfect comfort, while there is plenty of space for automobiles. Surely no one should miss seeing it.

The announcements concerning the scenes and the actors is contained in an attractively gotten up program book, which has received most generous patronage from Newton firms and individuals, showing what hearty cooperation is being accorded the Federation in the undertaking. The Federation acknowledges invaluable assistance given them by His Honor, Mayor Hatfield, Street Commissioner Charles Ross, Forest Commissioner C. E. Bucknam, Head Masters E. C. Adams and Irving O. Palmer. Palls for the Milk Maids and crooks for the Shepherdesses were given through the courtesy of Mr. Thomas Holden. Post cards of the scenes can be obtained on the grounds as well as lemonade and tea cream in cones. A full list of actors and committees will be given next week, together with a complete account of the Pageant.

"PERSISTENCY," THOU ART A JEWEL

Here is another instance when the persistency and the intelligence of the telephone operator were displayed in an emergency case of sickness. Picture to yourself a mother dangerously sick, with her daughter absent in another town and with no definite address except that she was stopping with a Mrs. — who kept a small grocery store in Roslindale, Jamaica Plain. That was all the information that came to a Newton South operator from a nurse at the bedside of the invalid. The Newton South operator enlisted the services of the Jamaica Plain information operator, and together they worked out the problem. The exchange records showed that the grocer was not a telephone subscriber. The police station at Jamaica Plain could give no information. The nurse at Newton South was again consulted in an endeavor to get further information in order to continue the search. She said that Dr. — of Roslindale might help. The doctor had a telephone and was called, but did not know the grocer. The police were evidently interested in our search, for they here called up the Jamaica information operator and stated that they had located Mrs. — who kept a store at the corner of — and — streets, which information remembered was quite near Dr. —'s residence. Dr. — was again called and asked if she would mind taking a message to this address. This she willingly consented to deliver to the proprietor of the grocery store, with the result that the little girl was sent post haste to her mother's bedside.—Telephone Topics.

POINTERS FOR THE MOTORIST—HOW TO PRESERVE INNER TUBES

When fitting an inner tube it is a good plan to dust a small quantity of talc or French chalk inside the envelope. Just sufficient to cover the interior surface is all that is required. Too much talc, says the Michelin Tire expert, gradually accumulating into solid lumps is a frequent cause of punctures. On the other hand, insufficient talc will not prevent the inner tube from sticking to the envelope.

Inner tubes should always be perfectly clean and dry when fitting. Even the slightest moisture should be avoided. It is a common practice to lay a tube on the step of the car or even on the ground previous to fitting. This is a very expensive habit. There is always a place to hang the tube where it will be free from moisture or dust. Hang it over a side lamp or tire holder, but never lay it down where it will come in contact with foreign and injurious matter.

Inner tubes should always be carried in water-proof bags such as can be bought at any garage for a quarter. They should never be kept in the original cardboard boxes, says the Michelin man. These boxes are sufficient for the garage but not for storing tubes kept in a car. Water-proof bags keep the tubes away from water, oil and grease, but are not intended to protect the tubes from sharp tools. Always keep spare tubes in bags and keep the bags away from metal objects.

—Dr. and Mrs. S. L. Eaton, who have been enjoying a trip to Minneapolis, are expected home next Saturday.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

The account of the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs held at Templeton last week is concluded in this issue. All who were there look back upon it as a most enjoyable occasion, both socially and from the standpoint of real accomplishment. It had been hoped that there would be several guests present from outside New England. At the last moment all disappointed them except Mrs. Harriet Bishop Waters, the editor of the General Federation Bulletin, who spoke from her official organ at the Wednesday morning session. It is her wish that the Bulletin may be of real service to the club women and all that is needed is support and co-operation from them in return. The June number is to be enlarged and contain special features as a souvenir of the San Francisco Biennial.

The Massachusetts delegation to the Biennial convention of the General Federation at San Francisco leave Boston on Monday. Mrs. Alvin R. Bailey, New England director of the General Federation, left today for St. Louis, where she will join the Directors' party enroute for San Francisco.

A DELIGHTFUL SALE FOR 1 CENT A MILE

Rich in historic interest, famous for its fish industries, quaint old buildings, savory fish dinners, Provincetown, situated at the apex of Cape Cod, is ever a delightful place to visit. Situated by road 120 miles from Boston, the trip by boat is only 50 miles.

Commencing Saturday, June 15, and running daily at 9 A. M., Sundays and holidays at 9:30 A. M., the Iron steamship "Dorothy Bradford" carries hundreds of passengers to the shrine of the first landing place of the Pilgrims. Stanch, speedy, cleanly, equipped with every modern device for the comfort, convenience and safety of its passengers, the trip across Massachusetts Bay is certainly exhilarating. Passing here a fort, there an island, skirting the coast of the Pilgrims on the right and viewing the broad expanse of the grand old Atlantic on the left, the invigorating sea breezes whistling a welcome from the city's noise and dust and confusion and heat and hard pavements and sultry streets, a trip on the "Dorothy Bradford" to Provincetown is one which should often be taken. It should be a family affair, the joy of the children, rest for the tired mother, the overworked father, the clerks of sedentary habits, in fact for all who need the diversion of a pleasant sail on the usually placid waters of Massachusetts Bay. One dollar covers the round trip.

DOG SHOW

The ninth annual open air show of the Ladies' Kennel Association of Massachusetts was held Wednesday on the grounds of the Woodland Park Hotel in Auburndale. Mrs. Arnold Lawson's French bulldog, Champion Nossal, won the third leg of the prize of $500 offered last fall by Mr. Lawson, from Champion Nelicote Gamin, owned by Purdy Brothers.

The show was one of the most successful ever held by this energetic organization of women fanciers, there being a total of 630 classes shown, while the exhibits were in the thousands. The excellent weather also helped a great deal in assembling the large crowd of admirers.

The judges were Midgley Maraden, Dr. John E. De Mund, C. N. Grey, Fisher Ames Jr., Singleton Van Schalk, Bayard Tuckerman Jr., Joseph Armstrong, W. C. Codman and Frank F. Dole. Mrs. C. F. Dennee was ring steward, assisted by the following: Mrs. N. W. Emerson, Mrs. Daniel Jackson, Mrs. W. E. Blake, Mrs. John Champion, Mrs. T. E. L. Kemp, Mrs. James W. Spring, Mrs. W. N. Gilbert Clark, Mrs. Adnah Neyhart, Miss Alice Brownell, Miss M. Bullock, Miss Rita Talbot, Mrs. E. H. Squires, Mrs. M. P. Bowers, Mrs. F. E. Drake, Mrs. Rogers Case, Mrs. Francis Gray, Mrs. George Peabody, Mrs. Leo Schlegelmilch and Mrs. Albert Geiger Jr.

Mrs. Thomas G. Plant, a guest at the hotel, won 4 ribbons and three prizes with her Pomeranian.

NEW LODGE

OLDFIELD—CHESLEY

The wedding of Miss Mary Abbie Chesley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chesley of Newton Upper Falls, and Mr. Samuel F. Oldfield, took place on May 29 at the summer home of Mr. Chesley, "The Elms," Epson, N. H.

The ceremony was performed at one o'clock by Rev. J. P. West of the Methodist Church at Florence, Mass., and the bridal party stood under an arch of evergreen and apple blossoms, banked with ferns.

The bride wore white marquisette over crepe meteor, with bugle trimming and bead fringe and carried lilies of the valley. Miss Bertha F. Kepton of Upper Falls was bridesmaid and wore white muslin with panel of baby Irish insertion and lace trimming and carried white sweet peas. Mr. J. Charles Batley of Upper Falls was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. George F. Cass of Short Falls, N. H., and John W. Cox of Epson, N. H. A reception followed until four o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Oldfield will reside at 984 Chestnut street, Upper Falls, where they will be at home after Sept. 2.

ANNUAL OUTING

Mrs. James I. Wingate of Auburndale opened her summer home at Bolton on June 6 for the annual outing of the Newton Parliamentary Law Club. By train and trolley the members from Newton and Boston and Stow found their way at an early hour to the meeting place at the Hudson station, where a cordial welcome awaited them from the genial hostess.

A charming drive through shady country lanes and past fields gay with daisies and glowing with all the freshness of summer beauty brought them to the pretty cottage on the shore of one of the beautiful lakes for which this region is noted. The calm waters glistened in the sunshine offering a smiling greeting to the visitors who strolled along its borders and found refreshment and peace in its aspect of quiet content. From the broad piazza which overlooked its mirrored surface a still wider view was obtainable and here the planners who had gathered for an hour of rest and enjoyment were joined by an automobile party, who arrived in time for luncheon. This proved to be a merry meal with the hostess presiding over a beautiful spread table in the commodious living room and the hungry guests did ample justice to the varied menu prolonging the festivity by gay jests and entertaining stories.

A slight shower prevented outdoor festivities in the afternoon, but several tables of bridge enlivened the time remaining before the lengthening shadows warned the unwilling travelers that their faces must be turned homeward. With many expressions of the pleasure they had enjoyed and of thanks to Mrs. Wingate for her gracious hospitality the guests departed, carrying with them in addition to pleasant memories of former outings another enjoyable remembrance of their delightful entertainment at the summer home on the shore of the lovely Bolton Lake.

51ST ANNIVERSARY

The Sunday School connected with the North Village Church observed its 51st Anniversary last Sunday evening. The exercises consisted of a Children's Day Concert and the programme was a most delightful one. The reports of the Superintendent and the Secretary were most interesting and portrayed the progress of the school during the past year.

Unlike many of the Sunday Schools of Newton, this school is open fifty-two Sundays in the year. There is no shut-down for vacation. The average attendance during the past year has been 116. This is the largest average attendance with one exception in the last fifteen years. There are five departments in the school which provide a place for all who care to be identified with the work. These are the Main School, Primary Department, Beginners' Department, Home Department and Cradle Roll. Mr. William E. Lowry, a son of the founder of the school is Superintendent and Mr. Charles F. Bacon is his assistant.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—The third week of "The Climax" begins at the Castle Square Monday afternoon with a special holiday matinee. This original play with music has made an emphatic sensation ever since its first performance, and it promises to be a ruling summer attraction. Its heroine, a beautiful singer who finds her ambitions towards an operatic career interrupted by love, is astonishingly well played by Miss Florence Webber, who sings as skillfully as she acts. There is music all through the play, Miss Webber sings three solos, among them the famous "Song of the Soul," and there is expert pianoforte playing by Carney Christie.

BLODGETT—LORING

Very much of a Harvard affair was the wedding at 19 Crescent avenue, Newton Centre, Wednesday evening, of Miss Margaret Loring, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Pearmann Loring, 2d, Harvard '11, son of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Haskell Blodgett of Lincoln. The bridegroom played for three years on the varsity football squad, which in September, 1910, began its preliminary training at the summer place on the Maine coast owned by his father, who is a Harvard '84 man.

The wedding was limited to immediate connections of the families concerned. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Frederick M. Brooks of Watertown. The bride wore the gown in which her mother was married. The maids of honor were Miss Katherine Raymond of New York City and Miss Ethel Loring, Newton Centre, and the bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Taylor, Newton Centre; Ruth Langdon, Orange, N. J.; Harriet Cranston, Cambridge; Alice Melmerbinger, St. Paul, Minn.; and Alice Attwood, Newton Highlands. The bridegroom had as best man his brother, Mr. Edwin S. Blodgett, Harvard '12. The ushers were Messrs. Henry D. Ohler, Boston, Harvard '11; Robert M. Holt, Gardner, Me., Harvard '11; Clayton H. Ernst, Dorchester, Harvard '09, and Joshua Loring, Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Blodgett will live at Lincoln.

Miss Caroline, millinery sale, 480 Boylston street, Boston, block of Brunswick Hotel.

MR. COBB DEAD

Marshall Newton Cobb, for many years the head of Cobb, Bates & Yerxa, wholesale and retail grocers, died Sunday night at his home on Hovey street, Newton. Mr. Cobb was born in Westboro, Dec. 2, 1831.

The name of "Cobb" has been associated with the grocery business in New England as perhaps few names have been identified with any business. More than 50 years ago five brothers, sons of T. D. Cobb of Westboro, came to Boston and began the grocery business on Cambridge street. These brothers were Marshall N., Charles D., Josiah H., John and Henry E. Cobb. Later they moved to Worcester, where for about five years they engaged in the same business.

In 1864 all five of the brothers returned to Boston and formed a partnership under the firm name of C. D. Cobb & Brothers, located under the old Odd Fellows Building at 550 Washington street. It was here that Jabel P. Bates and Henry D. Yerxa, coming to Boston as young men, received their training in the grocery business. The growth of this firm witnessed in one particular a new method in the grocery business, the marking of prices on displayed goods. In 1889 Messrs. Bates, Yerxa and Marshall N. Cobb withdrew from the firm and formed a new company under the firm name of Cobb, Bates & Yerxa, whose main store was for many years on the corner of Washington and Kneeland streets, with many branches in different parts of Boston and in various other cities of Massachusetts.

Mr. Cobb retired from the firm a few years ago and has since lived a quiet life in Newton, devoting himself to the care of an invalid wife, whom he survived by less than a week. She was buried on Thursday of last week from the house in which they had lived for 46 years. Since his retirement from business, Mr. Cobb had also given much time and thought to the use of his ample fortune in philanthropic ways. He was deeply interested in the Franklin Square House and ultimately became the second largest donor in the purchase of its property. After its death had been paid he was the first to suggest that so important an institution should be safeguarded by a permanent fund and followed his own advice by starting the permanent fund with a gift of $7000.

At the time of the San Francisco earthquake he was one of the first to respond from Massachusetts, with a gift of $1000. He was also a liberal donor to Tuskegee Institute, the Mt. Pleasant Home and the Home for Aged Couples in Roxbury, the Young Men's Christian Association of Newton, and various other local institutions, while his private benefactions were numberless. He was a life member of the Boston Young Men's Christian Union. A peculiarity of the man was that in his charities he would never send a check and never take a receipt. He first satisfied himself that he wanted to make the gift and then he would give the cash outright, apparently wishing to end the whole transaction.

Mr. Cobb leaves no children, his only son having died about five years ago. Two granddaughters, Beatrice and Madeline Cobb, are his only two near surviving relatives.

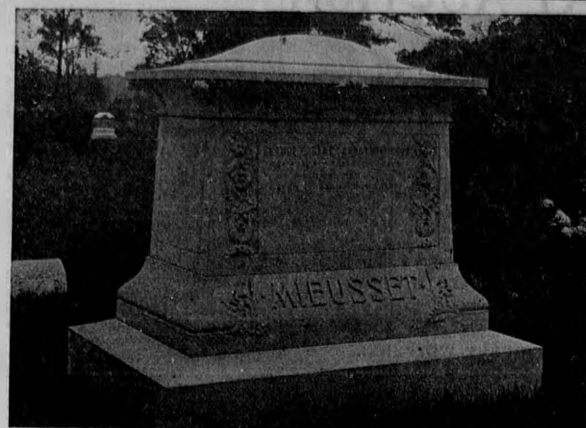

Funeral services were held from his late home on Tuesday afternoon. Rev. George L. Perrin of Boston officiated, and there was singing by the Mendelssohn Quartet. The burial was at Newton Cemetery.

JULY 4TH CELEBRATION

Preparations are now under way for a large Fourth of July celebration on the West Newton Common. It will be an all-day affair with many interesting features. An efficient committee has the affair in hand.

Among the events being arranged is a flag raising with patriotic addresses by well known speakers. A flag pole over 100 feet in height has been purchased which will be located on the upper end of the common. Teele's Boston Band will furnish the music throughout the day and in the evening there will be a display of fireworks at the Brae Burn Club.

There will be numerous athletic events in which athletes from all parts of the city will compete. An added attraction will be a ball game between two of the strong local teams. Those arranging for the affair are Mayor Charles E. Hatfield, Thomas J. Lyon, Henry B. Day, F. L. Smith, Geo. A. Frost and W. F. Chase.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Thirty-one young men are now occupying the dormitories at the Y. M. C. A. If applications increase in the future as they have this month a waiting list will have to be formed.

The swimming campaign for grammar school boys of the city has been a great success, an average of 80 being taught each day how to swim. Some have already learned. As the applications have been so numerous a second campaign will be conducted the latter part of the month. This instruction is given free to the grammar school boys of the city.

There will be a baseball game Saturday afternoon between the Grant Class and the Newton Y. M. C. A.

The tennis courts are being used freely these days. A tennis club has been formed and those who join the club, paying one dollar a year, have the right to use the courts as much as they wish. Courts can be reserved by telephone so that men coming from Boston may be sure of an opportunity to play when they arrive at the association. Any member of the association, regardless of the ticket which he holds, may become a member of this club. Boys are admitted at half price, 50 cents. The courts are in splendid condition.

Mr. H. W. Bascom and Mr. Wm. Macpherson left Thursday night to attend the Paid Officers' Conferences at Silver Bay.

In the Greater Boston Y. M. C. A. Intermediate League two teams are fighting hard for the pennant. The only time Newton was defeated Boston did it, and the only defeat charged to Boston was administered by Newton. Next Saturday Boston plays Somerville and Newton plays Cambridge. Both the leading teams feel confident of winning this Saturday. If they do there will be another game played between them, which will no doubt be very good.

In the Intermediate League at the Y. M. C. A. the Oleaners have finished on top. In the past week there have been two exciting games. The Oleaners won a 10 to 9 game from the Wangdingers and the latter team downed the Hinky Dinks in 11 innings by a score of 14 to 13. The final game of the season is to be played this afternoon between the Oleaners and Hinky Dinks.

BROWN—IVY

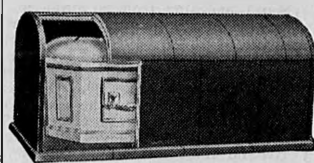

A noon wedding took place in Newton, Wednesday, when Miss Florence Ivy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Ivy, was married to Samuel E. Brown of Newton Centre, a member of the Harvard Class of 1907. The bride is a graduate of Vassar College, 1907.

The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's parents on Fairmont avenue and the officiating clergyman was Rev. Charles R. Brown, a member of the faculty of the Newton Theological Seminary and father of the bridegroom. The young couple were unattended and only members of both families witnessed the ceremony.

NEWTON ROSE CONSERVATORIES

of the race, can devote themselves to no nobler cause than hastening the day when all the nations of the world shall dwell in peace. Let every woman talk up the subject and let every club devote some time each year to educating themselves and the public in the doctrine of universal peace.

"The education problem is always with us. It requires much wisdom and judgment to strike the proper balance in the many different kinds of education demanding our approval and support." Jane Addams said once that the schools would be captured by professions, then by the business men, and that the danger today is that the schools would be captured by the manufacturers. One thing it will always be safe for the clubs to do and that is, engage in systematic volunteer visiting of the schools.

"It would increase the effectiveness of the work of the individual clubs if each president would at the beginning of the year call together the chairmen of her committees and consider the needs of the club and community and, having decided upon some definite plan, work consistently and uninterruptedly until it is attained."

"The Federation should encourage the American ideal of living, involving as it does the immigration question, the housing problem, the question of a living wage. The women's clubs can stand persistently for the moral ideas involved in these questions and can be a mighty force in educating public opinion along these lines even if they do not presume to urge certain methods or to pass upon questions of practical expediency. They may not have the time or money to put into execution many of their ideas, but it is always in their power to exert influence, and many of the reforms of the day have been due to the preparation of the ground and the sowing of the seed of the women's clubs." She then declared the convention adjourned.

A large part of the delegates returned home by the evening trains, while those coming by automobile lingered or moved on, allured by the lovely country and fine weather.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Civil Service Reform

The work of the Civil Service Reform Department the past year has been the development of the policy adopted last year: co-ordination and co-operation between clubs and the committee, endeavoring to plant seed, hoping the harvest may be gathered by some future generations, if not by ours.

With the growing desire on the part of club women to work for the public welfare, and the earnest desire for knowledge how to make this work tell, they realize their responsibility to a public opinion which will demand a public service chosen for fitness only, also the power of organized womanhood in influencing the Commonwealth. Yet were you to ask many of these women to work for Civil Service Reform, some would shrink back and say, "I can't, for it is politics."

Civil Service Reform literally means that of placing and keeping in his position the man best fitted for that place, regardless of his political belief or influence. "The safety of the country depends upon having good people in public affairs." What can be grander than this work for pure politics, for overcoming the greed of the Spoils System by the Merit System, in which the man and his work are a complement to each other. This is true patriotism and a sacred duty.

In order that the club women might have a more intelligent understanding of the present conditions, and also help to further good citizenship and good government, the study class instituted last season has been continued. Through the courtesy of the Librarian, class meetings have been held at the Boston Public Library on the first Saturday of each month. The average attendance has been 25.

The class has followed the "Outline for the Study of Municipal Government and Its Relation to Civil Service Reform," prepared and donated by the Worcester Branch of the Massachusetts Auxiliary. Mr. Edwin A. Shaw, principal of the Natick High School, has led all of the meetings and contributed greatly to the success of the class. The committee is especially indebted to Mr. Shaw and the various public officials who have generously given information along their lines and in their departments of work.

By invitation of the Middlesex Woman's Club, of Lowell, a successful conference was held in Lowell on November 22. Considering the distance from Boston, the attendance was good. Twenty-five clubs were represented.

In order to ascertain what the clubs had done during the year in the interest of Civil Service Reform, the following questions were sent them:

1. What has been done by your club the past year in the interest of Civil Service Reform?
2. The State Committee wishes to especially emphasize:
 - a. Work done in the schools.
 - b. Work for better legislation on this subject.

Answers to the questions sent out have been received from only 85 clubs. Forty-five clubs have Civil Service Reform Committees, while several have made the work a part of the Civics or Social Service Committee. Thirty clubs report having devoted an entire or a part of a meeting to the consideration of the subject of Civil Service.

Thirty-seven clubs have reported work for legislation affecting the Civil Service. Eleven clubs have offered a prize, or the medal of the Women's Auxiliary, for the best essay on Civil Service, to a pupil of the high school. The Framingham Club deserves special mention.

As suggestions for the future that will aid in making the work more effective the committee submits the following recommendations:

1. That each club president make an effort to interest the chairman of her Civil Service Reform Committee in the work, and, if in the vicinity of Boston, urge her to attend the study class.
2. That notices of Civil Service examinations be obtained from the secretary of the Massachusetts Civil Service Commission, and that said notices be posted in the Public Library.
3. Work with the Normal School teachers, superintendents and principals of schools.
4. That a prize or medal be offered to the pupils of the evening schools for the best essay on Civil Service Reform.
5. That clubs take up the study of the history of Civil Service Reform in different countries.

MABEL ROGERS TABOR, Chairman.

Public Health Department

The record of the past year's work shows a continued interest in community health and a close co-operation existing between the clubs and health organizations. The work of establishing a visiting nurse is still a popular one with the clubs. Five maintain a nurse, 13 report aid toward the support of one, four are considering this branch of work and three have established one the past year.

One hundred and six clubs have replied to the list of questions sent out, an increase of eight over last year, and all show a greater and growing interest in all lines of health work, many new ones appearing. The names of 38 health chairmen were sent this year, while only four were given last year. This is most encouraging, and it was very interesting to note that four of these are men, two doctors, one a chairman of selectmen, and one club gave the name of a man, who with the district nurse, act as its health advisers.

Two clubs report furnishing wards in hospitals and two others using their influence to establish local tuberculosis hospitals. Other clubs report investigating and aiding poor families, the support of tuberculosis associations, lectures on tuberculosis and general health, contributors to anti-tuberculosis societies and hospitals, for dental care, for vacations, for poor mothers, eye treatment and glasses for poor children. Thirteen have sold Red Cross seals, one has had a children's exhibit, several have distributed literature, and one has placed leaflets on the reading tables of the Public Library. All this work, with the observance of Tuberculosis Sunday, a health day and work for individual cases, shows a varied and energetic amount of work, which the clubs may well feel proud of.

A great deal has been done for the promotion of health in schools. Five have women physicians for the examination of girls, 12 report the establishing of school nurses by the school committees or the Boards of Health, and one club is endeavoring to have a nurse appointed.

Eight report dental clinics and three legislation toward obtaining them. Four have fresh air rooms, two have open air schools, and one club is actively interested in trying to reopen one. One club has placed ventilation boards in the school windows and another reports that "with the co-operation of the mayor and school committee they opened a school roof for sleeping purposes during the extreme heat of last summer. The work in the future has been transferred to a settlement."

One club has endeavored to have liquid soap and paper towels placed in the schools, but so far without success.

Dr. Evangeline W. Young of the department reports that the interest of sex hygiene and demand for the work is increasing among all thoughtful and progressive organizations, especially women's clubs. Twenty-three clubs report lectures on sex subjects, two on insanity, two on blindness and two are actively engaged in aiding and segregating the feeble minded.

Miss Helen M. Lambert of Lowell, who has had charge of the Traveling Health Library this year, reports that after much correspondence the library was finally started on its rounds February 14. Although the ordinary stay of the library in a town is three weeks, several requests have come for an extension of the time. Six Women's Clubs and one Public Library have placed the Federation Library in their towns, the engagements extending through August.

The department has sent the General Federation circulars on community health and monthly programs to all the clubs in the state. The department has held three conferences, one at Woburn, one at Brockton and one at Ayer. The programs at Brockton and Woburn dealt with sex hygiene and local tuberculosis hospitals and health inspection in factories.

This report shows in its great variety of work the adaptability of the club woman to choose the immediate work which presents itself and that which will benefit the individual community. This originality and apparently constant vigilance cannot but bring about a greater degree of health to the citizens of all our cities and towns.

LILLIAS FOLGER, Chairman.

Civics Department

The Civics Department has held monthly meetings which have been well attended and very helpful. We have discussed our work and the letters we have received during the preceding month, getting in closer touch with each other's work and the work of many clubs. We have recommended and furnished speakers whenever requested to do so.

After a great deal of investigating and study a pledge and constitution and by-laws for Junior Civic Leagues were submitted by our committee, which was approved and adopted by the officers of the Federation. We have had them printed and they have been given to all persons requesting them. A copy was sent to the General Federation's chairman. A great deal of time and thought has been put into this line, but the clubs do not show very great interest in it. The chairman of that committee says, "Definite steps have been taken in a few instances toward establishing leagues and there seems to be little promise of greater activity." Inquiries have come to us from five other states and we have sent them copies of the pledge and constitution. We believe this work is of great importance, and could be made of great help in teaching boys and girls their civic responsibilities.

We have received replies to our questions from 120 clubs—nine clubs report no activity and two clubs report no necessity for any civics work in their town; 33 clubs report lectures on some department of civics but no special work done; 68 clubs report Civics Committees or a chairman to whom communications can be sent, and six clubs report civics work being done by other committees such as Education, Social Service, Sociology, etc.

Forty-four clubs have been actively engaged in some form of town improvement work. Fourteen clubs have assisted local Improvement Societies or some person or other organization doing the work. Perhaps more clubs have helped in starting "Clean-up Days" than in any other form of work.

We have tried to arouse some enthusiasm toward abolishing billboards, but as long as a revenue can be derived from them it is difficult to get the men to assist us.

More clubs are interested in the playgrounds than ever before and we again urge you to work for trained directors. The playgrounds can never accomplish the good expected of them unless there is some one to lead and restrain, for whom the children have love and respect.

Thirty-six clubs are actively interested in playground work and 17 others report assisting in establishing playgrounds either by paying for directors or equipment. In Winchester the Women's Club established, equipped and directed two playgrounds for one year. The town was so convinced of the feasibility of keeping these playgrounds that they assumed the expense and placed them under the charge of the local Park Board.

The idea of a safer and saner Fourth has taken such a strong hold on the public that it seems as if we

More clubs have shown an interest in international peace than ever before. Thirty-four clubs have listened to lectures or held informal discussions and a few clubs have held study classes that the members might become better informed on this important subject.

A few clubs report they have investigated the conditions in their local Juvenile Courts and have found judges and probation officers carrying out the law satisfactorily. However, only 22 clubs report any interest and many of these have simply listened to a lecture on the subject.

In the Department of Stamp and Bank Savings conditions are different. Only 26 clubs reported the amount of money saved, but they report $210,766.25. In reply to the questions sent out, 39 clubs are actively engaged in the work and 22 others are either assisting bank or school officers or have turned over the work started by them to such officials.

The clubs report establishing and maintaining dental clinics, sewing schools, summer schools, home gardens, public parks, boys' and girls' clubs, district nurse associations, working for better fire protection, placing street signs, doing local hospital work, marking historic spots, repairing sidewalks, studying the housing problem and city conditions. One club alone has assisted the Y. M. C. A., the Reform Club, Historical Society, Associated Charities, worked on the housing laws and beautifying the city, all in one year. Almost everything has been done under the name of civics.

Not at an ordinary kennel, but at an exceptional boarding home where one may send their dog or cat confident that it will receive just as good care as it would at home.

My home is different from all so called boarding kennels.

The difference is in the way of excellence of location—experience and ten years study of dogs and cats needs and having the facilities to supply them better than any kennel does or can.

It is an excellence that has brought spontaneous commendation from my old patrons and necessitated the purchase of another house and twenty thousand more square feet of land to accommodate my ever increasing number of new patrons.

If you wish to board your dog now or later, send him to me where he will be bathed—combed and brushed and have a large out door yard—indoor department—a drinking bowl and food dish for his own exclusive use, besides having the use of an exercise yard over four hundred feet long.

Caring for him will be a pleasure rather than an irksome duty.

Those having cats they wish boarded will find my home second to none. I have a separate place for my cat friends away from the dogs, with a large out door sun parlor where they can get to the earth. The same considerate attention given to cats as I give to my dogs.

work undertaken this year; this was intended to clear the way for the formation of programs for study for those having the matter in charge, the central thought of the outline being conservation of time and money and energy in the home.

If the chairman was to enumerate a list of clubs which have been interested in some form of home economics, or even those which have carried to completion some definite plan, the time today would be only too short. It would seem from the reports that a large proportion of the interested clubs are as yet working for self help. Seventy-five clubs report one or more regular meetings upon this subject, although it is a question.

The chairman considers the work of the Worcester Women's Club by all means the best along home economic lines done in the state this year, first because they began at the root of the matter; second, because the club itself worked and investigated and collected statistics and made comparisons.

The conference of this department was held in Winchester. The members of this department have spoken to 44 clubs or classes this year and have written about 450 letters and postcards.

The department has prepared this year an outline for the study of textiles in the clubs. This has been done because of the serious and recognized need of a pure textile law, similar to the pure food law, and because concerted action on the part of all the clubs in the General Federation is necessary to assist its progress.

They have raised money for tree planting in streets and parks, and for spraying, and have agitated for the better general care of trees, sometimes including proper pruning. Some clubs have co-operated with their tree wardens, but there is still a great tendency to feel that having a tree warden, especially a good one, relieves citizens of all responsibility, and that, on the other hand, if the tree warden is bad, both people and trees are helpless.

One club has set a shining example of the concrete work that may be done by a few determined and enlightened women. A year ago they had a lecture upon the care and treatment of shade trees. Following this the Forestry Committee issued printed leaflets describing the needs of the trees, and what they wanted to do about it. In this and other ways they raised more than $300, with which they hired an expert tree doctor to prune and otherwise treat all the trees on the main street as far as the money held out. Besides this the committee so impressed tree officials and private owners that both public and private trees have been better looked after, especially as to spraying. This club has a "Junior Work Committee" which does splendid service with boys and girls, having among other things, for three years conducted a "Garden and Door Yard Competition" with great success.

There seems to be a considerable increase in both the number and success of children's gardens reported. Most of these are conducted by other organizations with which the clubs officially or unofficially co-operate. Several clubs, however, carry on extensive school and home garden work, raising the money to pay the director besides furnishing volunteer inspectors. Others depend entirely upon volunteer supervision and instruction. The best results are attained with a paid expert director, perhaps preferably a teacher, but in any case working through the school organization. The ideal condition is, of course, to make gardening a part of the school curriculum. Few localities show any instruction of children in tree planting or care of trees, but two clubs report a school tree nursery managed wholly by the pupils under instruction from tree officials, and from these nurseries trees are taken for street planting. It is repeatedly emphasized in the replies that the utilization of wasteland and the cultivation of back yards and small house lots are promoted by children's gardening. But the broad conception that the municipality and the householder should feel responsibility for making every spot productive and beautiful is not hinted at.

The questions upon conditions of farm life, orcharding, and town forests, brought little response. Many appear not to understand what a town forest is. A few clubs seemed to know about the new system of forest fire protection installed last summer by the state, and the way in which the club should co-operate to make it effective. No reply all reported that the bird and game laws are enforced in their communities. But do they really know it? And how do they know? Bird houses of some sort are put up in nearly every locality with varying success, the English sparrow being the arch enemy. In one place, however, a house set up Saturday night had a pair of bluebirds at home there Sunday morning. They raised one family there and a second one in a house in a neighboring tree. Bird house patterns sent out by the Conservation Committee, as well as other patterns, have been largely used by children in manual training classes.

Perhaps half the clubs say that the State Conservation Department has been helpful to them by way of information and inspiration, and some good suggestions are offered for further usefulness. But what people have as yet hardly begun to comprehend is that the conservation of our natural resources is not only one of the means but an absolutely essential and fundamental means to the conservation of human life, health and happiness.—In other words, that conservation is a social question.

MARY LATHROP TUCKER, Chairman.

Legislative

The Legislative Department has a report of earnest application on the part of its members during the year now closing. Your chairman has striven to encourage personal inter-est and consequent responsibility among the sub-chairmen, and has which the club women have raised. Increased numbers and new ideas have greeted her at the various meetings during the year and at the hearings at the State House. The work has grown and the value of inter-dependence and mutual helpfulness has been a marked feature and has aided in the success attained.

According to custom your Chairman presented at the mid-winter meeting in Park Street Church, Boston, on February 8, a report of the bill, never in number, which the executive board had approved. These bills were endorsed by the Federation. Other bills appealed to us, but we have found it wise to concentrate work upon a few, some of which were not presented for the first time, one being the Federal Children's Bureau, which was unanimously endorsed again. The bill passed both bodies and was duly signed by President Taft, who has now appointed Julia C. Lathrop of Chicago as chief of the new bureau.

The next bill in order was that asking for an amendment of the constitution of the commonwealth regarding taxation of wild and forest lands. The present system being over-taxation has brought about neglect and destruction of much property that was capable of an income. This measure is favored by the Massachusetts Forestry Association, the Chamber of Commerce, and all who are interested in preserving our natural resources. It passed the Legislature of 1911 and again passed in 1912, and now it is ready to be referred to the people next year for their vote.

Bill H. 1057, which provided for extension of civil service rules to appointive county officials came next in line of endorsement. This met with opposition chiefly from sheriffs with whom now rests the appointive power of assistants. After a hearing before public service commission, this bill was given leave to withdraw.

A uniform child labor law was endorsed by the Federation. There were several hearings before the Labor Committee. All philanthropic organizations favored it and the Child Labor Committee did much work besides initiating it. It was opposed strenuously by mill owners of Fall River and New Bedford mainly on account of the eight-hour clause which it was claimed would work a hardship to boys of 14 and 16 and girls of 16 to 18 years of age. The committee in charge of the bill reported to the Senate a reference to the next General Court, but the bill has been amended and substituted for the original bill and now awaits a third reading.

House bill 478, providing for the appointment of a commission to study the question of the condition of widowed mothers with minor children to support, secured our hearty endorsement and lively interest. The bill passed both House and Senate and received the signature of our Governor, who has appointed a Commission to report January, 1913.

As in past years, so in the present, the Federation stands firm in its opposition to Spanish War Veterans' preference bills. Senate bill 209 was killed in committee, but its running mate, bill 1265, passed both House and Senate, but was vetoed by the governor.

House bill 1570, known as the Ellis milk bill, was endorsed again in 1912. Mr. Ellis stated at the conference that "this bill aims to secure control of out of state milk, also of unsatisfactory dairies in the state, and to secure the confidence of the consumer." The House Committee of Ways and Means reported leave to withdraw the Ellis bill. Mr. Ellis at once moved the substitution of the original bill for the adverse report of the committee; both motion and bill were lost. The report of committee was referred to the Senate, where Senator Tinkham moved the substitution of original bill, which was accepted and the bill has the Senate (May 24).

Last year the Federation worked for a cold storage bill. A commission of undoubted ability and honor appointed by the governor personally investigated storage plants in various parts of the country. In the autumn eight hearings were held and as a result of their faithful and impartial work the Committee on Public Health reported a bill for the regulation of cold storage of certain food stuffs.

During the year now closing your chairman has attended 64 hearings, sent out 170 notices of committee hearings, 125 notices of conference, 280 letters, 337 postals, and has been by phone and conference to make clear any misrepresentation of bills; has spoken on legislative matters before seven clubs. The sub-chairmen have been most helpful in all ways, attending hearings, writing hundreds of letters to national and state law makers and bringing bills before their clubs.

Your chairman wishes to thank the members of her committee and sub-chairmen for their substantial aid, and begs to suggest again that each club subscribe for the Bulletin of Legislative Hearings, that its committee may become familiar with all stages of bills and thus feel itself a component part of legislative work. We are intent only upon promoting the public welfare and the common good.

MRS. SNOW RICH, Chairman.

Industrial and Social Conditions

Two years ago the Industrial and Social Conditions Department took up the work of Child Welfare, thus shaping the course of the efforts of the committee, not only for this year, but probably for several to come.

The interest in our work is increasing in the clubs is proved by the fact that 99 replies were received to the list of questions sent out by this department, and more than 60 clubs have had at least one lecture, on a subject relative to either child welfare or industrial and social conditions.

Again this year we have asked the clubs to work on the child welfare questionnaire, which presents two phases of our subject—the child at home and the child on the street,—and many clubs have co-operated with us in this investigation into conditions surrounding child life.

As a committee, we wish to thank the many loyal club women who have given of their time and thought to our work. Since some clubs have found the specified time too short, we now ask that all returns be in the hands of the chairman on or before July 1, in order that they may be tabulated during the summer.

We also ask the clubs, and we wish to emphasize the request, to make this child welfare work the topic of an afternoon's program, or at least to devote some time to the subject. It is one of the vital topics of the day and we believe that an hour devoted to its discussion under leadership of either an interested club member, or possibly a local social worker, would be interesting, instructive and productive of much good.

A conference in the interest of the questionnaire was held by courtesy of the New England Woman's Club in their club rooms on January 20, Miss George A. Bacon presiding. The subject of the questionnaire was presented by Mrs. Caroline Stone Atherton, while representatives of some of those clubs which worked last season told something of the methods used by them to secure the desired information.

At the bottom of one of the replies to our questions was written: "Investigation is an eye-opener," and the questionnaire returns certainly prove the truth of this statement, for these returns are most interesting, showing in many cases careful thought in the training of the child "in the way he should go."

In reply to the question, "What home duties for each child?" the answer for a boy of 13 is: "Some simple domestic duties to help arouse a feeling of responsibility in home making." The same question for a boy 16, one of five children where the family income is above the average and a cook and second maid are kept, was answered as follows: "Watering plants, dusting and picking up a room and bringing up fire-place wood—one boy has the care of the faucets and filters." Where again the family income is above the average and two maids and a man are employed, the home duties for a boy of 12 are: "To put things in their proper places, to spread his clothes at night to air, to strip his bed and open wide his windows in the morning and to keep his bureau drawers and book case in order." One answer to the question, "How do the parents teach economy and thrift to the children?" was: "By precept and example and by giving each an allowance and bank account." The eldest of three daughters, 17 years old, is allowed $14 a month and buys all her own clothes and pays all her personal expenses. This paper shows a delightful home life to every detail of which much thought is given. Another answer to the question in regard to the teaching of thrift is: "By starting a simple cash account." One set of answers referred to a girl of 17, the only child of a physician, and across the page of questions on the child on the street was written: "None of these questions are applicable, as the child has had an absolutely protected life. Her first experience in real independence will be at college in the fall. But we feel confident that her training has been such that she will do the right thing."

But all the papers do not paint such pictures as these; some tell of children underfed, insufficiently clothed, who have no home duties, and no training in thrift, whose parents are thoughtless or incompetent and neglectful, and it is for the benefit of such as these that our department is making this investigation. It is claimed that "Every child has the inalienable right to be well-born; to be loved; to be wisely trained in mind, body and soul; to have its individuality respected; to be protected from evil persons and influences, and to have a fair chance in life." I believe all child welfare work to be a striving towards this end and it is the ambition of our department of the Federation that the Women's Clubs of Massachusetts will bear their full share of the burden, for the goal is not easy of attainment, it can be gained only by earnest effort and endeavor.

RUBY P. CLARK, Chairman.

Literature and Library Extension.
In looking over the answers to the questions sent out by this department the interest in literary work manifested by the clubs is very different; some expressing a desire for the study of the novel, others for poetry and others for the drama. Many clubs report a study of Dickens, several the study of George Eliot and others have read and studied "Everywoman." The Home of Club of East Boston reports a club magazine, the contents written by club members. The state chairman makes another appeal for the large and strong clubs, so well equipped and sufficient unto themselves to lend a helping hand to the smaller clubs.

The dramatic spirit has become a part of the life of women's clubs. During the past year the attention of the chairman has been particularly called to the presentation of two plays, "Monsieur Beaucaire," by the Chelsea Woman's Club, and "The Honeymoon," given by the Quincy Woman's Club.

To encourage the study of good drama, the Literature Department held a conference at the Boston Public Library in December, and in February the department co-operated with the New England Association of Teachers of English at its meeting in Fitchburg in holding a conference on the same subject, to which invitations were sent 35 clubs.

One year ago the work of the Drama League was endorsed by the Federation. I do not need to tell you of the good work that has been done in this first year of its organization or of its willingness to help women's clubs. The department recommends a course of study on Galsworthy as a dramatist and is able to offer to clubs for travelling expenses only, a lecture on Galsworthy's Plays. Furthermore, this department will send to a limited number of clubs, upon application, a speaker on "The Drama League and the Possibilities of Drama Study."

In closing, let me urge the importance of good literary work in the club. Try to unify the club programs. Do much of the work yourselves. Find out what other clubs are doing and ask assistance in order that "Both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together."

Library Extension

Library extension means to enlarge and the efficiency of the local library in order that its full benefit may be within the reach of every individual, or in case there is no library to provide ways and means by which the nucleus for a library can be secured. There seems to have been greater interest among the clubs in awakening a desire for a better class of reading among children and adults. This is a wide field of opportunity for active work for any club interested in the uplift of their community. Many clubs reported having the subject of the story hour under consideration. This is a very delightful way in which one with a gift for narrative may interest a group of boys and girls, awakening a desire to know more about the person or events that are introduced to them through the medium of the spoken word and the personality of one who loves children. Another way is to help the foreigner by presenting books to the local library that shall help him to know more about our language, laws and customs. The Boston Library finds that the hunger for books is keen and universal among those being made into Americans.

A collection of 100 books has been sent to Kentucky and the committee is ready to send more where needed.

In a letter from a club president in Mississippi requesting aid in securing a good encyclopedia, she says: "You women do magnificent things along education lines."

A conference was held in connection with the Literature conference. MARTHA E. G. WOODWARD, Chairman.

RIPE OLD AGE

Mr. Levi L. Tower, a Prominent Business Man, Dies at Newton

Mr. Levi L. Tower, for many years one of the leading citizens of Newton, died on Tuesday evening at his home on Newtonville avenue after a long illness. Mr. Tower was 85 years of age and until last summer has been actively engaged in business. He is survived by five daughters, Mrs. E. A. Stevens of Waverley avenue, Mrs. Adella Bullock of Pawtucket, R. I., Mrs. Ada E. Davidson and Mrs. William H. Bliss of Newton and Mrs. F. E. Kimball of Burlington, Vt.

Levi Lincoln Tower was descended from John Tower, who was one of the first settlers (1637) in Hingham. His younger boyhood and manhood were spent on the old farm at Cummington, Mass., where he was born October 14, 1826, and in acquiring an education in the local schools and also at Drewsey Academy, North Adams. In 1845 he came to Boston and taking the first opening that presented itself, secured employment with Dr. R. H. Hooper. Having some spare time, he utilized it in canvassing for Comer's system of bookkeeping and later gold and steel pens and gold pencils. The gold pens were made by Crossett & Brown, the first American manufacturers of gold pens, and Mr. Tower was the first to introduce them. In this work he visited business offices in the city and cleaned up about $80 a month in addition to the compensation received from the physician. In this way, he acquired a liking for the stationery trade and laid the foundation for becoming a full fledged stationer. He was not long in arriving, for in 1845 he became associated with the late James M. Cutler, who admitted Mr. Tower to equal partnership in his business. The style of the firm was then changed to the Cutter-Tower Company, which has been maintained ever since, and of which he is now the president. He was until recently vice-president of the Franklin Typewriter Company. He was one of the original directors and organizers of the Greene Consolidated Copper Mining Company. He organized the Nicholson File Company, of Providence, R. I., and also the Eureka Clothes Wringer Company. He was president of the United Cotton Gin Company, which has about perfected a machine, which it is believed is destined to revolutionize the process of ginning cotton.

Mr. Tower was the first man to manufacture toothpicks by machinery and his firm has dominated the toothpick business of the country.

Mr. Tower was a member and prominent in the affairs of the Newton Methodist Church, and previous to his coming to Newton 20 years ago, was also active in church work in Somerville and Cambridge.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon from his late home on Newtonville avenue.

PIANOFORTE RECITAL

The pupils of Miss Effie M. Airth gave the last pianoforte recital for the season Thursday afternoon at her studio on Barnes road, a large company of relatives and friends being in attendance. A pleasing program of 15 numbers, including works from the celebrated composers, Beethoven, Beethoven, Helms, Krogmann, Lichner and Lange, was admirably rendered and reflected great credit on both teacher and pupils. The program included, Verna Marion Vining, Carl Witherell Smith, Harrison Perry Paige, Jr., Earl Kenneth Peterson, Mary Eleanor Reid, Dolly Rose Swift, George Otis, Lincoln Holmes, Marjory L. Smith, Alice Marianna Woodward, Gladys Gertrude Siebert, Florence M. Alderman and Sylvia Bowen Brigham.

POLITICAL NOTES

Representative T. W. White has been appointed a member of the legislative campaign committee, for the purpose of assisting in the election of a Republican Legislature next fall.

S. S. PICNIC

Newton Highlands Children Have Fine Outing

The annual picnic of the Cline Memorial M. E. Sunday School of Newton Highlands was held at Lexington Park last Saturday, and as on many former occasions the event this year was looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure, not alone by the children of the Sunday School, but by a large number of the adult members of the church, who on this occasion accompanied the children on the special car, leaving Lincoln and Chester streets at 9 A. M. The party arrived at Lexington Park at 10.45, where an athletic program, almost worthy of "Olympic" fame, was successfully carried out.

The following is a summary of the various events with the names of the successful competitors.

50 yard dash for girls—First, Dorothy Scott; 2d, Ruth Germain; 3d, Helen Miller.

Three legged race, boys—First, Charlie Noble and W. Potter; 2d, Fred Evans and Robert Durbin; 3d, Dwight Noble and Paul Hopkins.

50 yard dash for ladies—First, Miss Gertrude Warren; 2d, Miss Perley; 3d, Mrs. Hopkins.

100 yard dash for men—First, Will Cozens; 2d, K. S. Farnham; 3d, R. Farnham.

Peanut race for girls—First, Ruth Farnham; 2d, Ruth Germain; tied for third place, Dorothy Scott and Esther Stewart.

50 yard dash for boys—First, Robert Evans; 2d, Fred Evans; 3d, Percy Evans.

25 yard dash for girls—First, Beesie Cozens; 2d, Dorothy Stewart; 3d, Esther Stewart.

25 yard dash for boys—First, Albert Cozens; tied for second place, Dwight Noble and Paul Hopkins; 3d, Robert Allingham.

A baseball game between teams representing the First Baptist Church of Waltham, and the Cline Memorial Church of Newton Highlands, resulted in a shut-out for the latter by the score of 10-0—defeated but not disgraced was the verdict of the Newton Highlands team, who were glad to meet such a chivalrous nine as the Waltham boys proved themselves to be.

MUSICALS

An exceptionally fine program of nine numbers, comprising works of such well known composers as Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Schumann, Kern and Krogmann was presented Friday evening by members of the Young Musicians' Class, pupils of Miss Helen Douglas, at her studio on Foster street. Every member was well received, greatly pleasing the large gathering of parents and friends who were present. Miss Mary Barry and Veronica Barry, tied for the highest average for the year, and each received a prize. Elizabeth Thurgood was awarded the second prize. Gertrude Barry, Marjorie Palmer, Mr. Carleton Smith, Harold Flinn, Florence Stephens and Hazel Cunningham received honorable mention. Mrs. Irving O. Palmer sang with admirable effect a soprano solo to the piano accompaniment of Mrs. C. A. Hurst. Mr. John Hermann Loud added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening by his marked skill as a pianist. Others included in the program were Katherine Baker, Elizabeth Bridges, Wallace Richmond, Katherine Auryansen, Raymond Leonard, William Otis Hunt, Jr., Gladys Wilson and Mr. Scott A. Hurst. Miss Douglas will resume her class in the Fall.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS GRADUATE 424 PUPILS

Elliot Prizes Awarded to Bigelow School Pupils—Exercises Also Held at Stearns and Emerson Schools

The grammar schools of the city closed this week for the regular summer vacation. Following the custom of recent years the usual graduating exercises were omitted in most of the schools, being held only at the Emerson school, Upper Falls, the Bigelow school, Newton, and the Stearns school, Nonantum. Four hundred and twenty-four children received diplomas or high school certificates.

Bigelow School

An interesting feature of the graduating program of the Bigelow school held yesterday morning, was the announcement by Dr. Spaulding, superintendent of schools, that pupils of that school had again taken both the Elliot prizes for historical essays. The winners were Harold Doherty, first, and Phyllis Taylor, second. The essays were read as part of the program. There was singing by the class, a piano solo by Florence Moore, and a violin solo by Doris Ferris, and Dr. Spaulding presented the class with diplomas. The first prize essay was on "Transportation in Colonial Times and the Present," and the second prize was for an essay on "New England Taverns." The judges were Mr. Thomas Weston, Jr., of West Newton, Mrs. Hartley W. Thayer of Newtonville and Dr. Louis H. Marshall of Newton Highlands.

Attention is invited to the advt. of the Porto Rican Needle work and Panama hat shop in another column.

Good Piano Playing.

In an article on piano playing in the Woman's Home Companion the author reports as follows the views of Lescheltzky, the teacher:

"When I was studying with the great master he pointed out to me the importance of musical expression in the following way: He called my attention to the fact that one person, for instance, may tell you a tale in such a way that you find little in it that is interesting, whereas another person may tell you the same story in such a manner that you follow every word with the keenest attention. The secret of interest lies not only in the story, but very especially in the voice, the tone, the expression—in the manner of telling. All this is interpretation. A careless or dull piano student may play even some exquisite melody in such a way that it does not attract you at all, whereas an artist's playing of it may bring tears to your eyes."

A Human Salamander.

Chabert, the fire king, who was a popular favorite in London eighty years ago, claimed to be able to swallow arsenic and other poisons with impunity. Visitors to his entertainment were requested to come provided with phosphorus, prussic acid, arsenic and oxalic acid, which he proceeded to consume before their eyes, taking an antidote afterward which was supposed to neutralize their effects. Then, to show that he was as impervious to heat as to poison, he would take a raw leg of lamb into an oven heated to 220 degrees and remain inside until the joint was cooked, when it was carved and handed around to the audience. The performance concluded by Chabert rubbing a red-hot shovel on his head and face and allowing any one who wished to drop molten sealing wax on his tongue and hands.

Hate and Occupations.

In some parts of the world the silk hat is still the professional badge of the chimney sweep. About a dozen years ago the writer constantly observed this in Wurtemberg, and last year he found the same combination in Switzerland. The mysterious relations between the hat and occupation, convictions and recreations, would make an interesting study. At one time the politician who wore a white hat proclaimed himself a Radical. Nowadays he would probably be suspected as an old fashioned Tory. Then no self-respecting cricketer would have appeared without a tall hat in former days. But Mr. Jenner-Fust has recorded how he and others were compelled to drop the habit in the twenties and thirties by the spectators' jeers at "post boys."—London Chronicle.

Before the Breakaway.

Two heavyweights had gone on for a preliminary, both willing and eager, but hopelessly ignorant in the craft of the game.

One of the first grapples brought the pair to their knees, and neither knew how to make a move which should be both aggressive and defensive. They were head to head—literally at loggerheads—and remained in this position for a minute.

The full gave the comedian in the audience a full stage.

"Well," he shouted, "what is the secret?"—Chicago Post.

Clever Girls In 1797.

Some of the accomplishments formerly imparted at genteel academies would hardly meet with the approval of modern educational authorities. A writer in the London Times of Nov. 2, 1797, states that "at some of our first boarding schools the fair pupils are now taught to play whist and cassino. Among their winning ways this may be not the least agreeable to papa and mamma. It is calculated that a clever child by its cards may pay for its own education."

Did He Best.

She—After six weeks of married life, Arthur, I have reached the sad certainty that you do not love me. Arthur—My dear! She—it's no use protesting. You should have married some credulous, stupid girl! Arthur—Well, darling, I did my very best.

Something Wagnerian.

Mrs. A.—What did your husband say when he saw the bill for my new gown? Mrs. B.—I didn't hear. I started to play on the piano.—Boston Transcript.

"Facts are stubborn things" is an aphorism first used by La Sage in "Gil Blas." It has become proverbial.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Parents of the School Children of Newtonville:—

Do you realize when school opens next September that your little ones, those who will attend the kindergarten and first primary grade, instead of attending the modern Horace Mann School will be obliged to go to the old Adams School, which has been closed this past year.

Our Superintendent told the writer yesterday that this building was in good condition and fit for occupancy, but after a personal inspection I do not hesitate to say that it is far from what was represented.

Unhealthy and unsanitary are mild terms to use to describe its condition. A fire-trap without fire escapes or fire protection of any kind.

Why not protest against such methods and demand that our little ones (only little more than babies) be cared for as well as in any other school district in our city.

If you are interested in protecting the health of your child, be sure to attend the meeting of the School Committee on next Wednesday evening, June 26th, at 7.30, in the Technical High School Building, Newtonville.

For President WILLIAM H. TAFT

The Republicans of Massachusetts have good reason to be dissatisfied with the actions of their representatives at the national convention at Chicago. Every one knows that the eight delegates-at-large are not morally entitled to the position
they hold, as the Taft vote, both for delegates and preference, was several thousands in excess of the Roosevelt vote. It was, of course, expected that these persons would ignore the preference vote of the state and vote for
Col. Roosevelt in the convention, the magnanimity of T. R. in relinquishing them to President Taft being discounted many weeks ago. But the Republicans of Massachusetts did have the right to expect that Senator Crane would be unanimously chosen the Massachusetts member of the national committee, and the failure to do so, ought to be resented by every good citizen of the state. Massachusetts is honored by the acceptance of the office by Senator Crane and his withdrawal in the face of the pleasure tactics of the Roosevelt men
was the only honorable course open to him. The state and not Senator Crane will suffer from his refusal to allow the further use of his name for the office of national committee-man.

The signing of the so-called Grand Trunk bill last week by Governor
Foss leaves the city of Newton wide open to the possibility of a railroad embankment running entirely across the city from the Watertown to the Needham line. Owners of property, thru which this proposed railroad may run, should make it as difficult as possible for the road to be built, and so prevent the infliction
of this blenheim on our fair city.

The little public interest in the hearings which have been held recently on the proposed new building code, either indicates a complete indifference towards the proposed changes, or a complete confidence in the work of the commission which did the work.

THE NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL

On Wednesday morning the High School met in the Assembly Hall and presented a silver loving cup to Stubbs
of the freshman class for the most gentlemanly and most sportsman-like conduct of the boys in his class.
Honorable mention was given to Leonard, 1915. The cup was the gift of Alderman A. W. Blakemore.

Graduation exercises in the Technical High will be held this evening,
and the exercises in the Classical High School will be held tomorrow evening on the grounds of Mr. W. J.
Lamson, Waltham street, West Newton.

The class will attend the morning
services at Grace Church, next Sunday morning, when Rev. Laurens Mac-Lure, will preach the baccalaureate sermon.

lowed by a short address by the

the First Church of Chestnut Hill

The interior of the church was appropriately decorated with laurel. The bride was gowned in white satin and wore a tulle veil crowned with or-

The bridegroom is a member of the class of '04, Harvard, where he was

Mrs. George W. Lewis, was married
Wednesday evening to Frederick W.
Cole of Newton Highlands, before a large gathering of friends and rela-
Kincaide on Whitney road, Quincy.
Rev. Edward Norton, pastor emeritus of the Bethany Congregational Church, officiated, the double ring service being used.

cy, a cousin of the bride, and Kenneth S. May, M. I. T., a classmate of the groom, was best man. Miss Dor-

LAWN PARTY

There was a large attendance at the lawn party of the Newton Catholic Club last Monday afternoon on the grounds of the St. Bernard's Church,
West Newton.

There were the old-time African dodger, cane tables, chimney break etc., in addition to many new and novel attractions. One of the most interesting features was the goose-ringing contest in which a suitable reward was made for those who were successful in tossing a ring about the neck of a goose which was tied in an enclosure.

A program of athletic events was scheduled to take place in the afternoon but owing to the showers had to be omitted. Two events took place, however, William Gilligan winning the pie-eating contest and Henry Garrity won out in the sack-race.
A moving picture show was in progress in the clubhouse hall throughout the occasion as well as a country
circus and a vaudeville entertainment.
The grounds presented a most attractive appearance in the evening
when hundreds of Japanese lanterns and colored lights were hung about the trees.

The affair was in charge of a general committee assisted by a large corps of the club members. The general committee was Joseph J. Curran, William Cahill, Richard Lyons, Fred Cahill, E. M. D'Arcy, Roy Early,
William Sprout, J. J. Hennessy, Bernard Farrell, and Charles Laffie.

ner. He was assisted by W. B. Frank the participants. This was directed by the Newton Ladies' Home Circle.

The most artistic and spectacular scene of the whole pageant was that presented by the Newton Centre Woman's Club, the Benjamin Franklin Episode. Every detail was carried out effectively and the gorgeous costumes of the French Court surrounded by the varied hues of the dancers made a picture which lingers in the mind. The rose dance, that of the shepherds and the milk maids and the stately minuet all were effective.

The Abraham Lincoln scene which followed, presented by the Newton Highlands Monday Club, suffered somewhat for reason of the necessarily sharp contrast in costumes from the preceding one, but it was well done and the Virginia Reel was suggestive of the pastimes of early days.

The closing Episode, Liberty Dances, under the direction of the Social Science Club, was typical of the welding of the foreign nations, which are seeking freedom upon our shores. Four nations, Bohemia, Ireland, Sweden and Russia were represented and the combination colors made an attractive effect. But the Pageant would not have been complete without the closing procession in which all the actors joined, led by the Prolocutor and the Prologue dancer. In and out they made their way until every actor was upon the scene once. It was truly gorgeous and called forth a storm of applause as they retreated from the scene.

This is but a bare outline of what happened. One cannot do adequate justice to all the scenes individually, for all were so evenly good and the whole went off very smoothly and with little delay. In every respect the Saturday presentation was an improvement over that on Thursday and much credit is due all who had any part in the affair, particularly the little children, who in doing their parts exhibited their sense of responsibility as much as the older ones. Miss Shipman, the Mistress of the Pageant, expressed herself heartily upon the fine women with whom she had to deal and the splendid spirit of cooperation which was exhibited throughout the preparations. In addition to the acknowledgement of assistance given last week mention should be made of valuable help rendered behind the scenes by members of the Newtonville Woman's Guild and by the teachers of the Technical High School, particularly by Mrs. Blanche Hyde of the Home Economics department. It is impossible to give any estimate of receipts as yet, since it takes time to get in returns from the different clubs and individuals and from the fact that all the bills have not been received, but it is hoped that some announcement may be made by another week.

It is generally agreed that the affair was worth doing for its own sake even if the returns should not amount up to a large sum.

The following is a list of those taking part so far as it has been possible to secure them:

Dogs and Cats Boarded
and cared for a little better than seems necessary

Not at an ordinary kennel, but at an exceptional boarding home where one may send their dog or cat confident that it will receive just as good care as it would at home.

My home is different from all so called boarding kennels.

The difference is in the way of excellence of location—experience and ten years study of dogs and cats needs and having the facilities to supply them better than any kennel does or can.

It is an excellence that has brought spontaneous commendation from my old patrons and necessitated the purchase of another house, and twenty thousand more square feet of land to accommodate my ever increasing number of new patrons.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

G. Molasso's latest and most sensational French pantomime, "La Somnambule," with Mlle. Nina Payne and a splendid company of 15 Parisian dancers and mimes, comes to B. F. Keith's Theatre next week for an engagement of one week only. Mons. Molasso is the greatest producer of pantomime that this country has ever seen. "La Somnambule" is by far the most sensational and pretentious production ever staged by Mons. Molasso. This brilliant novelty will be but one feature of a great show, nearly every act being new to Boston. P. O'Malley Jennings and Katherine Nelson will introduce their new specialty, "A Bit o' English"; the Primrose Quartet, a splendid quartette known as "1000 pounds of harmony," have some fine vocal selections; and Harriet Burt, late star of "The Time, the Place, and the Girl," will bring new songs and novel dances. Other features are Morris and Kramer, novelty entertainers on their first visit here; Clara Ballerini is a wonderful Spanish dancer and acrobat; and others yet to be announced.

POINTERS FOR THE MOTORIST—REPAIRING PUNCTURES IN INNER TUBES

When a tube is punctured, the first thing to do is to find out if the puncture is in one wall of the tube only or if both walls are perforated. Next a careful examination should be made to determine that no part of the article which caused the puncture has lodged inside the tube.

"Then select a red para patch," says a recent Michelin instruction book, "considerably larger on all sides than the injury to be repaired and clean the patch carefully on its flat or unbeveled side with emery paper. Now lay the tube on a convenient flat surface, such as the dash or step, and with emery paper clean a space around the puncture slightly larger than the patch to be used. Coat both the cleaned surfaces with cement and after this has dried apply a second coat. In about 10 minutes, when the surfaces are still 'tacky,' press the patch firmly in place, taking care that the edges do not curl. If the patch is bevel-edged little difficulty will be experienced. Now tap the patch lightly all over its surface with some round, smooth object like the end of a tool handle. If done carefully this will exclude every particle of air and the cemented surfaces will adhere perfectly. Put a smooth, flat-surfaced weight on the patch and leave the repair thus as long as practicable."

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.—The week last the Castle Square beginning Monday will be given over to "Charley's Aunt," one of the most popular and merriest of modern farces. It has not been seen in Boston for two seasons, and it is certain to be heartily welcomed. The leading role of Lord Fancourt Babberley will be played by Donald Meek, and other characters will be taken by members of Mr. Craig's company fresh from their acting of "The End of the Bridge" in Chicago. This farce is sure to receive one of the liveliest productions at the Castle Square Theatre that it has ever had in Boston.

SURPRISED

The residence of Mrs. S. R. Arend, Windsor road, Waban, was the scene of a merry surprise party last Saturday evening, given for Miss Elizabeth Peirce Elliott of Newton Highlands, who is to become the bride of Mr. Elliot H. Robinson of Windsor road next week.

The couple were inveigled to the scene of the festivities and into the house which was unlighted, suspecting nothing, but when the electricity was turned on nearly forty friends from the various Newton and Brookline met their astonished gaze.

An hour of bridge was interrupted by one of the guests who in great excitement reported the presence of a strange man in one of the bed rooms.

For a few moments everything was in a hubbub and the gentlemen made a concerted rush upstairs where they found one door shut and held on the inside. When it was forced open a shabbily dressed and masked intruder was found trying to conceal two sacks filled with swag.

He was summarily seized and roughly hauled down stairs where his mask was pulled off, revealing the features, well blacked, of Dr. Kirk Thoma of Brookline and on investigation the bags were found to contain an elaborate and complete line of kitchen utensils for the bride-to-be, almost every conceivable article being present.

Each was tagged with a merry quip or original verse and an hilarious hour was consumed opening the packages and reading the hits.

Refreshments followed and the fun was kept up till close to midnight, all the guests acclaiming the affair the very best surprise party ever.

Mrs. Arend and Mrs. A. G. Wellman of Hyde street, Newton Highlands, were joint hostesses at the affair.

Interesting Exercises Mark the End of the School Year

The class of 1912 Newton Classical High School received diplomas on Saturday afternoon, the usual exercises being held in the assembly hall, which was nearly filled with interested parents and friends.

The girls, all dressed in white, made a pretty picture as they were grouped on the enlarged stage, and flanked by the boys. The program included an anthem by the class, prayer by Rev. George T. Smart, D.D., of Newton Highlands, and response by the class, essays, "The Study of History" by Miss Gertrude R. Anderson and the "Legacy of the Gracchi" by Charles D. NEWTON WINS

Interstate Y. M. C. A. Athletic Meet Held Saturday

Newton Y. M. C. A. made practically a clean sweep in the Massachusetts and Rhode Island State Y. M. C. A. meet, held Saturday at the Newton Y. M. C. A. outdoor field, when 12 branches of the Y. M. C. A. competed for State honors. Newton won 28 points out of a possible 63.

Lynn finished second with 6 points, Quincy and Attleboro and Cambridge tied for third with 5 points apiece, Somerville came next with 4 points, Boston and Franklin evened up with 3 points and Chelsea, New Bedford, Wakefield and Lowell managed to secure 1 lonesome tally apiece.

H. E. Weeks, winner of the mile run was the only local representative to meet any real competition. He was hard pressed by Gregory of Franklin, who finished second, and Exley of Lowell, who landed third. The final sprint to the tape between the three runners was one of the most interesting features of the day. Weeks won out practically by a nose in the time of 4 minutes 46 3-5 seconds.

Newton athletes made most of their points in the scratch and handicap events. G. Litchfield, with a handicap of two yards won the handicap 100-yard dash and his running partner, L. Bliss, finished second. L. Kingsbury of Quincy, winner of the 880-yard run, took one of the fastest events of the meet. On the second turn he overtook his field and was never in danger of being overtaken.

The final event, the relay race, was a pretty spectacle in which Newton, the winner, showed some fast running. Chelsea, who finished next in order, made a grand stab for first position, but Hines, the last local runner, had too much of a start. The summary:

100-yard dash (handicap)—Won by G. Litchfield, Newton (2 yards); second, L. Bliss, Newton (4 yards); third, W. H. Taylor, New Bedford (3 yards). Time—10-3-5a.

880-yard run (handicap)—Won by L. Kingsbury, Quincy (scratch); second, L. Dimock, Lowell (scratch); third, F. Porter, Somerville (20 yards). Time—2m. 7-1-5a.

Putting 12-lb. shot (scratch)—Won by J. Georges, Lynn, distance 41 ft. 9 in.; second, W. H. Reid, Attleboro, distance 41 ft. 5 in.; third, A. F. Wilband, Chelsea, distance, 38 ft. 1 in.

Running high jump (handicap)—Won by Green, Cambridge (scratch), height 5 ft. 4 in.; second, G. N. North, Wakefield (3 in.), height 5 ft. 4 in.; third, J. Georges, Lynn (scratch), height, 5 ft. 3 in.

440-yard dash (scratch)—Won by L. Kingsbury, Quincy; second, C. B. Moore, Newton; third, F. C. Shaw, Somerville. Time—54-4-5a.

One-mile run (scratch)—Won by H. E. Weeks, Newton; second, C. Gregory, Franklin; third, H. Exley, Lowell. Time—4m. 40-3-5a.

SOCIAL SERVICE NURSE

Board of Health to Inaugurate New Plan July 1

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic Sir:—

I wish, through your columns, to call the attention of the Medical profession to the fact that the Board of Health has established a new division which will be ready for service on July 1st. This division, which may be called the Social Service Division, will supply a nurse who, it is hoped, will be of great service in preventing sickness.

The duties of the nurse will consist chiefly in "follow up" work among patients with tuberculosis by instructing them how to carry out the directions of the physician and in the precautions to be observed for the protection of others. In addition to this, she can teach the mothers of sick babies the proper manner of preparing the food, as directed by the family physician, and of preserving the food after preparation. In the care of uterine etc. She can also be of service in prenatal work by instructing prospective mothers in regard to the necessary mode of life to be followed in order to produce, in so far as may be possible, healthy children.

The Board of Health will be glad to receive calls from physicians having cases falling in any or all of these classes, who may wish to avail themselves of the services of this division.

The division is not a District Nursing Division, and the work of the nurse being chiefly instructive, she cannot be called upon to do the work of a district nurse.

FRANCES GEO. CURTIS, M.D., Chairman.

SHOWER PARTY

One of the charming social events of the past week was the "shower" party on Saturday afternoon and evening, by Miss Katherine Cranitch, for her cousin, Miss Helen Depper, whose marriage to Mr. John Lambert takes place July 24th. The Cranitch residence on Broadway was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the drawing-room was a bower of buttercups and daisies, the chandeliers, artistically festooned with yellow and white streamers and wedding bells, a color-scheme of white and yellow being carried out in the decorations. The library was most attractive with June roses and the fireplace was banked with daisies and ferns. In the dining-room where an elaborate menu was served, the decorations were pink, and June roses were used in pleasing arrangement on the table. An interesting feature was a large Japanese umbrella, suggestive of the "shower" and appropriately decorated, which was suspended between the folding doors and literally filled with daintily wrapped packages each gift accompanied by an original verse from the donor. It was a most enjoyable affair and participated in by about fifty guests from Brookline, Cambridge, Boston, Dorchester and the Newtons. Miss Cranitch was assisted in receiving by Miss Mary Donovan. The evening closed with a pleasing program of music and dancing.

GIVEN PIANO

Mr. Frank A. Phelton of Waverly avenue has presented Engine Co. No. 1 with a piano for their station on Washington street. The gift is much appreciated by the company which has considerable musical and vocal talent among its members. The members much appreciate the gift.

THE DAY WE CELEBRATE

Elaborate Plans Are Being Made in Many Villages for the 4th of July

The Fourth of July will be more generally celebrated this year than ever before, and, best of all, the programs have all been planned on the "Safe and sane" order.

In addition to Newton Centre and Nonantum, which have for some time been foremost in the observance of Independence Day, West Newton is making elaborate preparations, and is closely followed by Waban and Newton Upper Falls.

Newton Centre

The twenty-ninth annual celebration by the Newton Centre Improvement Association includes athletic events on the playground at 8:30 in the morning with a relay flag race for boys under ten years, a human wheelbarrow race, sack race and 35 yard dash for the junior class, a 440 yard dash, 75 yard dash, and a three legged race for the intermediate class, running broad jump, and 100 yard dash for the senior class, a bean bag contest for girls under ten years, a hoop race for girls between ten and twelve, a relay flag race for girls, twelve to fifteen and an egg and spoon race for girls of all ages. The usual ball game between the married and single men will take place at three o'clock and in the evening at the lake there will be a band concert at 7 o'clock and the illumination and fireworks at 8 1/2.

West Newton

At West Newton the program will include a base ball game on the Common at 10 in the morning, between the Catholic Club and the team of the Shamrocks of West Newton and the King Arthurs of Auburndale. At two o'clock there will be a flag raising followed by these athletic events, 100 yard dash, high jump, and relay race of one mile for men, a potato race, and egg race for girls, a relay race for a half mile, obstacle race, 40 yard dash and sack race for class A; three legged race, relay race of a half mile, high jump, and 50 yard dash for class B; and a high jump, 75 yard dash, hurdle race, and relay race of one mile for class C. The classes are as follows: Class A, for boys 95 lbs. and under; class B, boys 95 to 115 lbs.; Class C, boys 115 to 130 lbs. The program is in charge of a committee consisting of Mayor Hatfield, chairman; Henry B. Day, Thomas J. Lyons, George A. Frost, Fred L. Smith and Wm. F. Chase. The Coast Artillery Band will give a concert from two to six o'clock. The Brae Burn Country Club will have its band concert and fireworks as usual on the evening of the Fourth.

Waban

At Waban, the committee has made the following program. At seven in the morning there will be at antique and horrible parade. At nine o'clock there will be field sports on the playground, consisting of 40-yard dash, 100-yard dash, running high jump, running broad jump, pole vault, potato race, three-legged race, wheelbarrow race, and sack race for boys, in four classes, and a 40-yard dash, 100-yard dash, potato race, three-legged race, wheelbarrow race and a sack race for girls, in three classes, with cups for the winners in each class. Entries close at 6 P. M. Tuesday, July 2, at Rhodes drug store. At three o'clock the annual baseball game between the north and south sides will take place. There will be a band concert at 7:30 P. M. and fireworks at 8:15 P. M. and the committee say that this will be the biggest and best Fourth ever celebrated in Waban.

Upper Falls

At the Upper Falls, the program will be in charge of the recently organized Athletic Association, the directors, Alderman T. J. Sullivan, Representative T. W. White, Mark V. Croker, T. V. Durant, J. J. Mahoney and T. E. Lees, and a committee of 25. There will be an antique and horrible parade at 4 A. M., which is arousing considerable enthusiasm. At 8:30, on the playground, there will be a 100-yard dash for boys under 14 years, and these events open to all—100-yard dash, shot put, three-legged race, running broad jump, sack race and shoe race. At 10:30 there will be a ball game between the Upper Falls and the St. James K. O. C. team and at three in the afternoon another game between the Upper Falls and the Newton Catholic Club. Fireworks at the boat house in the evening will close the celebration.

Nonantum

At Nonantum, the celebration will commence at midnight with a huge bonfire at Allison Park, under the auspices of the Nonantum Boys Club. The program of the Nonantum Improvement Association includes a flag raising at nine o'clock in the morning, followed by a base ball game on the grounds and a concert in the Stearns school hall, where Evelyn Buckley will read the Declaration of Independence and John Kelly will deliver an oration. In the afternoon, commencing at two o'clock there will be a basket ball game for girls on the playground, followed by a base ball game between the married and single men, and other athletic sports. In the evening there will be fireworks and a band concert.

READ FUND PICNIC

The annual Read Fund picnic was held on Tuesday at Norumbega Park with about 800 children in attendance. The party left Nonantum square at 9:15 in 10 large open cars of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company and on arriving at the park, the merry-go-round and the swings were heavily patronized until noon-time, when Mr. C. H. Osgood, the caterer, served an ample and appetizing lunch on the restaurant veranda. The tables were set four times before the crowd had all been served with sandwiches, bananas, ice cream, cake and lemonade. The theatre furnished the entertainment during the afternoon and the return was made about five o'clock.

SCHOOL APPROPRIATION CUT

Aldermen Hold Midnight Session and Transact Important Business

The board of aldermen held its first midnight session, on Monday evening, and incidentally, for the first time this year, allowed a recess for committee meetings—a large factor in determining the length of the session.

As the board adjourned for the summer, it was clear the members stuck to their task in order to clean up all the business.

President Gray was in the chair and the absentees were Aldermen Cabot, Hatch, Miller and Pratt. About an hour was taken up with hearings on various subjects, pole locations bringing out strong remonstrances all over the city.

On the Edison petition for poles on Regent street there was opposition voiced by Mr. J. C. Thomas, Mr. T. E. Stutson and Mr. H. M. Gordon, while Mr. A. P. Carter appeared in favor of the poles. The matter was subsequently thrashed out in committee and one pole granted the company on this street.

Forest Commissioner Bucknam spoke in opposition to Edison poles on Lowell avenue stating that the poles were to be placed along the edge of Elmwood park.

Edison poles on Waltham street were opposed by Mr. W. S. Kilburn, Mr. Charles A. Potter and Mr. John A. Potter, while Mr. G. H. Martin spoke in favor.

There was also remonstrance to Edison poles on Lake avenue by Mr. D. H. Andrews, Mr. Wm. B. Young and Mr. Benj. Hammond, and as a consequence the new Methodist parsonage will be without electricity, unless the wires can enter by another way.

The Edison petitions for poles on Centre place and for underground conduits in Church street were unopposed and were subsequently granted.

Petitions of the Telephone Co. for poles in Hollis street, for underground conduits in Mt. Ida street and for joint location with the Edison Co. of poles on Concord street were unopposed. Mr. H. S. Allen appearing for the company. The Concord street and Mt. Ida street orders were subsequently adopted.

No one appeared on petition of Bernard Early to keep gasoline on Washington street and the permit was granted.

There was a large attendance at the hearing on concrete sidewalks on the west side of Cherry street between River and Derby street, but most of the opposition was avorted, when Alderman Williamson stated that the intention of the committee was to omit that portion between Westlake avenue and Derby street.

Those speaking were Mrs. Carberry, Mr. Meehan, J. W. Quilty, Mr. Brady, Timothy Crowell, Martin Harney and William Hogan. Later an order was passed for a hearing on Sept. 9 on concrete sidewalks on the east side of this street and the whole matter will be laid over until that time.

Mr. A. H. Wiggin, Mr. Charles A. Potter and Mr. John A. Potter favored concrete sidewalks on Bourne street and Mr. R. W. Moir spoke in opposition.

On recommendations of the heads of departments, approved by the Mayor, appropriations were made for salary of temporary inspector of plumbing, reimbursing the Forestry department for expenditures made in Farlow park and transferring $250 for maintenance of automobiles in the Police department.

The Mayor also sent in a communication relative to the Workingmen's Compensation act as applied to city employees.

The school committee requested an appropriation of $342,533 for 1913, the Registrars of Voters sent in the Jury list for 1912-13, the Boston Elevated Co. sent in a list of street railway police officers and notice was also received of the appointment of J. J. Ryan as a railroad police officer by the New Haven road. The Governor's proclamation of June 14 as Flag day was also placed on file.

Petitions for street sprinkling on Mt. Vernon street, Clinton street, Columbus street, Otis street, Forest avenue and Henshaw street, for a sewer in Grant avenue, of Masten and Wells Co. for renewal of permit to manufacture fireworks on Needham street, of John A. Porter for renewal of auctioneer license, of Frank A. Green for a minor's license, of the Edison Co. for attachments on Floral street, of John Pope to move building to Auburn street, of H. B. Day to move building on Margin street, of C. E. Gibson to move building to Watertown street, of R. S. Cummings to move building to Washington street, of G. P. The majority report in favor of granting a permit to transport in intoxicating liquor to Daniel P. Lynch, was opposed by President Gray, who said his opposition was not personal as he believed that these licenses should be granted only at the beginning of the license year. Alderman Moore explained that the applicant was an experienced expressman, who had recently established a business of his own. Aldermen Murphy and Higgins endorsed the majority report and the permit was granted, Alderman Calkins voting no.

The report of the Finance committee approving $335,000 as the 1913 appropriation for schools caused a long debate, lasting until after midnight. Alderman Chadbourne said that the committee had taken the figures for the present year, added 2 1/2 per cent for regular increase in numbers, altho the increase was usually about 2 per cent. To this they had added the expense of opening the machine room at the Technical High School, $2,500, making a figure very close to $335,000. President Gray took the floor to advocate an increase to $342,533, the figures submitted by the school committee. Mr. Gray said that the school supplies had been neglected in consequence of the lack of money, that the books were filthy and a disgrace to the city, that the enforcement of the eight-hour law had added over $1,000 to the cost of the schools, and that the price of coal had increased materially. He believed that our schools were our greatest asset, that we had splendid teachers and a fine superintendent and that the aldermen should support them. He based his figures on the number of children in the kindergarten, grades and high schools, figured at the cost per pupil for each of those divisions, adding 2 1/2 per cent for increase and the $2,500 for the machine room at the Technical High.

Alderman Blakemore said that Mr. Gray's figure of a cost of $80 per pupil in the High School was an error, as Dr. Spaulding had sent each alderman some figures showing that the High School cost was $76 per pupil. This difference alone would account for the $7,000 variance in the school committee and the finance committee. Mr. Blakemore called attention to the danger of a higher tax rate and submitted an estimate showing an increase of 80 cents over the present year. He stated that the maintenance figures for the school department were only part of the cost, and that the total cost had increased from $305,000 in 1904 to $455,000 in 1912, or from 33 per cent to 55 per cent, of the total budget, while all other departments of the city had decreased from $910,000 to $787,000 in the same period. The salaries paid in the school department had increased 7 1/2 per cent since 1908. Mr. Blakemore believed that the city should not sacrifice its physical improvements like the widening of Walnut street, the improvement of Nonantum square, for future untold and unlimited increases in the school expenses.

The matter was further debated by Aldermen Heard, Bonis, Early and Murphy. Alderman Heard in closing said that the duty of making these appropriations devolves upon this board. We are holding down expenses in every other department, we are not making improvements which ought to be made, and it is our duty to correlate all these estimates of departments to the capacity of the city to pay for them.

President Gray's amendment was then defeated. Aldermen Cox, Early, Gordon, Jones, Moore, Sullivan, Williamson and Gray, eight, voting in favor and Aldermen Barker, Bonis, Blakemore, Calkins, Chadbourne, Heard, Higgins, Jamieson, and Murphy, nine, voting against. The order approving $335,000 was then adopted unanimously.

On motion of Alderman Heard a portion of the record of the board relative to debate between several of the aldermen on a personal matter was ordered expunged.

And at 12:40 A. M. the board adjourned until Sept. 9.

INDEPENDENCE DAY DISASTERS

Independence Day is coming; day of powder-polesting and lockjaw; day of hospitals and ambulances; day of mutilation and fire and death. If there is anything that is sane in the American people it is the growing revolt against our insane manner of celebrating the Fourth of July. It might be called "Incendiarist's Day," for on that day the fire-fiend runs riot. No man having any public responsibility fails to dread it. No fire department goes through the day, and the nights on both sides of it, without exhaustion. It is doubtful if on some fifth of July an entire city may not complacently burn itself up in the faces of firemen and fire horses too exhausted by silly fireworks to have the day before to cope with it.

The fire-fighting apparatus of our cities and towns is so overtaxed by the numberless calls which begin on the evening of July 3d that response to possible summons for help by neighboring towns or cities is impossible. What fire chief would dare allow even a hose wagon to go beyond immediate recall while alarms in his own city are coming in at ten-minute intervals? Even the large number of false alarms, due to the reckless use of the day have their dire significance, for they tire out the horses and the men, and reduce the ability of the department to cope with actual fires. When the gong begins to ring at headquarters, its call is as imperative for a rubbish heap ablaze as it is for the home of a citizen. The wear and tear of the apparatus, and even the injury to the horses during thirty-six hours of almost constant runs, may be as great for false alarms as for real ones. It seems a sort of folly almost too unspesable to relate, but there are instances where American firemen have been killed in runs to fires on July 4th by being thrown from trucks by frightened horses swerving from their course at explosives thrown under them as they galloped past.

Never an "Independence" Day but scores of human beings are made dependent for life. Life and limb are jeopardized by explosives thrown from windows above the level of the street, setting fire to clothing and menacing the eye-sight of those passing, while upon the child, who in his innocent love of noise and objective demonstration responds to our present absurd kind of celebration, falls the heavy hand of disaster. When our civilization was not so complex, it was possible for those who had the courage to leave their homes to the mercy of possible conflagrations, to shut them up and escape to the quiet of the country. Not so today. The trolley car and the automobile follow the seeker after peace to his country retreats, throwing explosives at his head as they roar past in their reckless irresponsibility.

And for what? Nobody stops to inquire. Nobody any longer cares. We have gotten wholly away from the educational significance of "Independence" Day, and lost ourselves in an orgy of fire and noise.

It is, perhaps, too much to expect any sudden return to sanity; but some effort at least may be made by cities and towns toward leading their people into more moderate and more intelligent forms of celebration. If explosives must be used the authorities can limit their use to the public parks during certain hours of the day, where those who have the will to maintain themselves and each other to heart's content, without injuring other people, or destroying property by fire. The firing off of explosives among the closely built shingle-roofed frame houses, which compose the greater part of our cities, is wholly in accord with the reckless spirit of Americans regarding fire.

If before every Fourth of July our cities and towns were given a thorough cleaning of rubbish, and all use of explosives then restricted as to time and place, the police and public wardens might have at least a fighting chance to minimize the disastrous results of our public folly during the years it may require to inspire in our people a desire for a rational kind of celebration. And such a desire must be inspired. It is the duty of every city to arrange for its people suitable amusements or exercises definitely calculated to educate them in a rational observance of this historic holiday. Habits of folly can be most easily eliminated by a substitution of something better. The things a city can do to interest its citizens in a sane and wholesome celebration are unlimited, and the municipalities, which, in the past two years have taken steps in this direction, are already receiving national praise for their wisdom and their high sense of civic responsibility.

Independence Day, of 1912 is coming. To what city, what town, what country or father is it this year to bring suffering or sorrow the day after?

Postmaster Mansfield is considering the advisability of giving the 3000 letter carriers and clerks in the Boston postal district under his charge a full holiday on July 4.

It has always been customary to make one delivery of mail on that holiday, but the amount of mail matter delivered on July 4 is the smallest of any day in the year, owing to the fact that business places are completely closed and most of the residents are celebrating the glorious Fourth.

The postmaster is of the opinion that the business men and the residents of the Boston postal district generally, will be glad to give the letter carriers and clerks an opportunity to enjoy the full holiday with their families.

Miss Mae G. Cahill, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and the Misses Frances M. Cahill of Upper Falls and Alice Casey of Salem were bridesmaids. The best man was Edward J. Carey of Brockton, brother of the groom, and the ushers at the ceremony were Mr. Frederic A. Cahill and Mr. William H. Kerrigan, both of Upper Falls.

The bride wore a gown of white tulle, with pearl trimmings and a black picture hat, and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas. The groom wore a blue tulle suit, with a white shirt and a black bow tie, and carried a large bouquet of white roses. The ceremony was held at the home of the bride, and the couple were assisted in receiving the guests by the bride's mother, maid of honor and best man under an arch of southern smilax and white roses. After an extended trip to Atlantic City, the couple will make their home at 326 Cross street, Central Falls, R. I., after Sept. 1.

TAYLOR-GOULDIE

Miss Lucy Gouldie and Mr. Walter D. Taylor were united in marriage at the Oak Square Methodist Episcopal Church last Sunday night by their pastor, Rev. D. Stewart Smith. At the appointed hour the church was well filled when, to the strains of the wedding march, the party proceeded to the altar.

The bride, who was dressed in white, was attended by her sister-in-law, Miss Taylor, who was accompanied by Miss Alice Hutchinson and Miss Blanche Barnes, each of the bride's maids being dressed in pink. The groom was attended by his uncle, Mr. Taylor, his brother-in-law, Mr. Bromley, and E. D. Snow. The altar was decked with flowers and on the platform were roses and pinks in abundance.

After the ceremony the party took seats and remained to the evening service, having their car call for them at nine o'clock.

The new couple are taking up their residence in Cambridge.

WILLIAM H. TAFT

The programs announced by the various Improvement associations in this city for the proper celebration of the Fourth of July, ought to be taken very much to heart by the officers of similar organizations in villages
where public sentiment has not yet been aroused on the subject. It is possible, of course, that the Newton Improvement Association is fearful that the abutments around Farlow Park might put a quietus on any plans for a celebration which would include a band concert or fireworks in that public place, but a band concert and fireworks in that park might be easily arranged—provided the self constituted owners of the park were not given too much notice of the affair.
Newtonville, also, seems to be lacking
in patriotism in this respect, possibly Nonantum is too near and the need of a local observance deemed unnecessary. Auburndale and Newton Highlands are in the same category, for reasons not stated.

Possibly the time will come when each village of the city will observe the Fourth in the same and sensible manner, started by the banner Improvement Society of the city, that of Newton Centre.

I believe the aldermen have acted wisely in reducing the amount of appropriation requested by the school committee for the year 1913. No one will question the fact that Newton should appropriate as large a sum as possible for the education of its children, but there is a limit, which should be recognized. In addition, there is a growing feeling that the huge sums expended for education in this city are not giving the best results. There is apparently a lack of instruction, or a faulty method of instruction, in such fundamental subjects as arithmetic, spelling and plain composition. There is apparently too much emphasis placed on the work in the high schools, and too little in the grade schools. This is a feeling that the public ought not to pay for the higher education now being given in this city: that the city ought not to compete with Harvard College and the Mass. Institute of Technology, either in equipment or methods of instruction, and that more thoroughness should be given in the fundamentals and less attention paid to the popular frills and fads of the day.

From the amount of fines paid the past few months by automobilists, it is evident that the $250 paid for a motor cycle for the police department was a good investment.

The wise man will consider the political situation most carefully this year before he makes up his mind
what candidate or what party to support.

POLICE NOTES

Officer Arthur S. Kimball, for 15 years a member of the department, has resigned to accept a position on the state police force. Sanford A.
MacLean has been appointed in his place.

Charles Watters, alias Walters, no
home, was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction Wednesday morning by Judge Copeland on the charge of larceny. Watters was formerly employed by Charles A.
Osgood at 2377 Commonwealth avenue,
Auburndale, and stole a watch, revolver, raincoat and $10 in money.
On the day of the larceny, he was arrested in Brighton charged with drunkenness, and in the District Court there was sentenced to one month for drunkenness and five months for carry a loaded revolver.

PRESENTATION OF PORTRAIT OF FRANCES E. WILLARD

The portrait of Frances E. Willard, which has been in the High School for the past two years, was presented to the Roger Wolcott School at Waban for the next year in recognition of excellent work done by the pupils and teachers in the subject of physiology and hygiene and the effect of alcohol and tobacco. This teaching is required by the state in all grades and the Gullick series for the grammar grades presents it an impressive as well as very interesting manner.

This beautiful portrait was painted by Mr. Darius Cobb of Newton Upper Falls, our noted historical painter, and most cheerfully given to the Woman's Christian Union for the purpose of creating a legitimate enthusiasm in the schools in the subject of right living.

Mr. Cobb is a living exponent of the benefit of a thoroughly temperate life,
and the pupils will not soon forget
the witty stories of the accidents which had befallen him in his life of 77 years and his truly marvellous recuperative powers which he attributes largely to his drinking cold water and his non-use of tobacco.

The presentation for the West
Newton Union was made by Mrs. Wm.
H. Rand, who is county superintendent of scientific temperance instruction
as well as local superintendent of that department.

MR. LOWELL DEAD

Mr. John Lowell, Jr., of Chestnut Hill, died suddenly last Tuesday at Mesa, Ariz. He was the son of Mr.
and Mrs. John Lowell (Mary E. Hale) of 24 Commonwealth avenue, who have a summer residence at Chestnut Hill, where they now are.

Mr. Lowell, who since his graduation from Harvard in the class of 1908 had been actively interested in an orange ranch at Mesa, recently underwent an operation, from which he failed to rally. He was born at Chestnut Hill on March 21, 1877, and prepared for college at Volkmann's School. While at Harvard he was active as a member of various clubs and associations. He was unmarried.

NEWTON GIRLS GRADUATE

Miss Grace Veronica O'Donnell and Miss Ruth Josephine O'Donnell of Washington street, Newton, graduated with honors on Wednesday from the Framingham Normal School. Miss Ruth O'Donnell read a thesis on
"Open Air Schools" which was exceptionally well written. Miss O'Donnell also took a leading role in the advanced dramatics, held Tuesday evening, at which Miss Grace O'Donnell sang an enjoyable soprano solo,
"Tears, Idle Tears."

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Last Sunday evening the members
of Waban Lodge, 156, Home Lodge, 162, and Newton Lodge, 92, I. O. O.
F., joined in a memorial service in honor of their dead, at the Newton-ville M. E. Church. The service was attended by nearly 300 members of the lodges besides many from the Rebekah lodges throughout the city.
Rev. James W. Campbell, pastor of the church, delivered the memorial address, speaking on the subject,
"The Dead Alive Again." Special vocal selections were rendered by the Beethoven quartet during the service.

RECEPTION

Mrs. D. C. Heath entertained the officers and employees of the D. C. Heath Publishing Company at a charming reception and lawn party on Saturday afternoon at "The Heathcote," her picturesque estate on Highland avenue, Newtonville, this being an annual custom of Mr. Heath's during his life time. A large company assembled on the beautiful lawns which lend themselves so admirably to an occasion of the kind, and a delightful afternoon was passed in the enjoyment of games and outdoor sports. The house was decorated for the occasion with a profusion of June roses. An interesting feature was the decorations on the lawn, of the two Memorial trees, one dedicated to the memory of Mr. Heath, which was festooned with asparagus vine and crimson plinks, the latter being Mr. Heath's favorite flower and a magnificent oak, around which was twined a large wreath of mountain laurel and roses, dedicated to the memory of Mr. W. S. Smythe, who was vice president of the corporation, and whose death occurred the same year as Mr. Heath's. Mr. Heath's Memorial room, was opened for the first time for the inspection of the guests; it contains all the pictures and statuary which Mr. Heath had in his various offices and the furniture which was in his original office at 3 Tremont place, Boston. Among the many interesting things in the room, is a library containing the first books ever printed for children. At the close of the afternoon, dainty refreshments were served on the lawn, under the direction of Miss Eleanor T. Hooper; the decorations were especially attractive, June roses being used in effective arrangement on the tables. Mrs. Heath was assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. W. S. Smythe, wife of the treasurer of the Corporation, and Mrs. Charles H. Douglas, whose husband is at the head of the editorial department. Among those present were Mr. William E. Pulsifer, president of the Corporation, and Mrs. Heath's son, Mr. James L. Knox of New York City, who is on the Board of Directors.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The second swimming campaign for grammar school boys proved quite successful and a number of boys learned to swim. Arrangements can be made for private instruction or any boy who is a member of the Association may receive instruction during the class hour. This is a great opportunity for boys who are to be near the water during the summer months. The most popular place in the Association these hot days is the swimming pool. The tank has been refilled and the cooler water is much appreciated by the swimmers. The tank is reserved for business men after 5.30.

Mr. Blissell and the boys of the Dramatic Club are camping near Philipston, Mass., for two weeks. Other members are going to the State camps at Becket and Durell. There is no more room at Camp Becket, but opportunity to go to Durell during August may be taken advantage of. Attention is called to the privileges of the dormitories. Men whose families are away from home during the summer months will find very comfortable rooms well taken care of at the Newton Y. M. C. A. Call or write for information.

The Sunday School Baseball League closed with a victory for the Auburn-dale Congregational Church over the boys of Elliot Church. Score was 5 to 0.

Saturday afternoon the Association team and the Navy Y. M. C. A. will play baseball on the athletic field. Each team has won a game.
